SUNCEASE.

DEATH'S RELEASE.

Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch no More.

Broken-Hearted, He Succumbs to Brief Attack of Pneumonia.

Commanded First Manchurian Army on Its Famous Retreat.

Blamed by Russian People for Humiliation by Japanese.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch, aide-de-camp to Emperor Nicholas and commander of the First Manchurian Army, the man who succeeded Gen. Kuropatkin and led the defeated Russian troops on the famous retreat north from Mukden, died today of pneumonia, following an illness of one week.

On last Tuesday Gen. Linevitch suffered an attack of the heart and a serious setback was reported, but it was not generally known that he was critically ill, although his health had steadily failed ever since he came home from the disastrous Manchurian campaign.

Yesterday his physicians resorted to an operation as the only hope of saving his life. He did not rally from under the surgeon's knife and gradually sank to his final rest.

The news of the great general's death was received with little apparent feeling by the masses of people in St. Petersburg.

Although the government attached no blame to him for the defeat of the First Manchurian Army, which was already virtually beaten when he assumed command, the Russian people [illegible] His return from Manchuria aroused no expressions of praise or sympathy from press or people, and, among Gen. Linevitch's most intimate friends, it was known that he suffered keenly from the feeling that he was held responsible for the humiliation of Russia at the hands of the conquering Japanese army.

During the last year Gen. Linevitch had aged and broken pitifully and it was said that he was dying of a broken heart.

Gen. Linevitch was 63 years old. He was fighting in the Caucasus when he was 21, and took part in the Russo-Turkish war of 1877-78. Since then he had served in all Russia's Asiatic campaigns. He was prominent in the relief of the legations in Pekin, succeeding Admiral Alexieff in command of the Russian troops in August, 1900.

For a time in 1904, Gen. Linevitch was Governor-General of the Amur territory, but later assumed command of the Russian forces at Vladivostok under Viceroy Alexieff.

He assumed command of the First Manchurian army on November 14, 1904, replacing Gen. Kuropatkin as commander-in-chief on March 17, 1905.

Gen. Linevitch was in the battle of Mukden and a number of other important engagements, in which he was reported as displaying great gray ery. His conduct of the retreat from Mukden is generally accorded high praise by military tacticians.

TO OPERATE ON ST. PAUL.

CHICAGO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A new express company is in process of organization.

It will be known as the Continental Express Company, and E. S. Averill is its general manager. He formerly occupied a similar situation with the United States Express Company.

It will operate over the new extension of the St. Paul road west of the Missouri River.

TO GO AFTER BIG GAME.

President Has Definite Plan for Hunting Trip in South Africa Next Year.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Roosevelt has made up his mind to have a big game hunt in South Africa next year, unless unforeseen circumstances prevent. He has talked enthusiastically on the subject with visitors recently. His plan is to sail for an English port, but to make his stay in England brief and informal.

Mr. Roosevelt may make a world tour, visiting the capitals of Europe to study foreign governments at close range. He may also, it is reported, visit Australia and New Zealand. But his one definite plan is a South African big game shooting, and it will take a radical reason to keep him away from that.

GRIEF HASTENS DEATH OF FAMOUS RUSSIAN GENERAL.

Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch, aide-de-camp to the Czar and commander of the First Manchurian Army, who succeeded Kuropatkin after the fall of Mukden and conducted the retreat of the broken army to Harbin.

WARFARE.

REBELLION BREAKS OUT IN NORTHERN INDIA.

Ameer of Afghanistan Is Reported ta Be Encouraging His Subjects to Cross Border and Assist the Indian Tribes in Fight Against England.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SIMLA, (India) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A serious native rebellion has broken out in Northern India.

The Mohmand tribe, 10,000 strong, are in the field and many Afghans are joining the rebels. It is understood all available British troops will be mobilized on a war footing today.

Gen. Kitchener, commanding England's military forces in India, will arrive on the frontier on Saturday.

Indications that the Ameer of Afghanistan instigated and is encouraging the uprising make the trouble additionally threatening. If the Ameer's complicity is established a huge campaign unquestionably will become necessary. England's relations with Afghanistan have been unsatisfactory for some time.

The military authorities do not conceal their belief that the only escape from a long, fierce border war lies in cowing the natives.

The telegraph wires between Shabkaddar and Peshawar were cut by rebels in the night.

Several thousand Afghans crossed the Kabul River today and joined the rebellious Mohmand tribesmen. The Ameer made no attempt to check the movement. The Mullahs are encouraging the Afghans to go to the Mohmands' aid, and their influence is growing steadily.

The Mohmands are a Bathan tribe occupying the hills between Peshawar and Kohat. The Mullahs raided the Mohmands with the view of assisting their fellow-tribesmen, the Zakkakhils, in their fighting last February against the British, but the Mohmands were too late, arriving on the scene after the Zakkakhils had been put down. Disappointed in their hopes of fighting, the Mohmands started to ravage the country; villages were looted, the people thrown into a state of panic, and the sniping of British outposts was inaugurated.

ULTIMATUM TO MURPHY.

Bryan Will not Support New Yorker for Vice-President Unless He Gets State's First Vote.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Before starting back to his home in Lincoln, Neb., with his family today, William J. Bryan sent this ultimatum to Charles F. Murphy:

"No candidates for Vice-President need apply at Denver whose delegation failed to vote for my nomination for President on the first ballot."

This referred to the Vice-Presidential boom for Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, which has been worked up for use in case of need by Murphy and Conners. He indicated that he was not averse to the Chanler candidacy, in fact, would like to encourage it, provided New York State would fall gracefully into line but he made it perfectly understood that, if New York doesn't line up for him, it cannot expect any consideration from "his convention."

One result of Bryan's visit to New York was that a thorough understanding was reached between him and Tammany Hall. This does not mean that they came to an agreement, for Murphy has not wholly given up the idea of opposing Bryan at Denver. Murphy was out of town today.

THREATENING.

SIX JAP WARSHIPS FRIGHTEN CHINESE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHANGHAI, April 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The arrival of six Japanese armor-clad warships at Amoy has caused great excitement in Fukien and Kwang Tung provinces, as well as in Peking.

There is varied speculation as to the object of such a formidable display, as it happens just as the negotiations relative to the Chientao boundary dispute are reopened. The Korean population of the latter place presented a monster joint petition to the Chinese resident official, asking for Chinese protection.

Meanwhile, Col. Sato, the Japanese military commander at Chientao, has arrived in Peking with the object of strengthening Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister, in his negotiations with Tung Shao Yih, the Governor of Fukien province, in pushing the claims of the Japanese military party who regard Chientao as of vital importance, commanding and menacing Kirin, Vladivostok and Harbin equally.

Japanese reservists, in disguise, as settlers, peddlers and farmers, are pouring into the territory in increasing numbers.

Sir Robert Hart of the Chinese Imperial Customs is due here tomorrow en route to his home in Ireland. He has declared that he will return on expiration of his year's leave of absence.

The British court has confiscated the steamship Asori King on the ground of false registration under the British flag. The owner of the vessel was accused of having allowed her to be used for the kidnaping of Chinese coolies who were taken to Guaymas, Mexico.

It is expected that the Chinese government will ask for the prosecution of those implicated in that affair.

TWO OR FOUR?

FIGHT IS ON TODAY.

Senate Is to Debate Naval Bill.

President Is Believed to Have Won Some Votes for His Plan.

Consensus of Opinion, However, Is That He Will Be Defeated.

Piles of Washington Offers Amendment Calling for Four New Ships.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Senatorial decks have been cleared for action, and the battleship fight will begin tomorrow. The naval bill has been completed, with the exception of this feature. Senator Piles of Washington late this afternoon offered his amendment, providing for four battleships instead of two, and Senator Hale presented a paragraph making $7,000,000 immediately available for the construction of battleships, submarines and destroyers.

When Mr. Piles offered his amendment to strike out "two" and insert "four," Mr. Hale said there would probably be a long debate on this point, although he believed nothing could be accomplished by it. As several Senators desire to speak on the amendment, further consideration of the bill was postponed until tomorrow.

The vigorous efforts of the President to secure support for his four-battleship programme has had some effect, but the precise extent to which votes may be influenced cannot be estimated. Some Republicans and some Democrats have been converted to his view, and the final vote will be closer than appeared when the bill came over from the House. The preponderance of opinion [illegible] be defeated, and provision will be made for only two battleships.

An amendment offered today by Senator Nelson was adopted, prohibiting the future use of irons in the navy.

The debate today covered a wide range. The steel trust was given a number of hard raps, Mr. Gore offered an amendment permitting the purchase of material for battleships abroad. It was rejected, receiving no vote except that of Mr. Gore.

"If I sought solitude," said Mr. Gore, "I should be satisfied with that vote, but I want to call attention to the curse of the steel trust which I regard as the tapeworm of the treasury. I want to shake this country loose from the grip of the trust."

Mr. Bacon also criticised the steel trust, saying he did not think the government should put itself in the grasp of such a monopoly. Prices, he said, are 100 per cent. above the cost of production, and the President and Secretary of the Navy are powerless to prevent such extortion.

There was a revival of the old discussion regarding the prices of armor plate, but no changes was made in the bill.

Mr. Hale stated that, since the investigation of the steel trust some years ago, the price of steel armor had been reduced from $550 and $600 per ton to $416 per ton.

Mr. Beveridge declared the United States pays less for its armor plate than any other nation except Japan.

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED.

An amendment by Mr. Hale reducing the stipulated speed of the two colliers from 16 to 14 knots was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Hale the amount made by the House of $1,000,000 toward the construction of eight submarine torpedo boats, was increased to $2,000,000, which may be applied toward the completion of submarine boats heretofore authorized.

An amendment appropriating $500,000 for a "new trunk-in battleship hoist," porposed by Mr. Hale, was adopted.

An amendment was agreed to appropriating $7,000,000 "toward the construction, the machinery, armor and armament of the vessels" authorized in this bill.

The pay of the enlisted men in the hospital corps of the navy is made the same as that of seamen of corresponding rating by a committee amendment which was adopted.

On a point of order made by Mr. Lodge, the committee amendment giving naval staff officers rank on the same basis as that provided for the staff of the army, and providing that command of vessels shall be exercised only by line officers were stricken from the bill as general legislation.

On motion of Mr. Dick of Ohio, the bill was amended so as to allow six months' pay to the heirs of officers and men of the navy dying in the service.

Irons as a means of punishment are barred from the navy by a provision inserted in the bill by Mr. Nelson of Minnesota. Mr. Nelson had a letter read saying that while irons are supposed to be eliminated from the navy as a matter of punishment, yet they are still used.

GORE LOSES.

AMENDMENTS DEFEATED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The House amendments to the naval appropriation bill were offered in the Senate today by Senator Gore of Oklahoma to allow the building of the new battleships, submarine boats, etc., authorized by the bill, at any shipyard in the world, and taking away the restriction in favor of domestic steel.

Mr. Gore had no support in his first motion to permit the building of the ships aboard, and sixty-two votes were registered against him. His second motion was to strike out the provision that all the parts of these ships and the steel material used in them shall be of domestic manufacture. On motion of Mr. Hale that amendment was laid on the table—48 to 9—Mr. Gore securing the support of Senators Bacon, Culberson, Davis, Gary, McCreary, Milton, Money and Simmons, all Democrats.

In offering these amendments, Mr. Gore delivered a passionate appeal to the Senate to strike a blow at the steel trust.

Senator Samuel H. Piles of Washington, who yesterday introduced an amendment to the naval bill making the number of new battleships to be constructed four instead of two.

GROWING WEAKER.

DOCTORS FEAR FOR CLEVELAND.

ILL AND IS SINKING.

Has Been Suffering Two Months With Rheumatic Gout and Acute Indigestion and His Physicians Are Alarmed Lest the Trouble Reach Heart and Prove Fatal.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Former President Grover Cleveland was reported this evening to be in a dangerous condition at the Lakewood Hotel. He began sinking two days ago and the physicians attending him are fearful that the rheumatic gout and acute indigestion from which he has been suffering for two months will reach his heart, in which case the result would prove fatal to him.

Dr. Joseph D. Bryant of No. 54 West Forty-eighth street, who has been going to Lakewood on alternate days for a week and who was called there last night in a hurry, said today that there was no medicine other than the stimulants which are being constantly administered that will benefit Mr. Cleveland.

With the former President are Mrs. Cleveland and two professional nurses. Dr. Gaudinier, the hotel physician, was in attendance but a day or two, he having to leave Lakewood to take up his practice in this city. The hotel was officially closed Monday, but Dr. Bryant told Manager Barry that it would be most dangerous to attempt to move the distinguished sufferer, and Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland will stay there until he is able to leave. There are only one or two other guests in the hotel.

Mr. Cleveland went to Lakewood about six weeks ago, suffering with the rheumatic gout and indigestion. Within two weeks he began to grow weaker and every change since has been for the worse.

TAFT GOING TO PANAMA.

Object of Rumored Journey Is not Known and Few Persons Are Informed About It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After all the explanation to the effect that Secretary Taft, who had come in for criticism because of his frequent absences from Washington, would hereafter confine his visits out of town to mere week-end trips, Mr. Taft is said to be preparing to make a long journey. This time he is reported going to Panama. His intention is said to be to start some time in May.

Just what conditions exist in Panama that require the presence of the Secretary of War on the Isthmus at this critical period in his political career is not disclosed.

Very few persons have been informed of the Secretary's proposed visit and there appears to be a desire to suppress information in regard to it.

Tornado Kills Three, Destroys Homes, and Plays Tricks With Its Victims.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BANCROFT (Neb.) April 23.—A tornado swept through Cummings county and into Thurston county at noon today and three people are known to have been killed, a number injured and a number of houses destroyed.

The tornado struck the house of John Mangleson near Pender, and then swooped up into the air, taking the wreckage of the house and both Mr. and Mrs. Mangelson. Both were killed, their bodies being carried a mile.

HIGH FINANCE.

STOCK ALL WATERED.

Grand Jury Dazed by Ryan's Story.

Financier Swears Ninety-five Per Cent. of Railroads Cost Nothing.

Severe Indictment of Railway Corporations by Head of Metropolitan.

Declares Big Transportation Lines Are Built Entirely With Bonds.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas F. Ryan, before the special grand jury investigating the affairs of the Metropolitan Street Railway, swore that 95 per cent. of the stock of railroad corporations in this country never cost a dollar.

There was great surprise, and many of the jurors questioned Mr. Ryan, believing that they had misunderstood, but the only one in the room who manifested no surprise was Mr. Jerome, who before Mr. Ryan appeared before the jury had carefully gone over all the testimony with him.

Ryan figured out that the $53,000,000 of Metropolitan Street Railway stock represented cash payments of 5½ per cent. of its par value. As Mr. Jerome read this statement, Ryan interrupted, saying:

"Gentlemen, that is the answer to the statement that has been made for the last five years that the Metropolitan Street Railway Company stock is all water."

JEROME TO RESCUE.

Mr. Jerome promptly came to the witness's rescue, saying:

"Mr. Ryan, you have been connected with a large number of corporate ventures both in street railways and in [illegible]

"Yes, sir," answered Ryan.

"And as a banker you have been familiar with the calculations of many of the railroads of this country, have you not?"

"Yes, sir."

"How will that compare—that percentage of water if you call it such?"

"Ninety-five per cent. of the stock of railroad corporations of this country never cost a dollar," was Mr. Ryan's declaration.

"You mean," said Mr. Jerome, "that 95 per cent. of the stock of the railroads of this country are all water?"

"Yes."

CASH IS EXCEPTIONAL.

"Soy then," said Mr. Jerome, "your experience in these matters is that $83.13 cash paid in for every $100 in stock is exceptional?"

"Yes, sir. Up to 1873 there was not a dollar paid in on St. Paul, Northwestern, Omaha, or any of these railroads."

Mr. Jerome asked Mr. Ryan for a further explanation, but the witness waited until the District Attorney put another question.

"If you took these roads as they stand today, including the roads that have been organized and supposed to be put on a sound basis, taking them as a whole, both in steam railroading and surface railroading, would $83.13 in cash for every share of $100 par be a large percentage of cash?"

BUILT WITH BONDS.

"A large percentage," replied Mr. Ryan, "90 per cent. of them haven't had anything. Not only that; in the reorganization that took place from 1900 up to 1901 they assessed their stock and gave bonds."

"Mr. Ryan," said one of the grand jurors, "we understand then that the roads only cost about 5 per cent. of the capital issue; they were built with bonds?"

"Built with bonds," said Mr. Ryan. "The Union Pacific Railroad is built with bonds and got a land grant worth $350,000,000 besides."

"Atchison the same?" asked another grand juror.

"Atchison the same."

SECOND-CLASS FARES CEASE.

Will Be Abolished May 1 by the Roads of Transcontinental Passenger Association.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All the roads in the Transcontinental Passenger Association have agreed to abolish second-class fares.

The change will go into effect May 1. This means that every passenger, whether in Pullman or tourist sleeper, will have to pay regular first-class railway fare.

Holders of second-class tickets have heretofore enjoyed equal privileges with those provided with first-class tickets, except that they have not been allowed to ride in Pullman or parlor cars. There has been a difference of about $2.50 in the price of the tickets between Chicago and Salt Lake City.

VICTIMIZED.

H. H. ROGERS IS ACCUSED.

Fraud and False Statements Are Charged.

Suit Brought for Nearly Two Million Dollars.

Trickery Alleged in a Small Railroad Deal.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Accusing Henry H. Rogers of fraud and false statements, T. Moore Jackson has sued him and George A. Burt and Alfred C. Bedford for $1,292,952, through Richard J. Donovan. Mr. Rogers's lawyers are Knox and Dooling.

Mr. Jackson charges that Mr. Rogers deceived him into parting with the control of a small but important railroad in West Virginia connecting the Baltimore and Ohio with the Ohio River Railroad owned by Mr. Rogers. Mr. Jackson, formerly a college professor and mineralogist of note, was one of the first to discover the mineral riches of West Virginia and became possessed of large tracts of mineral and coal lands in the Clarksburg section and up to 1897 he was worth about $1,500,000. Since then he has lost nearly all of his possessions, as a result, he charges, of frauds practiced upon him by Rogers.

In 1895, Mr. Jackson, who had been dependent solely upon the Baltimore and Ohio to market his products and had been obliged to pay extortionate rates, he alleges, undertook to build the road referred to which would carry his products to the Ohio River road and create competition with the Baltimore and Ohio. He incorporated the West Virginia Short Line Railroad Company.

Up to that time the Ohio River Railroad Company was, it is alleged, a big loser. Mr. Rogers was president, George A. Burt was vice-president, and Alfred C. Bedford an officer. Practically all the stock was held by Mr. Rogers and his associates in the Standard Oil Company.

Unknown to Jackson, Mr. Rogers had been trying in vain to sell his unproductive road to the Baltimore and Ohio. The complaint charges that Rogers conceived the scheme of getting control of Jackson's road to use it as a club over the Baltimore and Ohio, and, "by artifice and device," it is charged, Jackson was induced to let Mr. Rogers operate it as an independent competing line to the Baltimore and Ohio.

After the completion of the road and prior to July 3, 1901, the complaint alleges, Rogers, without consulting or notifying him, sold the railroad, also the Ohio River Railroad, to the Baltimore and Ohio, "at a high and remunerative price."

WEST OF CHICAGO.

SIXTEEN-HOUR LAW ARRANGED.

GENERAL MANAGERS AND REPRESENTATIVES AGREE.

Application of State and Federal Legislation Decided Upon Harmoniously—Crews Tied up Between Terminals Are to Be Considered on Duty Under Pay.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—The general managers of the principal railroads west of Chicago and the representatives of men engaged in train service, announced yesterday their agreement as to the application of the sixteen-hour law.

Crews are not to be tied up unless it is apparent that the trip cannot be completed within the lawful time, and not then until after the expiration of fourteen hours on duty under Federal law, or within two hours of the time limit provided by State laws if State laws govern.

Crews tied up a less number of hours mentioned above are to be regarded to be tied up and paid accordingly. When crews are tied up between terminals they are to be considered on duty and under pay immediately upon expiration of the minimum length of duty, with the period of rest for the entire crew.

Crews tied up will be paid the time or mileage of their schedules from initial point to tie-up point, and when "timed or deadheaded into terminal" will be paid the same as if the run were made.

Pay is allowed for any service for an engine crew if held responsible for the engine.

TAKE OPPOSITE TRACKS.

CHICAGO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Railroads east of Chicago and roads extending west took exactly the opposite action today on the subject of reduced rates for conventions and large gatherings.

The eastern roads decided to make a rate of one and one-half cents a mile and the western roads decided to make no reduced rates, but to hold to the two-cents-a-mile as the minimum rates.

In explanation of the action of the western roads it is stated that fares west of here are on a somewhat different basis than east of Chicago. On account of two-cent laws in the various States, the western roads have reduced their through rates to correspond.

CURIOSITY TO GO.

Moore Brothers' Rock Island Company of New Jersey, a Holding Concern, Will Be Dissolved.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rock Island company of New Jersey, the $150,000,000 corporation which the Moore brothers organized to hold the securities of their vast railroad system headed by the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, is to be abandoned.

The attorneys and officials are busy devising a plan whereby the holding company, which has been a curiosity in the financial world for several years, may be successfully dissolved and the stock of the companies which is held by it returned to the original owners.

Blanche Bates is still playing "THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST" to capacity houses in the chief theaters of the large eastern cities, and charges from $2 to $3 for the same seats that are sold at The Los Angeles Belasco for 75 cents. The Belasco performance has been pronounced by those who have witnessed both productions to be the equal of that given by Miss Bates when. That's going some, and the immense audiences that have crammed the Belasco Theater for the past three weeks are the best possible tributes to the superlative merit of the Los Angeles Belasco organization.

Seats for the fourth and last week of "The Girl of the Golden West" will go on sale this morning. Everyone who has been unable to get tickets for this big show must join the long line of early buyers the very first thing this morning or will surely be disappointed once more.

INDICTMENTS S TO REFRESH

Ex-Supervisor Wilson Admits He Presumes B Turned Against Him Testimony Didn't Plea

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO TH

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] During the cross-examination of Andrew M. Wilson, former Supervisor and, later, Police Commissioner, in the third trial of Tirey L. Ford today, it was developed quite sensationally that Wilson had been indicted three times immediately after he testified in the first trial.

He was pressed by Stanley Moore, counsel for Ford, for an explanation. Wilson said he did not know why he had been indicted, after being included in the immunity contract with the Supervisors, but supposed it was because he had not testified on the witness stand exactly as Langdon and Heed wished him to testify.

Wilson said his testimony at the first trial had contained a "slight, unimportant inaccuracy," which he attributed to the fact that he was sick in bed, and was not very clear in his mind as to some things. He believed the District Attorney had misconstrued his testimony to the effect that he had not mentioned money matters to the other Supervisors in speaking to them in regard to the United Railroads franchise. He explained today that, when he testified at the first trial, he had not meant to say that he had not discussed money matters with the other Supervisors, in connection with the franchise, but that he had not mentioned the money the first time he spoke to them about the franchise.

In explanation, he said, he made his statement to Burns the day after he left the stand. The three indictments charging bribery are still hanging over his head, he said, but he believes that Burns several times has stated that he does not think the prosecution will press the indictments against him in view of his revised testimony.

On cross-examination, Wilson told how the members of the board of Supervisors had stood upon the trolley question at the request of Gallagher, and how, in the latter that the board should wait to end of receiving $10,000 from the United Railroads after the passage of the franchise. Wilson testified that he received the money in two payments of $5000 each, the first payment being in small denominations, placed in a valise and handed to him by Gallagher in a corridor of the ruined building early in August, 1906. The witness said Wilson said he received the money from Gallagher in a restaurant on Market street and was deposited by him in a bank on the same day with the proceeds of a Deposit and Trust Company check.

Supervisor O'Gara offered in evidence a receipt tag made out by Wilson when he deposited the money in bank.

Other Supervisors were examined. Their stories were practically identical.

Supervisor Coshis testified that he had spoken to him about the trolley question prior to its passage but that he had stood that there "would be something in it," and afterwards received $1000 from James L. Gallagher, a member of the Finance Committee of the board. He admitted to the jury that he had been "sore at the mayor and the district attorney's office," for having been asked to resign when he had declared that he had intended to serve out his term, but declared that he had changed his mind after the catastrophe."

Superintendent of Education W. W. Anderson was then called to the witness. His direct and cross-examination was brief. He too testified that he had spoken to him about the trolley question before its passage. He was corroborated on the stand by Fred Jennings and J. Phillips, who testified that Wilson's testimony did not differ materially from that of the others and that the question of other testimony in the two previous trials of Ford was made in open court and to the bickering up of the case. Louis F. Byington, former District Attorney, of counsel for Ford, directed his line of inquiry at obtaining the denominations of the bills received by the witness Friday. He showed Phillips the two previous trials of Wilson and tried to establish by it that the latter had testified contradictorily to his statements on that point. Phillips refused to explain the inconsistency in his testimony, but was cut short by Byington with the question, "Did you tell the court and listening to the jury that caused you to change your testimony in this respect?"

Wilson emphatically denied that he had been promised anything other than to his testimony in these trials. Like the others, he admitted that he was testifying under an immunity contract. "Did you tell the judge of the truth in the matter?" asked Byington. "I did not," replied the witness.

Byington sought in vain to bring out from Phillips that it was Gallagher and not the judge who would pass upon the witness's testimony was Spreckels, who made the tour of the wrecked building with Heney, maintained more composure than the graft prosecutor. He said:

"This is an act which should arouse the decent-minded citizens in the community. It is a dastardly deed, and the public cannot too strongly express its condemnation of such a hideous crime."

While Heney was freely airing his opinions concerning the origin of the explosion, Gallagher was keeping discreetly silent. He hesitated to make any statement, but, when pressed to give his views, finally said:

"The persons who performed such an act as this are so base that it is practically impossible to conceive of such human depravity. I have had no direct warning, either written or spoken, except that a few friends and Heney advised me to be careful of myself."

Captain of Detectives Peterson of Oakland admitted tonight that the men in his department were working vigorously on a number of suggestions which might possibly lead to the capture of the guilty persons. He refused to state what was the nature of the information which had come to his office, but he added that he had not been collaborating with Burns's detectives from San Francisco or with any plain-clothes men from this side of the bay.

One of the most interesting pieces of evidence in the possession of the police is a partially burned silk handkerchief, checkered in fine bluish lines. This was found in the pile of debris in the vestibule, where, it is supposed, the dynamiters laid their infernal machine.

STUDENTS SUSPENDED.

THREE MORE MUST GO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 23.—Prof. Clark of the Student Affairs Committee, today posted a notice, announcing the suspension of three students.

One of the three is E. N. Smith of Honolulu, former editor of the Sequois, who will not be allowed to register in the university on account of a recent editorial, in which he bitterly criticised the Student Affairs Committee individually and collectively. Another student, whose name is not given, was suspended for being under the influence of liquor on the campus April 17. The third student suspended will not be permitted to register for failure to comply with the regulation requiring students under suspension to remain off the campus.

While no name is given, it is generally understood this is Track Capt. F. B. Lanagan, who is thus permanently suspended for attending the intercollegiate meet last Saturday where his duties drew him, contrary to the order of Prof. Clark.

"SASSY" CAPTAIN PUNISHED.

Confined to Fort Limits for Curt Reply to Colonel About Harshness Toward Enlisted Men.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Capt. H. McElgin of the One Hundred and Sixth Company of Coast Artillery, will be confined to the limits of Fort Worden military reservation for the next three months for sassing a superior officer. Fort Woden is just outside the city limits of Port Townsend.

The trouble between the captain and Col. Cummins arose through McElgins's curt retort when Cummins called him for explanation of alleged harshness in dealing with minor offenses of the enlisted men of the company. McElgins's men, it is said, were given terms in the guardhouse by the captain's orders where other company commanders let the offenders off with a reprimand and warning.

There is thus a sort of retributive justice in the fact that the captain's liberty is also curtailed. In addition his sentence carries with it a reprimand.

POOR MAN'S RICH STRIKE.

Prospectors, Who Failed Elsewhere in Alaska, Find Fortune on New Submarine Beach.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Practically every foot of the new submarine beach located last summer is owned by prospectors who have mushed through every prominent district in Alaska in the last few years and have heretofore failed to strike it rich, according to letters received from Nome.

Though big operators own everything else in Nome, none of the new claims have yet fallen into their hands. It is a poor man's strike.

The discovery is proving to be far richer than it looked at first. Pay has been found for three miles west of Snake River and indications are that it will continue along the beach.

The pay streak seems to be lying on the second bed rock directly beneath the second beach line and from five to ten feet above the solid bed rock. It is twenty feet below sea level. The dirt runs as high as 75 cents to the pan.

SUICIDE IN RESERVOIR.

BLOODHOUNDS FIND BODY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For two days citizens of Burnett have been drinking water from a reservoir that contained the body of a suicide.

This alarming condition came to light this morning when two bloodhounds belonging to Constable Hodge led a posse of men to the reservoir and set up a howl.

Investigation showed the dead body of Edward Fenazi.

MEXICANS CORRALLED.

HIGH GRADING SUSPECTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, April 23.—Exclusive Dispatch.] Under the direction of Capt. Cox the Nevada State police force this afternoon surrounded a desperate band of Mexicans on the Truckee, between this city and Sparks. From all directions, the State officers, all heavily armed, swooped down upon the crowd, most of whom were asleep.

Reports of high grading on the leases at Rawhide were received by the officers. Considerable rock from the Miller lease was stolen Monday and a close watch is being kept for it by the officers. This, together with the numerous robberies committed here in the past week, has caused much activity of the officers.

The Mexicans went into camp on the river this morning, their presence being telegraphed to Reno from Sparks.

HIGH HONORS.

STEPHENS NOW HEAD KNIGHT.

UNANIMOUSLY ELECTED GRAND COMMANDER.

Well-Known Los Angeles Mason Receives High Honors—Sheriff Hammel Is Chosen Grand Junior Warden and Albert A. Caldwell of Riverside Grand Captain General.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Southern California Knights Templars were well represented at the fiftieth annual conclave of the Grand Commandery of the State, which opened today in Golden Gate Hall, and they were signally honored by the election of three of their members to grand offices.

Grand Generalissimo W. D. Stephens, Past Commander of Los Angeles Commandery and one of the best known and universally popular Masons of the State, was unanimously elected Grand Commander, receiving a hearty ovation. Albert A. Caldwell, Grand Junior Warden, a Past Commander of Riverside Commandery, was elected Grand Captain-General, and Grand Standard Bearer W. A. Hammel, a Past Commander of Los Angeles Commandery and Sheriff of Los Angeles county, was elected Grand Junior Warden.

Southern California now has the largest representation of elective officers of the Grand Commandery in its history. Delegates present: From Pasadena, Past Commander B. B. Cartwright, Charles J. Willett, James B. Hughes, S. J. Edwards, Commander W. B. Edwards; from San Diego, Past Commanders W. J. Mossholder, R. M. Powers, Commander Samuel W. Hackett; from Pomona, Commander Arthur M. Dole; from Santa Ana, Commander Birkett Utley; from Riverside, Commander Ottley Papineau; from San Bernardino, Past Commander Benjamin F. Bledsoe, Commander Hiram D. Sibley; from Santa Barbara, Commander Frank Kables; from Ventura, Past Commander R. O. Reasins, Commander George Cook; from Los Angeles, Commanders Percy W. Weidner, William P. Joffries. The sessions will conclude tomorrow evening.

MORE GOLD IN ALASKA.

Another Rich Strike Is Reported, This Time on the Innoko River, in Big District.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] H. G. Walker brings definite news of a rich gold discovery on Innoko River, in Northwestern Alaska. The district is as large as Tanana and promises as rich. It is adjacent to Kuskokwim district. Walker says:

"At Kaltog on the Yukon in March, I was surprised to see any number of dog and reindeer teams loaded with supplies going into the Innoko district, in which very rich discoveries had been made.

"Everyone along the river is greatly excited over Innoko and a big camp is sure to be located there this summer. All available space on all small boats that can navigate the river have been chartered. The particular creeks along which work is actively prosecuted are Spruce, Dodge and Ophir, the latter having twelve claims at the time I left Kaltog."

To reach Innoko one has to go up the Yukon about 400 miles to Yukon slough. A second route will be much easier as soon as the trail now building is completed. This makes the sixth great find completely corroborated in the North this winter.

ROYAL ARCH INSTALLS.

ANNUAL SESSION CLOSES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—The grand chapter of California, Royal Arch Masons, completed its business and closed its fifty-fifth annual session Wednesday. It decided to add $10,000 to its former subscription of $50,000 toward the Masonic Temple to be erected on Van Ness avenue and Oak street. The following officers were installed:

Past Grand High Priest, J. C. Willits, Pasadena.

Grand High Priest, F. W. G. Meebus, Alameda.

Deputy Grand High Priest, George H. Monroe, Fresno.

King, James R. Tapscott, Yreka.

Grand Scribe, Charles W. Norton, Stockton.

Grand Treasurer, Franklin H. Day, San Francisco.

Grand Secretary, William A. Davies, Alameda.

Grand Chaplain, W. A. Sherman, Oakland.

Grand Lecturer, Henry Ascroft, San Francisco.

Captain of the Host, Leo V. Youngworth, Los Angeles.

Royal Arch Captain, William W. Lyman, St. Helena.

Grand Organist, Samuel D. Mayer.

Grand Guard, George W. Perkins, San Francisco.

BANK CLEARINGS FALL OFF.

REPORTS FROM SEVEN CITIES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Bank clearings for the past week show a falling off from last week, and are materially smaller than the records of a year ago. San Francisco banks cleared $20,214,622, a loss of 20.1 per cent.

A decrease of 29.2 per cent. is noted in Los Angeles, the clearings for this year being $9,093,894.

Oakland shows a loss of 57.1 per cent.

San José proved an exception to the general tendency, gaining 15.7 per cent., the clearings this year being $501,208.

In the three cities where clearing houses have been organized less than a year, the reports were as follows for the week:

Sacramento, $841,752; Fresno, $407,-586; Stockton, $396,446.

This makes a grand total for the seven cities of $42,720,586 for the week.

FIRE PARALYZES CITY.

LIGHT AND POWER GONE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BELLINGHAM (Wash) April 23.—By the burning of the plant of the Independent Asphalt Company here early this morning all the wires to and from the main substations of the Nooksack Falls Power Company were destroyed, and today the city is without light or power.

Street cars are not running, mills and factories are idle, and business houses are without light. Every effort is being made to repair wires to carry power to the newspaper offices, but this is not promised before late this afternoon. The total loss is estimated at $10,000.

OWL TRAIN WRECKED.

BUT NO ONE IS HURT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

FRESNO, April 23.—South-bound Owl train about 10 o'clock this evening, at Mendota, thirty miles from Fresno, ran into six detached freight cars, which had broken loose from a train some time before.

No one was hurt, but the Owl engine was smashed up and some of the freight cars were damaged, and traffic is tied up. The Owl has been sent back to Tracey to come down the east side of the valley to Fresno, via Merced.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Car Track Sleeper Is Killed.

SAN JOSE, April 23.—The man who was run over and killed by a First-street car near the bridgehouse late last night was identified this morning as Joseph Villar, a well-known local accountant and politician. Villar, evidently had lain down on the track and gone to sleep, and the car was almost upon him before he was observed by the motorman. His mother, two sisters, and two brothers survive him.

Hotel Guests Flee Night Fire.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—A fire on Gouden Gate avenue shortly after 2 o'clock this morning endangered the lives of a hundred and fifty sleeping guests in the Hotel Dale, who were aroused just in time to escape from the flames. The damage to the hotel will amount to $5000.

BREACH OF GRANT.

ORDER SUIT TO FORFEIT LAND.

HOUSE PASSES SENATE RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING ACTION.

Oregon and California Railroad Company Said to Have Forfeited All Right to 2,800,000 Acres in Oregon by Breaches and Violation of Grant.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—By the overwhelming vote of 245 to 8, the House today, after several hours of discussion, adopted without amendment the Senate joint resolution authorizing the Attorney General to file suits against the Oregon and California Railroad Company for the forfeiture of all or part of 2,800,000 acres of land grants in the western part of Oregon.

It is asserted by the government that by reasen of breaches and violations of the acts making the grants, the railroad company had forfeited all right to the land in question.

The sentiment of the House was practically unanimous that the suits would work no hardship on bona-fide purchasers of homesteads from the company.

The resolution was introduced in the Senate by Senator Tillman, and has passed that body.

STATE'S RIGHTS BOBS UP.

SENATOR RAYNER SPEAKS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—State's rights was the subject of an interesting speech in the Senate today by Senator Rayner of Maryland.

Mr. Rayner spoke on his resolution declaring that in the opinion of the Senate the powers delegated by the Constitution of the United States must not be enlarged by implication or so construed as to conflict with or encroach upon the reserved rights of the States as guaranteed by the tenth amendment.

Mr. Rayner favored a single Presidential term, and declared that no President should have the right to determine the selection of his successor through the use of Federal patronage.

POLITICAL.

BRYAN DELEGATION HEADED BY SULLIVAN.

Nebraskan's Friends in Illinois Convention Not Satisfied With Resolutions Endorsing Him—His Enemy Dominates Proceedings.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) April 23.—The Illinois Democracy today adopted the unit rule and instructed its delegates to the Denver convention to vote for W. J. Bryan and "to use all honorable means" to secure his nomination.

After a hot fight in the Resolutions Committee, which was carried into the convention, the party adopted a party platform plank declaring in favor of the "greatest possible personal liberty" to individuals, provided such liberty did not infringe upon the rights of other people.

The plank is as follows:

"We believe that orderly customs and habits long pursued should not be disturbed be intolerance and we hereby declare in favor of that fundamental doctrine of democracy and free government which gives to the individual the largest measure of personal liberty so long as he does not infringe on the personal rights of others. We are opposed to all sumptuary laws."

END INSERT

Instead of naming the usual four delegates and alternates-at-large to the national convention, it was decided to send eight, allowing each man one-half of a vote. Two Presidential electors-at-large were also chosen.

The following are the delegates-at-large to the national convention: Roger C. Sullivan, Samuel Alschuler, Frederick J. Kern, Harry M. Pindell, Carroll C. Boggs, Edward F. Dunne, Andrew J. Hunter, Redrick M. Ridgely.

Presidential electors-at-large: Richard Kinsella of Sangamon county and Caleb Johnson of Whiteside county.

The resolution indorsing Bryan was adopted with enthusiasm and a flattering demonstration followed the action. For all that, however, it was not worded entirely to the satisfaction of Bryan's most enthusiastic supporters, and in the last few minutes of the convention, Judge Owen P. Thompson of Jacksonville, declaring that Bryan had been "sold out," demanded that a stronger resolution be passed. He desired to have the instructions so worded that Illinois would be bound to support Bryan as long as his name was before the convention.

His effort was made in the last few minutes of the convention and it met the usual fate of new business that is sprung upon hot, weary, hungry and thirsty delegates who are anxious to catch trains for their homes. It was swiftly and overwhelmingly defeated.

The convention, however, showed sincere enthusiasm for Bryan. When his name was mentioned there was invariably great applause and the reading of the resolution in his favor was greeted with cheers. The applause, it is true, came more from the delegates from other counties than Cook and other cities than Chicago.

Roger C. Sullivan, who dominated the convention from first to last, did not applaud Bryan's name at any time, but Sullivan is not the kind of man who is given to applauding things, no matter how strong his approval may be.

When the demonstration was in progress after the reading of the Bryan resolution, he rose and stood until the cheers subsided and then resumed his seat.

The fight over the "personal liberty" or liquor plank in the platform, was warm and long. It delayed the convention nearly two hours and then a minority of seven presented a report urging that the plank be entirely omitted. Nineteen members of the committee favored it, and, the convention sustained them—849 to 646. Of the total in favor of the plank, 535 votes came from Cook county. Three-quarters of the country delegations voted against it, but the heavy vote of Chicago was too much for them.

Considerable feeling was manifested during the roll call, which laid the minority report upon the table.

The Johnson men were not in evidence throughout the convention although they scattered much Johnson literature about in an effort to head off the Bryan boom. No Johnson resolution was offered.

POLITICIANS ACTIVE.
LEADERS LIKE LODGE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Convention politics are already under discussion at the capital, and some of the Republican leaders, realizing the possible danger of friction developing between the rival aspirants for the nomination in connection with the organization of the convention in Chicago, are cautiously taking soundings to develop the attitude and probable course of action of various eligibles for the convention officers.

It is now learned that a strong effort is being made to induce Senator Lodge of Massachusetts to accept the permanent chairmanship. His friends are urging that he presents in his personality the best compromise elements, standing in a most favorable attitude toward each of the persons who have figured in the public prints as possible candidates for the Republican nomination.

Hughes Calls Extra Session.

ALBANY (N. Y.) April 23.—Gov. Hughes at 4:50 p.m. today caused to be filed with the Secretary of State a proclamation convening the Legislature in extraordinary session on Monday, May 11. The proclamation does not specify any subject which the Governor will recommend or consider at the extra session.

VICE-PRESIDENCY.

SEEK MAN FOR SECOND PLACE.

Taft Managers on Hunt for Running Mate.

Crane Refuses, Fairbanks May Be Asked.

Possible Candidates Being Canvassed.

BY WALTER WELLMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Feeling sure of the nomination of the Secretary of War for President, the Taft managers are now seriously discussing the Vice-Presidency.

They have reached no conclusion. They have not offered the second place on the ticket to any one. They do not intend doing so; certainly not in the near future. But they are looking the field over, talking of the merits and demerits of the various possibilities and trying to learn what may be done and what cannot be done, as well as what would be best to do.

There were several interesting developments in the political field today. Senator Crane of Massachusetts might have the Vice-Presidential nomination if he would take it. He says he doesn't want it. Manager Hitchcock of the Taft bureau and Charles Taft, brother of the Secretary, had a talk with Senator Crane today. They did not offer him the second place, but they "sounded" him. Once before there was talk of putting the Massachusetts Senator on the national ticket with some candidate, and he said then under no circumstances would he have it. He has not changed his mind. Yet, of course, it is pretty well understood that if the convention were to name him he would have to accept.

Talk as they will, men do not find it so easy to run away from such things when the pinch comes. Many of the Taft people think Senator Crane would add strength to the ticket. Moreover, he would be very useful in raising campaign funds, just as Tom Johnson would be useful to Bryan. Neither party knows where it is to get money for the expenses of the national campaign since the corporations and insurance companies have quit putting up.

It would not be at all strange if Vice-President Fairbanks were asked to stand as a candidate to succeed himself. He has the respect of all factions. He has made an excellent Vice-President. It would not be necessary to introduce him to the country as would be the case with such men as Gov. Guild of Massachusetts or Gov. Fort of New Jersey. Senator Knox is also talked of for second place. He is much admired by all who know him.

UNFORTUNATE.

INSANE ASYLUM QUARANTINED

REPORT OF TWO DEATHS FROM DIPHTHERIA AT PATTON.

Thirty Cases, All Mild—Superior Court Judge's Wife and Children Caught in Health Officer's Cordon. Angelano, Temporarily Insane, Jumps from Car Window.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 23.—Diphtheria has broken out at the State Hospital for Insane at Patton and the institution is quarantined. Already two deaths have taken place, one that of a nurse, Miss Myrtle Johnson, and the other an old woman, a patient, according to reports. There are thirty cases, but all mild, it is declared.

Medical Superintendent Williamson was absent when the disease appeared, but upon his return wired for State Health Officer Foster. County Health Officer Strong also made an investigation.

Among the visitors caught in the quarantine are the wife and children of Judge Denamore of the Superior Court of Riverside county.

James W. McCade of Los Angeles this morning purchased the T. W. Frye orange grove at Highland, consisting of sixteen acres of eight-year-old navels, for $25,000.

JUMPS FROM CAR WINDOW.

J. E. Grippon, a resident of Los Angeles, while on his way home from Chicago, with his wife and family, became demented on a Santa Fé overland yesterday and at Ludlow, on the desert, leaped from a window. He was pursued and captured. While under guard in a roundhouse, he attacked an officer, and would have succeeded in wresting his revolver away but for the timely arrival of help.

Grippon was taken to the County Hospital, but later released, having regained his mental poise. His temporary aberration is supposed to have been caused by heat and the long journey, undertaken at a time when he was not very strong physically.

The much desired franchise for standardizing the Redlands Southern Pacific motor line through this city is held up because of municipal politics. This is the statement of those who are well informed as to the true situation. If the Council would approve of the Mayor's appointment of L. D. Rasor as city engineer, the ordinance granting the franchise would be signed by Mayor Hanford, it is stated.

OBITUARY.

William Dunkel.

TACOMA (Wash.) April 23.—William Dunkel, a pioneer of Tacoma, died this morning, aged 72. Dunkel, who had served as a lieutenant in the Prussian army, emigrated to America in 1860, and settled in California. He was Mayor of Yreka and superintendent of schools in Siskiyou county, removing to Seattle in 1883, and to Tacoma the following year.

Jackson Farley.

UKIAH, April 23.—Jackson Farley, an Indian fighter, and pioneer, died yesterday at his home in Jackson Valley. He crossed the plains in '48, and located in the valley which bears his name, and was the first white man to settle here. He was 100 years old.

PROMOTION.

TRUST-FIGHTER GOES TO BENCH.

MILTON DWIGHT PURDY BECOMES A JURIST.

Gopher State Attorney Who Has Had Special Charge of Government Anti-trust Prosecutions Is Nominated United States Judge for the District of Minnesota.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The President sent to the Senate the following nominations:

To be United States Judge for the District of Minnesota—Milton Dwight Purdy of Minnesota.

Milton D. Purdy, yesterday appointed by the President to be United States Judge for the district of Minnesota.

Purdy of Minnesota.

Captain, to be rear-admiral—William S. Cowles.

Since Mr. Purdy's appointment to the position of assistant to the Attorney-General in July, 1905, on the resignation of Judge William A. Day, he has had special charge in the Department of Justice of all cases relating to the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust act and the interstate commerce laws, and he has argued before the United States Supreme Court many important cases for the government. Among his most recent victories were the two cases of the Great Northern Railway Company and the Armour Packing Company against the United States, in which the government was successful. Through Mr. Purdy's work important principles of law applicable to the interstate commerce act were established.

General Manager Gruber of the Great Northern reached Helena, Mont., yesterday, after having spent a week at the scene of the flood occasioned by the bursting of Hauser Lake dam. The tracks have been repaired and traffic resumed. Mr. Gruber estimated the loss to the railroad company at $75,000.

PETITION FOR RECEIVER.
NEVADA BANK IN TROUBLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CARSON, April 23.—The State Bank Commission at a meeting this afternoon petitioned the District Court to appoint a receiver for the State Bank and Trust Company, which closed its doors October 22.

The petition sets forth that the cause of delay in asking for a receiver was to give the directors and others a chance to rehabilitate the bank, that all efforts had failed. The amount of deficiency is $451,000.

Several of the directors and officials connected with the inner affairs claim the bank even under the direction of a receiver will pay dollar for dollar.

Since the closing of the bank the liabilities have been decreased over $1,000,000.

President Rickey declined to make any public statement, as he is under indictment, along with the other directors, on a charge of embezzlement. A receiver will probably be appointed by the end of the week.

NAMES CONCEALED.
BANK FAVORED COMMISSIONER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—A. J. Le Breton, receiver of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, was still disinclined today to give names in relation to his charge made before the Legislative Committee on Banking, that some one connected with the bank commission has been specially favored by the management of the bank, presumably in consideration of favors.

"Possibly I have already said too much," remarked Receiver Le Breton, "but I was called before the Legislative Committee on a subpoena, and, of course, had to tell the truth. I mentioned no names there and do not propose to do so now. Of course the books of the bank are open for examination by the committee if it wishes to pursue the inquiry."

OPPOSES LIQUOR FOR FLEET.
SUNDAY-SCHOOL MEETING ENDS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SANTA CRUZ, April 23.—What is generally conceded to have been one of the most successful State Sunday-school conventions ever held in California, in session in this city for the past two days, concluded its deliberations this evening.

One of the dramatic incidents of the afternoon session was a resolution passed, viva voce, opposing the entertainment at the various ports of entry for the great fleet of the United States, to show the welcome and hospitality of our State to the men of the fleet by a lavish outpouring of wine, beer and other intoxicating liquors.

Tonight a superintendent's banquet was held at Odd Fellows' Hall. One hundred and twenty-five covers were laid.

The First National Congress of Italian Women was opened in Roma yesterday. The congress is held under the auspices of Queen Helena. Minister of Education Rava and Signor Nathan, the Mayor of Rome. The opening address was delivered by Countess Spalletti, who said that the aim of the gathering was the lifting of the social standing of women rather than their political status.

GIRL ALONE SURVIVES FIRE.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) April 23.—A dispatch from Battleford, Saskatchewan, says:

"Anna Matthews is the only survivor of a family of five as a result of prairie fires in the Tramping Lake district. The father went to fight the flames, which were creeping down on their little home, and perished in the attempt.

"The house took fire and Anna, aged 18, with her clothes ablaze, carried her 5-year-old brother and sister to a place of safety, returned for her mother, but was too late.

"She fought her way again through the sea of fire, only to find that the other children had wandered into the fire and perished.

FIGHTS FOR BIG ESTATE.

SANTA ROSA, April 23.—The contest of the will of the late Mrs. Teresa Wensinger, who left a large estate, began here today. Louis O'Farrell, the contestant, who was cut off with a small amount, is a nephew, and he contends that Archbishop Riordan and Rev. Father Mulligan, the latter being Mrs. Wensinger's spiritual adviser, exerted undue influence.

The estate amounts to between $300,000 and $400,000, and the contest promises to be a bitter one.

The entire day was taken up with the examination of jurymen.

Los Angeles' Greatest Sale Sample Hosiery For Men and Women 25c

My, what a crowd, and yet it's not to be wondered at when you think of the beautiful stockings that are selling at 25c. Why, the embroidery and clockings on some of them are worth more than that.

Think of the great quantity to begin with—actually 13,520 pairs. Of course, they couldn't begin to all go in one day. Silk lisles, black and white and colors, in lace boot patterns, allover lace and lisle stockings, plain black and white, and all the favored shades.

It's almost impossible to give details of how good these stockings are. You must see them to appreciate the value importance.

"You don't mean to say those beautiful embroidered lace stockings in the window are selling at 25c?" said one woman. It's a fact. We claim that it's the greatest hosiery sale Los Angeles has ever known. The merchandise backs up our statements. The Window Comes Out Friday.

This is a sale for men as well as women, and the values are fully as important. Choosing will be brisk Friday.

COOL ATTEMPT TO MURDER.

Jap Rests Gun on Arm, Aims at Bartender and Pulls Trigger. Locked up.

Charged with having deliberately pointed a revolver at James Curran, a bartender in the California saloon, and with having snapped the hammer on a cartridge, Kay Imai was arrested yesterday. Curran, it is said, had refused to serve the Japanese with whisky.

Imai was arraigned before Justice Chambers, and his bail fixed at $1000. In default of this sum, he was locked up in the City Jail.

F. C. Piers of No. 1037 West Eighteenth street, who witnessed the alleged attempt to murder, testified that he saw the defendant seat himself at one of the tables in the saloon, draw a small revolver from his hip pocket, load it, rest it on his arm, take aim at the bartender and pull the trigger. The witness said he leaped upon the man and overpowered him.

The angry customers wanted to treat the Jap roughly.

CAR BARNS STONED.

Pennsylvania Street Railway Strikers Ignore Federal Court Injunction.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PENSACOLA (Fla.) April 23.—Notwithstanding the injunction issued by the Federal Court to prevent lawlessness in the strike of street railway employés, the barns of the Pensacola Electric Company, where over 100 strike-breakers are housed, were stoned early today.

No one was injured. Several arrests were made.

AN ARKANSAS HOLD-UP.

CLUB INMATES LINED UP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.) April 23.—Four masked men with leveled revolvers entered the club-house of the Indiana Club on Central avenue early today, forced the occupants to line up alongside the wall and looted the place of a large amount of money. The occupants were then locked in a room and the robbers escaped.

No definite statement concerning the amount of money taken can be secured but it is estimated at between $5000 and $10,000.

BURGLARS USE NITRO.

Safe in Lumber Company's Office in Hollywood Is Blown Open. No Plunder.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—Burglars blew the safe of the Nofsiger Lumber Company on Prospect avenue about 1 o'clock last night in an attempt at robbery. There were two explosions of nitroglycerine, about a half hour apart. The first warned the family of Jacob Jepson, on the opposite side of the street and when the second occurred an alarm was turned into Night Watchman Eckenberg. Eckenberg responded in a quarter of an hour, but could not locate the source of the explosion which had been heard and later went his way. However the excitement of those whose slumber had been disturbed caused the would-be burglars to steal away without securing the coveted plunder. This morning the wrecked safe was discovered by the manager, J. M. Young, on his arrival at the office. By its side were a sledge hammer and a jimmie. The side door had been pried open. Marshall Lingo has no clew as to who the visitors were.

FINE FOR COMPLEXION

A sallow skin and dull eyes are the direct result of faulty digestion. A prominent physician says, that by a simple course of treatment this most undesirable condition can be cured. Relieve the stomach of its burden by using a digestive that will give rest and restore its vitality. For this the following prescription will be found to work wonders:

Two ounces essence of pepsin; one ounce catandir compound; three ounces syrup of ginger. These to be mixed and shaken well in a six-ounce bottle and used in doses of from one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bedtime.

The catandir compound is a product of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co. of Chicago, and it as well as the other ingredients can be obtained from any well stocked drug store. By following up this treatment the rose of health will soon take the place of pallid complexion and the whole system feel improved.

BAD BEGINNING.

GARDNER LOST TO SULLIVAN.

Poor Fight for First Card of Jeffries's New Club.

Small Crowd of Sports Have Three Cold Hours.

Lauder and Kid Bell Furnish Joke Preliminary.

Mike Twin Sullivan beat Jimmy Gardner, twenty-five rounds.

Leonard Lauder beat "Kid" Bell, fifteen rounds.

With two fights that failed to show much class of any kind, the new arena of the Jeffries Athletic Club was opened last night with an attendance of 600 to 800 fight bugs, who shivered through three hours under a starlit sky and breathed in the fumes from what some of the bugs thought was the city garbage incinerator, to see the so-called welterweight championship decided between Mike Sullivan and Jimmy Gardner. It was decided, but both men put up a poor exhibition, and Sullivan could doubtless have knocked out Gardner at any time after the fifth round, if he had had a knock-out punch.

At the end, Jeffries gave the decision to Sullivan, and from the appearance of the fighters any one but a blind man would have called the twin the winner. Gardner's left eye was practically closed, his nose was puffed to almost twice its natural size, and his mouth was banged out of shape and bleeding. In addition to these disfigurements, his temples were swelled, the right side of his face skinned, and he had every appearance of a man who had been where there was something stirring. Sullivan was marked but little.

The trouble with Sullivan was that he was too careful. He had Gardner all but out several times, and with Jimmy tired, bleeding and helpless, Sullivan was afraid to take a chance with a rush and a swing, when it seemed that one good blow would knock out Gardner. Half-way through the battle, some of the spectators sitting on the rim of the big arena, began to sing, "We're here because we're here," and kept this going for several rounds, which was a good illustration of what the big majority of those present thought of things.

The arena is a fine one, and admirably arranged for boxing contests, but the opening event cannot be considered a success. The card was not a classy one; the absence of a roof made the place very cold, and the smell of decayed "something" that was wafted into the building was anything but agreeable. The small crowd of sports must have been a distinct disappointment to the management, but the fact is that the sports would not attend.

It must be confessed that they didn't miss a wonderful battle, for there was nothing great about it. Gardner did not live up to his eastern reputation, and Sullivan was there as usual with the same old Sullivan style of jabbing and ducking into a clinch. He mashed Gardner's face with those left jabs, and beat Jimmy to the head. There were no knock-downs and little real slugging, and only once or twice did Gardner show any real fierceness, and in only four or five rounds of the twenty-five did he have the best of Sullivan. It was this flash business that doubtless scared Sullivan and running up against it when he least expected something, made him afraid.

GARDNER AGGRESSIVE.

One round was almost like another. Gardner was on the aggressive and always came out to meet Sullivan, but invariably would be stopped by a left jab in the face. These were hard enough to send his head back at times, and make his face mussy, but none of them had sufficient force behind to knock Gardner down. Jimmy took an awful beating, but he was game to the core and, although thrashed all the way, took a brace in the twenty-first and twenty-third rounds, and had a shade the best of Sullivan. These spurts were of no avail, however, as Sullivan had too much of a lead. It was lead—duck—clinch for the Twin all the way, and if he had a punch as good as a grasshopper's kick, he would surely have put out Gardner before the tenth round.

The first was tame, but in the second Gardner slashed into the Twin with right and left swings, and then in the clinches, nummeled him in the stomach. The third was about even, and the fourth and fifth were Gardner's. Sullivan had the sixth and seventh, and Gardner the eighth. The next seven belonged to Sullivan, although Gardner showed a flash in the fifteenth. The sixteenth and seventeenth were Sullivan's, but the eighteenth and nineteenth showed Gardner in the lead. He hit Sully several swings on the jaw that staggered him, but had nothing in reserve, and could not land an effective blow. In the last five rounds, some of the sports yelled to Sullivan to go in and knock out Gardner, but he was too careful, and was apparently satisfied to hold his advantage without taking a chance on a haymaker swing.

JOKE PRELIMINARY.

The fifteen-round preliminary between Lauder and Kid Bell was a joke. Bell went to the floor no less than twelve times, but only about five of these came from knockdowns. He evidently was very anxious to quit, and every time he went to the floor he stayed the limit and rested. Lauder forced the work, and seemed to have it on the colored boy in every way.

In the first round Bell went to the floor five times, and in the tenth there was more floor business. In this latter one, Lauder knocked Bell down with a left swing to the jaw, and he stayed down nine seconds. When he got up he was floored again, and these two seemed to revive him, for in the next mix he knocked Lauder down, and with left and rights on the body had him groggy. Then Lauder knocked Bell down again just before the round ended. In the eleventh Bell was groggy, and went to the floor twice in the twelfth and once in the fourteenth.

Of course, Jeffries was the referee and a good one, too, for he kept the men from clinching too much. They generally broke from a clinch at his command, and his work was easy, except that he had to warn Sullivan several times for holding Gardner around the neck.

TENNESSEEANS FOR TFAT.

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) April 23.—The Republicans of the Eighth District at Camden yesterday nominated P. H. Trasher for Congress. The delegates were instructed for Taft for President and H. Clay Evans for Vice-President.

MATCH AT REDONDO.

Local Team of Southern California Rifles Company to Shoot Team from Fleet.

A team picked from the Redondo company of the Southern California Rifles, and assisted by two or three members of the Los Angeles company, are to shoot a team from the four battleships in the harbor there, this morning at 10 o'clock.

The Redondo team is to meet at 8 o'clock and practice for two hours, when the match will take place and continue into the afternoon. The team is to be captained by Weddington and consists in addition of Norman, J. Simpson, Welt, J. Lechner, Feeder, Hanson, Hamlin, Shaw and Payne, E. D. Neff, A. D. Ostrander and Ade Orrill are to help out from the Los Angeles company. The team will be picked from this morning's practice.

ON THE RANGE.

MATCH CONTEST WITH OFFICERS.

NATIONAL GUARDS' RIFLE TEAM TO SHOOT TODAY.

Naval Team Composed of Men Who Are in National Team With Splendid Records—Company A Reinforced by Best Shots in Other Companies of Seventh Regiment.

A target match between rifle teams selected from the officers of the Atlantic fleet and members of the Seventh Regiment of the National Guard of California will take place today on the State range near Eastlake Park, commencing at 10 o'clock and lasting until about 3 p.m.

The teams consist of 12 men each, with alternates. The full roster of the navy team has not been announced, but it includes five men who shot in the navy team at Camp Perry, O., last year, and vanquished its thirty-six competitors from all parts of the United States and all branches of the United States military service. Their range practice yesterday indicates that they are fully upto form and will give an exhibition of marksmanship rarely seen.

The Guards realize that they have serious work cut out for them, but intend doing their best and letting the record speak for itself. Their team will consist of Capt. Lehr of Co. G of Redlands, and one man and one alternate from that company; Lieut. Higgins of M Company of Riverside, with one man and one alternate; Lieut. Kellenberger of E Company of Anaheim, with one man and one alternate, and the following members of A Company of Los Angeles: Lieut. Bert T. Demmitt, team captain; Lieut. Owen Holden, Sergt. Kimball, Corpl. Dedius, Kellogg, Umsted and Sergt. Miles.

The conditions agreed upon as governing the match are as follows: 200 yards offhand, at United States standard target "A," with 8-inch round bullseye, 600 yards prone at target "B" with 20-inch round bullseye, 800 yards prone at target "C" with 36-inch round bullseye, and 200 yards offhand rapid fire at target "D," a kneeling silouette 42-inches high. Each man will fire a string of ten shots for record at each event, with two sighting shots allowed at the first three positions. This makes a possible 50 points at each position and a possible total of 200 for each man, with a possible team total of 2400. Any government ammunition is allowed. The navy team will probably use Frankfort arsenal ammunition, and the Guards U.M.C. cartridges.

Krag rifles and sights will be used exclusively—1898 model. A detail of eight marines and sailors will assist in marking and scoring.

Lieut. Dougherty, the naval team-captain, will announce his team this morning. Lunch for the teams and visiting officers will be served by the Guards' team. Admiral Thomas will be present if possible.

The two teams will leave the Hotel Hayward for the range at 9 o'clock a.m., in automobiles. All visitors interested in rifle shooting are welcomed. The range can be reached by taking cars to Eastlake Park, thence walking eastward through the park and about one-fourth mile up the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks.

RACING AT EMERYVILLE.

Lisaro Comes up on the Outside Under Miller's Drive and Wins Big Handicap.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—The track at Emeryville was good, today, though the weather was cloudy. In the first race Magrane went away flying and made every post a winner, scoring an easy victory. It was Miller's brilliant ride that won for Baldwins' three-time winner, Lisaro. The brown horse ruled favorite at 7 to 5 and he trailed his field to the stretch, when he came on the outside and in a fast drive won going away from Sugar Maid. The latter had all she could do to get the place. Results:

Six furlongs, selling: Magrane, 113 (Kelly,) 10 to 1, won; Dr. Cook, 110 (Sandy,) 50 to 1, second; Wap, 100 (Buxton,) 11 to 5, third; time, 1:15. Seasick, Metlakatla, Curriculum, Mitre, Marpessa, Galvanic and Marian Louise finished as named.

Four furlongs, purse: C. W. Riley, 111 (Gullet,) 8 to 1, won; King Ferdinand, 112 (Boland,) 7 to 1, second; El Pavo, 107 (W. Miller,) 4 to 1, third; time, 0:49 2-5. Tamma, Middle, Cavellena, Colonel Dick, Hannah, Louise, Altamar, Intonation and R. M. Brown finished as named.

Mile and a sixteenth, selling: Dollie Dollars, 96 (A. Walsh,) even, won; Eduardo, 109 (Fisher,) 8 to 1, second; Legatee, 105 (W. Miller,) 2 to 1, third; time, 1:48 3-5. Lord Filigrane and Kruka finished as named.

Six and a half furlongs, "Carnaredo Handicap": Lisaro, 110 (W. Miller,) 6 to 5, won; Sugar Maid, 111 (Buxton,) 16 to 5, second; The Mist, 104 (Keogh,) 13 to 1, third; time, 1:20 3-5. Sidney F and Grace G finished as named.

Mile, purse: Ocean Shore, 104 (Hildebrand,) 2 to 1, won; Orilene, 101 (Kelly,) 14 to 5, second; Toupee, 103 (Goldstein,) 10 to 1 third; time, 1:42 2-5. Masse, Vox Populi, Sibari, Darelington, Paso Della, Saint Modan and Astoria Belle finished as named.

Mile, selling: Wuerzburger, 111 (Rice,) 13 to 1, won; Wolfville, 102 (Galindo,) 7 to 1, second; Billy Myer, 105 (Kelly,) 4 to 1, third; time, 1:43 1-5. Walter Miller, Decorator, Franciscan, Buto, Banonica and Bonheur finished as named.

Skater Challenges.

Thomas Marsh of 1020 Colton street, challenges any amateur roller skater in Los Angeles for record skating. He especially challenges the manager of the Jefferson-street rink and will skate any distance from one to five miles.

PULLING 'EM DOWN.

SEALS BEATEN SECOND TIME.

Jones Permits Himself to Slip Fatal Cog.

Delmas Scores from Third on Easterly's Steal.

Wheeler's Wonderful Catch Fielding Feature.

Los Angeles, 4; San Francisco, 2.

Guess all that noise about San Francisco, so much class, must have been shot off just to scare the champs. The fans have not seen enough of it yet to take any pennants away from this town.

The best thing about yesterday's game was the way the locals tore into Oscar Jones. If there is one team in the United States that Jones is anxious to roll about in the dirt it is Los Angeles, and it is said this is because he was not given a chance to join the locals. On the other hand, the locals like to trim Oscar because he is one of the real good pitchers of the league and if they succeed in spearing him they will have the others scared.

There was some hard spearing in the second inning and right there the game was won and lost, for the Seals could not top the runs the locals made off Jones when he let himself slip for five minutes in the second. Smith started the inning with an easy infield out and then Wheeler doubled to right. To the joy of the fans, Delmas followed with a double in almost the same place and Wheeler raced to the plate. Then there was more loud noises from the bleachers and grand stand when Easterly hit a scorching single to center that put Delmas on third, and a moment later these two worked a double steal, Delmas reaching the plate and Easterly going to second. Gray followed with a pop-up to Mohler and then Bernard cracked out a double to the center fence, scoring Easterly. Oakes came along with a single, making five hard swats in the inning. In the sixth, Easterly singled to center and scored on Dolly Gray's hard double to the right field fence.

The Seals got their first in the initial inning from Piper's Texas league hit over third base; Curtis's sacrifice, and Melchoir's smack to right field. The second run resulted from Zelder's fielder's choice that forced Melchoir at second, which was followed by Mohler's triple to center field, that swat going through both Bernard and Oakes.

The star fielding feature of the day was the wonderful catch of George Wheeler in left field. In the first of the eighth Jones hit a short Texas leaguer just back of shortstop and as soon as Wheeler saw it coming his way he dashed in from left field at top speed and after sprinting for fifty feet he managed to spear the ball by sticking out his left hand as far as he could and slipping it in between the ball and the ground. It was a spectacular catch and was loudly applauded. Smith made a pretty right-handed stop of a bad bounder from Melchoir's bat in the eighth and McArdle got the glad hand for a very neat catch of a short fly back of third base.

POOR BASEBALL.

OAKLAND FINALLY WINS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oakland and Portland gave a weird exhibition of baseball at Recreation Park this afternoon. It was by far the best "in-and-out" spectacle of what was at times ragged fielding mixed with poor pitching that has been seen since the season opened.

Nobody knew just who was going to win the game until it was over and the score of six to five in favor of Oakland occasioned no surprise. First one team and then the other took the lead, see-sawing through the innings in a fashion suggestive of a sailor trying to walk a straight line down Market street after a trip to the Barbary Coast.

The run-getting started early and lasted until quite late in the session. The Oaks took three in the opening chapter on a scratch hit by Van Haltren, a good single by Eagan, an error by Casey, a sacrifice and a passed ball on Whalen. That looked good enough to win, but after Killian had walked Bassey and Johnson in the second, Whalen's double scored them.

The northerners took a lead in the fourth when Johnson opened with a double and Cooney walked. The pair executed a double steal and were scored by Kinsella's timely hit over short. Three hits in a row by Haley, Slattery and Killian gave Oakland one in the same inning.

In the seventh Johnson scored what looked as if it might be the winning run, but the Commuters were strong at the bat. In the eighth Heitmuller led off with a double and was scored by Eagan. Truck finally coming home from third on a passed ball. The Oakland crew made one last effort in the ninth. Thanks to the work of Killian, Madden, batting for Kinsella, was retired, when Casey and Raftery walked. Wright, who then took the mound for Oakland, walked McCredie, Danzig, of whom there were great hopes, struck out, and Bassey retired the side on a short fly to second base.

PITTSBURGH'S HOME RUN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—A home run by Wilson in the seventh inning gave Pittsburgh a victory, 1 to 0. Both pitchers were strong, Lifield pulling himself out of two holes by striking out the batters when two men were on bases. Score:

Pittsburgh, 1; hits, 6; errors, 2.

St. Louis, 0; hits, 5; errors, 2.

LOSES GRAND GAME.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—Ewing pitched a grand game after the second inning today. His wild pitch in the first scored one run, and two bunched hits, with an out gave the locals another in the second. A gift, a sacrifice and a single saved the visitors from a shut out. Overall pitched himself out of several tight places. Score:

Chicago, 2; hits, 6; errors, 2.

Batteries—Overall and Kling; Ewing and Schiel.

WILHELM IN FORM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—Brooklyn had little trouble in winning from New York here today, having the game well in hand at all stages after the fifth inning. Score:

Brooklyn, 4; hits, 8; errors, 2.

Batteries—Wilhelm and Bergen; Ames, Taylor and Bresnahan.

HAMMER MOREN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, April 23.—Boston batted Moren from the box in four innings today, and Brown, who succeeded him, was unable to check the hitting streak, the home team shutting Philadelphia out. Young kept the hits scattered. Score:

Boston, 9; hits, 13; errors, 1.

Philadelphia, 0; hits, 6; errors, 5.

Batteries—Young and Bowerman; Moren, Brown and Doolin.

NEWTON IS TROUNCED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—The locals knocked Newton off the rubber in one inning today, but Manning held the Phillies to two hits for eight innings, and New York won, 5 to 3. Score:

New York, 5; hits, 10; erors, 1.

Batteries—Newton, Manning and Kleinow; Dygert, Carter and Schreck.

SLUGGERS AT WORK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DETROIT, April 23.—Detroit got to Howell for a triple, double and single in the second and decided the result right there. Killian pitched a fine game with uncertain support. Score:

Detroit, 5; hits, 11; errors, 4.

St. Louis, 2; hits, 10; errors, 2.

Batteries—Killian and Schmidt; Howell and Spencer.

LATTIMORE A PUZZLE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CLEVELAND, April 23.—Cleveland shut out Chicago today, taking two of the three in the series. Lattimore was a puzzle up to the ninth, when a throw to the plate by Birmingham cut off Chicago's only chance to score. White was hit hard. Score:

Cleveland, 5; hits, 13; errors, 1.

Chicago, 0; hits, 6; errors, 1.

Batteries—Lattimore and Clarke; White, Altrock and Shaw.

BURNS PITCHES WELL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Washington scored its first home victory today, defeating Boston 6 to 4. Boston used three pitchers. The pitching of Burns and the base running of Clymer were features. Score:

Washington, 6; hits, 12; errors, 3.

Batteries—Burns, Hughes and Warner; Burchell, Cicotte, Pruitt and Criger.

LIBERAL ARTS WIN.

DEFEAT THE DENTISTS.

Liberal Arts baseball nine defeated the College of Dentistry team in an interdepartment game of U.S.C. at Bovard Field yesterday afternoon, shutting out the teethpullers by the score of 14-0.

Bridwell led in the stick work, securing a three-bagger and three singles, and scoring three runs. Richardson connected for a three-bagger and two tallies. Crossman occupied the box for the home team and played by far his best game this season. Wirsching made the feature catch of the game, jumping high in the air and grabbing a hot liner from Jarvis. It was a wonderful catch, and caused a commotion in the bleacher section.

Meisenheimer for the dentists pitched good ball, striking out eight men, but his support was ragged, twelve errors precluding the possibility of a winner. This was the third game between the two teams, and marks the final game this season for them.

The 'varsity diamond has been leveled during the recent vacation and is in excellent shape for fast work. The fielding of the players has improved correspondingly, only three errors being registered. Score:

ALL IN READINESS.

COMMITTEE CUTS OFF TWO LAPS.

COURSE OF BRIARCLIFFE RACE MUCH SHORTENED.

Cars Will Have to Do Splendid Running to Finish Within the Time Limit—Slower Speed Through Villages Made Necessary—Route Is in Fair Condition.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All is in readiness for tomorrow's race for the Briarcliffe trophy. The twenty-two contestants will be sent away at one-minute intervals, starting at 4:45 o'clock a.m. The Race Committee reduced the length of the race from ten to eight laps, or from 324 to 259.2 miles.

Even with this substantial reduction in distance, the cars will have to do splendid running over the rough corkscrew course to finish in eight hours, fifteen minutes, the time limit for the use of the road. With a ten-minute control over the two-mile stretch through the village of Mount Kisco, a car will have to average a lap in a bit under sixty minutes gross, or thirty-six miles an hour, to finish within the time limit.

The committee met shortly after noon today at Briarcliffe Lodge and later gave the final instructions to the contestants.

The warm sun has done much to dry the course and to reduce the perils of the route by lessening the chance of skidding on the 720 turns to be negotiated, and of breakdowns in the soft going on the bad stretches. The contest, however, will be full of dangers and there will be general relief if it is completed without serious accidents.

There were few trophy candidates on the course during today's daybreak practice, most of the drivers preferring to take no chances of an eleventh-hour accident, or making use of the time to put the finishing touches to the preparation of the cars at the training camps.

Codrino, the driver of the Fiat cyclone, is the favorite in the betting, odds running from 5 to 1 and 3 to 1 having been accepted against him. In the two driving three cars in the race and of Strang having won the Savannah cup, the Isotta outfit is favored by most calculators of chances for the winning make.

Boinin, the Renault pilot, has many admirers among those who believe that mere speed and dare-devilry will not suffice to win.

Among the individual drivers of American cars, Roberts, Thomas, Lytle, Apperson and Vaughan, Stearns rank as nearly even favorites, with Michener, Lozier and Hilliard, Hol-Tan-Shawmut, rated as being also dangerous in the domestic division.

Gen. Vigy, commandant of the second brigade of Algerian Infantry, with a column of 4500 men, is making a demonstration in the Ainchair region with the purpose of suppressing the anti-French fanaticism which exists among the Berber and Eastern Moorish tribesmen.

I heard a man tell a story the other day about a man who died and went to heaven. St. Peter said, "I see you were a bank cashier during the greater part of your life?" "Yes, I was cashier and president of a country bank." "How much did you steal?" "Nothing." "How much money was placed in your care during that time?" "Millions." "How much were you paid a year?" "About twelve hundred dollars." "Here, take my place."

Lots of Department Stores pay their salespeople $3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00, $6.00 and $7.50 a week and expect them to dress well, buy their lunch, pay 10 cents a day car fare and be honest. I believe those employers are more responsible for crime than any old race track or saloon ever was.

I can't for the life of me, see what people want to go to stores of that kind to trade for and buy a lot of seconds and odds and ends, when they can buy new, fresh, up-to-date goods at a Silverwood Store just as cheap. Take for instance, our dollar shirts; they are made from good madras by one of Troy's best makers, hand laundered, real pearl buttons, attached or detached cuffs, made full and long, and are worth 50c more than those you see in those sale places marked 98c. No house on earth gives better values than we do.

ORDLY MANSION IS ROYALTY'S FAVORITE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

Dalkeith Palace.

[illegible], April 11.—Dalkeith Palace, in which the Duke and [illegible] of Buccleuch recently entertained the Prince and Princess of Wales, is one of the stateliest homes in Scotland. It is situated near the town of Dalkeith, some six miles of Edinburgh. It is a magnificent as is Dalkeith Palace it is only one of several sumptuous seats owned by the lucky Duke whose possessions in half a dozen countries extend over half a million acres. The family is descended from Sir Walter Scott, not, of course, from him of Waverley fame, but a powerful chieftain who won great renown as a military commander under the Prince of Orange, and who was created Baron Scott of Buccleuch in 1606. His son was made Earl of Buccleuch and in due times the peerage descended to his granddaughter Anne, who married the ill-fated Duke of Monmouth, the pair being made the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch. When the Duke was executed all his honors were forfeited under attainder, but they were restored to the Duchess's grandson. This grandson's grandson, the third Duke, also became fifth Duke of Queensberry by special remainder.

The present Duke has about as imposing an array of titles as the peerage can boast. It includes two dukedoms, one marquisate, four earldoms, one viscounty and four baronies. He is 76 years old, and has taken little part in public life for many years. Before he succeeded to the estates he had a seat in the House of Commons, and it was an old farmer, whose vote he was soliciting, who gave him an answer which His Grace has not yet forgotten. The farmer did not know the Duke, who was then Lord Dalkeith. "But you know the Duke of Buccleuch, his father?" said a captain who accompanied the candidate. "Yes, I know the Duke—he's a gran' man," said the farmer. "Then you'll surely vote for his son," the captain pleaded. But the farmer was still doubtful. "I'm no sure about that," he replied; "it's no every coo that has a cauff like herself."

The park, which comprises a thousand acres, is famous for its beautiful groves and avenues of huge old trees. A truly Royal entrance to the Palace is "The King's Approach" over a mile in length, bounded on either side by a broad margin of turf.

Magnificent as is Dalkeith Palace it is only one of several sumptuous seats owned by the lucky Duke whose possessions in half a dozen countries extend over half a million acres. The family is descended from Sir Walter Scott, not, of course, from him of Waverley fame, but a powerful chieftain who won great renown as a military commander under the Prince of Orange, and who was created Baron Scott of Buccleuch in 1606. His son was made Earl of Buccleuch and in due times the peerage descended to his granddaughter Anne, who married the ill-fated Duke of Monmouth, the pair being made the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch. When the Duke was executed all his honors were forfeited under attainder, but they were restored to the Duchess's grandson. This grandson's grandson, the third Duke, also became fifth Duke of Queensberry by special remainder.

The present Duke has about as imposing an array of titles as the peerage can boast. It includes two dukedoms, one marquisate, four earldoms, one viscounty and four baronies. He is 76 years old, and has taken little part in public life for many years. Before he succeeded to the estates he had a seat in the House of Commons, and it was an old farmer, whose vote he was soliciting, who gave him an answer which His Grace has not yet forgotten. The farmer did not know the Duke, who was then Lord Dalkeith. "But you know the Duke of Buccleuch, his father?" said a captain who accompanied the candidate. "Yes, I know the Duke—he's a gran' man," said the farmer. "Then you'll surely vote for his son," the captain pleaded. But the farmer was still doubtful. "I'm no sure about that," he replied; "it's no every coo that has a cauff like herself."

Methodist Laymen's Conference, Chattanooga, Tenn., Concludes With Solemn Service Re- Eleven Converts Promise Work in Foreign Fields.

[SPECIAL WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn.) April 23.—[Chattanooga Dispatch.] The great laymen's conference of the Southern Methodist Church was brought to a close tonight with one of the most extraordinary services ever held here.

In the presence of an audience numbering over, young men and women followed each other in volunteering services in foreign fields. Not one had spoken a total of eleven had volunteered. Among the number were F. K. Gamble [illegible], J. M. Cuthbrith of Wilmington, N. C. Misses Hettie Stewart [illegible]. Kate Shannon of [illegible] and Miss Jenkins of Frankfort, N. C.

Ten men were students of the [illegible] University, and the young men were students of the training school at Nashville.

Responses to the short talks of the [illegible] addresses were also made by the mayor of Kansas City and [illegible] of New York.

The delegates to the conference for their homes on the [illegible] tonight. A large number, however, have arranged to remain over [illegible] through tomorrow, visiting the battlefields of Missionary Ridge and Lookout Mountain. Tomorrow night the delegates who remain over will be the guests of John [illegible] at a banquet given at the [illegible].

[illegible] Vanderbilt, Sr., Sails [illegible], Hoping to Govern Son and Stop Divorce.

[SPECIAL WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unhappy over the failure [illegible] so far to effect reconciliation between her son, Alfred Gwynee Vanderbilt, and his wife, Mrs. Cornelius, Sr., sailed for Europe today. The Katherin Augusta Vicountess will stay abroad for years, [illegible] most.

[illegible] Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt conferred over [illegible] mother-in-law conferred over the last interview taking place when the mother [illegible] the wife to withdraw her [illegible] so that the stigma might [illegible] from the Vanderbilt name. [illegible] led to a promise that [illegible] would see her son in [illegible] and extract a promise as to his [illegible]. If she is successful, [illegible] proceedings may be stayed.

...NT CARVED CLIFFS.

[illegible] Thought to Be Hundreds Of Years Old in the Arkansas Mountains.

[illegible] Herald:] For years there [illegible] legend current in the Boston [illegible] and throughout the [illegible] section of Arkansas of [illegible] The legend had its origin [illegible] tradition. Many have [illegible] but few can find the cliffs north of [illegible] There are men who for [illegible] have devoted their lives [illegible] to the study of that region, where are found the most rugged mountain formations in the State.

Among the firm believers in the hidden treasures and weird history secrets of the Boston Mountains is a noted mountain character, who has devoted the last twenty years of his life to prospecting and exploration—A. B. Sloane, whose home is eighteen miles north of Mulberry, and who is known in all that section as "the cave man."

Mr. Sloane is at present in Fort Smith with a remarkable collection of ores, stalacites, stalagmites and other cave and rock formations. He also has some samples of cari-colored marble, of which he declares there are great ledges in the cañons of the Boston Mountains, thirty miles north of Mulberry.

Another man who has often joined him in these exploration trips is Dr. Hill of Mulberry. Dr. Hill is also an enthusiast on the subject of the cave and other remarkable formations in that vicinity. One of the peculiarities of the region is described by them as a cliff a hundred yards long and forty feet high, with perpendicular face, which bears evidence of the handiwork of men of two or more centuries ago.

Mr. Sloane tells of discoveries made during two years of work in uncovering the primitive formations. He and Dr. Hill found great faces of the formation, which had been chiseled into figures of animals, birds, etc. In other portions they found what appeared to be Masonic symbols, and keys, coffins and other figures found carved in the stone. Along the base of the cliff, in digging in the artificial formation made of stone and cement ages ago, they found counterparts of the symbols cut in the walls above. In going deeper at one point, they broke through into a cave which had evidently been sealed up ages ago.

A serious fire, which, for a time, threatened to wipe out all of the property at Cape May Point, near Cape May, N. J., destroyed about a dozen buildings yesterday, causing a loss that is estimated at more than $100,000.

Classified Liners.

Times Classified Rates: The rate for inserting "Want" ads in The Daily Times is 1c per word for each insertion; in the Sunday issue 1½c per word, each insertion; minimum charge 25c; except under following classifications the rate for which is 10c per line, minimum charge 50 cents: "Society Meetings," "Personals," "Special Notices," and "Baths and Massage."

"Liner" (classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11:30 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10:30 o'clock Saturday nights. Rates 1¼ cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 77,000 copies, and more "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night and secure prompt and careful attention.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

THE TIMES will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times in payment for "Liners," as no mistakes can be rectified without them.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

For good city property and land owners: Have you ever up-to-date, well-established, money-making business? If not, why not? Here's a chance to get one. Our average business of $1000 cash every day; over 3 years' lease on property; doing $300; up-to-date equipments, etc.

Cash grocery; receipts run $ a day; 2 over the counter; have good trade; 2 rooms; rent $25; lease; fine location; fixtures and stock; will invoice; reason for selling, have something else in view. This is a genuine. Talk to my agents, LEARY & SON.

We have a fine hotel in a prosperous city; 50 rooms; fully furnished; fully occupied; selling only because owner has other interests; price only $15,000, including fixtures; will bear investigation; only reason for selling. It will stand it. LEARY & SON.

$2500—Fine milk route; well established; cash in hand handles it; 3 horses, wagons, etc.; mostly Jersey; fine home and all; cows and bottles and everything go with it; don't delay; owner has other business; selling; cheap rent; big profit.

Restaurant and delicatessen in a fine city that caters to a particularly select trade; owner to very profitable; long lease, low rent; closing living-rooms; don't want to be disturbed, and I believe you can find I am in a position and will be interested, and I believe you that I am in possession of such an investment.

$350 for an up-to-date meat market, well-located grocery store; well established with 4 years' lease; no agents; no solicitors or collectors; sell on account of the money; this includes large safe, Toledo computing scales, meat block, etc.; in fact, everything necessary for a first-class market.

C. PECKHAM, Mgr., 6464 Union Trust Bldg., Fourth and Spring sts. Home Main 8221, F8202.

Are you looking for a bakery? It is for sale in the best location in the city; about $50 per week; price only $400, including small stock of groceries.

Restaurant man, here is one of the best established restaurants in the city; average cash business $45 a day; owner has had it for several years and has made money; has cheap rent, with number of 5 years yet to run; willing to sell on reasonable terms. See my agents, LEARY & SON.

Hardware, crockery and variety store in city of 5000 inhabitants; it's a money-maker; is now doing over $60; old and well-established business; owner wants to go into other business; will sacrifice; inventory; price $3000; very low rent.

$2000 will put you into a confectionery store and soda fountain; best location; population, 10,000; only store established for years; price $2000. SEE H. A. BUY.

THRONG AT VENICE.

TO SAME SHORE SWARM AGAIN.

PEOPLE, PEOPLE EVERYWHERE ABOUT VENICE.

Beach Cities of the Santa Monica Bay Region Are Crowded All Day and Launches Carry Many People to the Ships—Preparations for Elaborate Entertainment Today.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENICE, April 23.—People, people everywhere, and sights enough to tire the eyes of the multitude. The beach was again lined with people today. Those who came yesterday and were disappointed in not being able to visit the battleships evidently came again today, and brought their friends with them. The cities of the beach were crowded the whole day long, and, as the sea was quite calm, the passenger launches were busy making trips to and from the ships. Perhaps a greater number of people were carried than on any previous day, as the rush started in early in the day and continued without interruption until the hour for the reception of visitors had passed.

The entertainments provided for this evening included the ball at the Marine-street dancing pavilion, given in honor of the warrant officers. That proved a pleasing affair. It was so well attended that there were scant accommodations for the crowd. The Elks of the fleet were entertained tonight at the clubhouse on Ocean avenue, Santa Monica. Here a pleasant evening was passed. There were songs, music and informal speechmaking, and a good time in general.

Tomorrow is to be Santa Monica Bay Day of the fleet week, and by proclamations of the chief executives of Santa Monica and Ocean Park it will be a legal holiday. Practically all of the business houses will close during the entire day. At 10 o'clock in the morning the officers of the squadron will be taken for a gondola ride over the canals. At 11 o'clock there will be athletic sports, races and contests for prizes. These events will be conducted in Midway Plaisance. The contestants will all be men from the fleet. These sports will be followed by swimming and diving sports and contests in the lake at the head of Windward avenue. The attraction for 2 o'clock in the afternoon will be a baseball game between a nine from one of the battleships and a Los Angeles amateur team. The ships will be open for the reception of visitors from 11 o'clock until 3 in the afternoon. From 2 to 4 o'clock the women of the Santa Monica Bay Reception Committee will keep open house at the California Military Academy for the officers and men of the squadron. On this occasion punch will be served. At 3 o'clock there will be a balloon ascension and parachute jump. During the afternoon one of the battleship bands will give a concert on the plaza, and in the evening there will be a ball at the Windward-avenue dancing pavilion in honor of the sailors and marines. There will be an illumination of the fleet of battleships in the evening, when the searchlights will play along the shore. At the same time there will be a display of fireworks from the Center-street pier.

GUESTS OF KNIGHTS.
NAVAL MEN AT ORPHEUM.

Despite the big prize fight in the city, the dance for the sailors at Long Beach and several other entertainments, the Orpheum was crowded with naval men last night. Nearly 1500 enjoyed the hospitality of Los Angeles Council, Knights of Columbus, and they formed one of the most appreciative audiences the actors have faced for many a day. Each act was cheered without stint or discrimination. Encores were demanded of every one and even the moving pictures came in for applause.

The first number, "The Captain and the Sailor," appealed to the "tars." Rosaire & Doreto had to fall and tumble several times extra in order to appease the appetites of the boys. Daisy Harcourt and Fred Sosman convulsed their hearers with their songs. Master Gabriel and his company, presenting the farce comedy, "Auntie's Visit," were greeted with uproarious cheers. Gabriel and his dog, the team which made "Buster Brown" the big hit of several seasons, were forced to bow time after time.

The fantasia of the orchestra on American airs brought the entire house to its feet, when the turn came for the "Star Spangled Banner." Ida O'Day, the musical maid; Brown and Nevaro, in their singing and dancing act; Hoey and Lea, in comic songs, all made good impressions. The Macarte Sisters were cheered to the echo and the house again arose when the spot light threw the "Starry Banner" upon the silken gown of one of the girls.

The boxes were occupied by officers, including Lieutenant-Commander Durell, Lieuts. Nelson, Weaver, Corning, Freeman and Dallard, Capt. Parker of the marine corps, Ensigns Liggett, McDowell, Paymaster Tom Williamson, Assistant Paymaster Barman, Midshipmen Bryan, Cummings and Humphreys.

Mrs. and Miss Amwig, wife and daughter respectively of Col. Amwig of Gov. Gillett's staff, occupied a box with several officers. A number of the Catholic clergy, members of the Knights of Columbus, were also present, as were visiting knights from councils outside of Los Angeles.

This evening officers of the fleet will be entertained with a ball at the clubhouse, Figueroa and Twenty-second streets. The various rooms are bowers of flowers.

SEES FINISH OF RACING.

Charles T. Henshell Will Dispose of His Turf Interests and Invest in Mining Property.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles T. Henshell, for years well known here as a horse owner, foresees the ultimate finish of racing, and is on his way East to dispose of his remaining turf interests.

"I see the handwriting on the wall, and racing does not look good to me now," he says.

Henshell is the owner of the mare Ginette, a great French-bred racer, which won many purses.

Henshell is accompanied by Phocion Howard, proprietor of the Graphic, a New York sporting and theatrical weekly.

Henshell is investing in Nevada gold mining property and will shortly embark as a mining promoter. He has purchased a mine adjoining the Little Florence. He is much impressed with the Goldfield outlook, and as soon as he can get rid of his horses will devote his entire time to his Goldfield property.

WEIGHTS NAMED.

Carey, 118; Dolly Spanker, 111; Gretna Green, 110; Cairngorm, 109; Martin Doyle, 108; Rye, Wexford, 106; Rifleman, Restigouche, Tilling, Welbourne, 104; Cressina, Oxford, Don Enrique, 102; Rialto, 100; Taylor, Comedienne, 99; Johnnie Blake, Lad of Langdon, Faust, Oraculum, Spooner, 98; Light Wool, 98; Magazine, 96; Bosom, 95; Duke of Bridgewater, Zienap, 95; Hanbridge, 94; Big Chief, Fordello, 93; Tally, 92; The Shaughram, 89; Charlos G. Gates, 88; Campaigner, 87; Winning Star, 85.

LOW VITALITY
A Dangerous Attendant Symptom of Anaemia.

Many Serious Disorders May Result from Impoverished Blood, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Prevent and Cure Them.

Besides the thinning of the blood in anaemia there is a low vitality which is a matter for serious consideration because it gives opportunity for any latent trouble to develop. Thus, anaemic (bloodless) people often have reason to fear consumption, and the blood failing to give proper nourishment to the nerves, debility, neuralgia and even some form of paralysis may result.

In no disease is delay or neglect more dangerous than in anaemia, or poverty of the blood. It is common in young girls and in persons who are overworked or confined within doors and makes its approach in so stealthy a manner that it is often well-developed before its presence is recognized.

But taken in time the disease is readily curable, the specific being a tonic medicine which increases the number of red blood corpuscles, thus enabling the blood to carry the life-giving oxygen to all the tissues of the body. Such a tonic is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have had unbounded success in curing this stubborn disease because of wonderful property. The cure of anaemia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is as certain as anything in medical science.

Mrs. Julia Richmond, who lives at 1321 Maumee avenue, Fort Wayne, Ind., was cured by this treatment. She says:

"When I was eighteen years old I had an attack of the grip and it left me a physical wreck. I suffered for months and failed to get any help. I was so weak and short of breath that when I went upstairs I would have to sit down at every other step and when I got upstairs I would have to lie down. Even when doing the lightest housework I would have to stop and lie down and rest. I had no color at all and my lips were blue. I had headaches most all of the time and black specks would float before my eyes. I had dizzy spells, when I would lie down, because I was afraid I would fall and hurt myself. I had palpitation of the heart and was always drowsy. I would no more than sit down before I would fall asleep. I had a bad cough and everybody thought I was going into consumption. I didn't dare to leave the house for fear something would happen to me. I was nervous and had no ambition.

"I was under the care of a doctor but didn't get any better and he gave me no encouragement. I finally gave him up and then for a time tried every medicine that was recommended to me, but none of them did me a bit of good. An aunt told us about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and my father bought a box of them. I would not take them at first, but after he had coaxed me a while, I said I would try them, and if they failed I would never try another medicine. So I started to take them and after a while I could see a little change; my lips, ears and the tips of my fingers began to have some color. I took them steadily then until cured. I cannot tell how grateful I am for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me for I thought I should never get well again."

A helpful booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," giving more information about anaemia, will be sent free upon request. If you are suffering from impoverished blood you cannot afford to wait another day before giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a thorough trial. They are for sale by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co. Schenectady, N. Y.

"Of course you will return soon," Charlie said. "No doubt your father will be induced to enter the new Pashitch Cabinet."

The girl shook her head dubiously.

"I know the King has several times asked him to return to Servia, but for some mysterious reason he has always declined."

"But he is the most popular man in the country, and he cannot remain away much longer. It is his duty to return and assist in the government."

"Yes. But my mother died in Belgrade, you know, and I think that may be the reason he does not care to return," replied the girl. "Why are you going there?" she asked.

"On a mission for Statham—regarding a mining concession," he answered. "You know we have a lot of interests out there. Perhaps I shall be away only a week or two—perhaps six months."

"Six months!" she cried in a blank voice. "It is such a long, long time to look forward to."

"I have no desire to leave you, my own darling," he declared, looking straight into her beautiful face. "But the mission is confidential, and for that reason I have received orders to go."

"Your train leaves at nine," she said, "and it is already nearly seven—only two hours! And those two remaining hours I cannot spend with you, for I must be in to dinner at seven. I must leave you in a moment," she added, and the faint flush in her face died away.

Her voice ceased. He looked down musing, without replying. He was impressed by her utter loneliness—impressed, too, without knowing it by the time and place. The twilight of the short evening was gathering fast. A cold damp feeling was mingled with the silence of the dull, drab London street. It struck him that it felt like a grave.

A slight nervous trembling came over his well-beloved, and a weary little sigh escaped her lips.

That sigh of hers recalled him to a sense of her distress at his departure, and the face that met her troubled eyes was, in an instant, as full as ever of resolute hopefulness.

"What matters, my own, if I am away?" he asked with a smile. "We love each other, and that is all-sufficient."

All the pity of his strong, tender nature went forth to the lovely girl whom he loved with such strong, passionate devotion.

"What matter, indeed!" she cried, hoarsely, tears springing to her eyes. "Is it no matter that I see you, Charlie? Ah! you do not know how I count the hours when we shall meet again—how—how——" And unable to further restrain her emotion, she burst into tears.

He was silent. What, indeed, could he say?

Reflections, considerations, possibilities crowded in upon his mind, already disturbed and perplexed. The sweetness of the hours passed in her society had increased insensibly ever since that well-remembered afternoon in Aix; the tones of her voice, the notes of those melodious old Servian songs she so often sang, her slightest action held a charm for him such as his earnest nature had never experienced before.

And they must part.

Within himself he doubted whether they would ever meet again. He had secret fears—fears of something that was in progress—something that might entirely change his life—something he held secret from her.

But he put the thought away. It was a horrible reflection—a qualm of conscience. What would she think of him if she actually knew the truth?

He bit his lip, and in resolution again took her white-gloved hand.

"No, darling," he said, softly, in an earnest effort to cheer her, "I will return very soon. Be brave, and remember that my every thought is of you always—of you, my love."

"I know," she sobbed. "I know, Charlie, but—but I cannot really help it. Forgive me."

"Forgive you! Of course I do, sweetheart; only do not cry, or they will certainly suspect something when you sit down to dinner."

His argument decided her, and she slowly dried her tears, saying:

"I only wish I could go to Charing Cross to see you off. But an hour ago I telephoned to your sister Marion to come and dine with us, and go with me to a concert at Queen's Hall."

"And she accepted?" he asked, quickly, almost breathlessly.

"Yes."

Rolfe gave a sigh of relief. At any rate neither his sister nor his well-beloved would be at Charing Cross at 9 that evening.

"I must try and bring her to the station, if possible. Does she know you are going?" asked the girl.

"Oh, yes. But I particularly asked her not to pain me of."

"In order that I might come alone. Oh! how very good of you, Charlie!"

"No. Forgive me for saying so, but like a good many men who travel a lot I never like being seen off—not even by you, yourself, my darling!"

"Very well," she sighed, looking up into his serious eyes. "I must, I suppose, act as you wish. May God protect you, my dearest, and bring you back again in safety to me."

Then as he whispered into her ear words of courage and ardent affection, with linked arms they retraced their steps back to Earl's Court road, where, with lingering reluctance, he took affectionate leave of her.

Having watched her turn the corner, he went slowly back toward Earl's Court Station, and as he did so, beneath his breath he murmured—

"Ah! if she knew—if she knew! But she must never know—she shall never know—never as long as I have breath. I love her—love her better than my life—and she is mine. Yet—yet how can I, after—after——"

And he sighed deeply without concluding the sentence, while his face went ashen pale at the thought which again crossed his mind—a thought, secret and terrible.

STRAUSS AS CONDUCTOR.

Much Discussed Opera "Salome" Will Be Produced in New York, With Mary Garden in Title Role.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—A special cable dispatch to The Times from Berlin states that Oscar Hammerstein has decided to produce Richard Strauss's much-discussed opera, "Salome," at the Manhattan Operahouse, in New York, next season.

Miss Mary Garden will sing the title role and Strauss himself with conduct the opera.

Mr. Hammerstein states that he has completed all arrangements for the production of the opera, and has ordered the scenery and costumes for the production in Vienna.

Miss Garden, it is said, will not only sing the role, but will also perform the dance of the Seven Veils, being the first singer to attempt this portion of the programme.

"Salome" was produced at the Metropolitan Operahouse season before last, but was closed after the first performance because of the storm of protest which it created among the box holders and stockholders of the company.

CLARK BUYS COAL LAND.

Montana Millionaire Closes Deal for Twelve Thousand Acres Near Trinidad, Colo.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TRINIDAD (Colo.) April 23.—Former United States Senator William A. Clark of Montana left here for Jerome, Ariz., today, after returning from a trip of inspection to the coal properties in this vicinity, on which he has held an option for two years.

"I have closed a deal with Charles Francis Adams of Boston for 12,000 acres of coal land twenty miles west of Trinidad," said Mr. Clark today. "I don't care to name the consideration, but it was around the million-dollar mark."

TAFT ON THE ISSUES.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

As one reads the speeches William Howard Taft is delivering one cannot fail to be impressed with the moderation of his utterances and his serious way of looking at the dangers and problems now before the American people. At no time in our history have we been face to face with such important problems. In all these matters, with Taft it is not a question of evanescent fervid oratory, but practical consideration. Wise statesmanlike views that impress one in the hearing with an impression that remains. With Taft politics is not fireworks but serious business. It has been so ever since he was first called to the national service by William McKinley, about nine years ago.

With a desire to do only the thing that is right and to do it promptly, Secretary Taft has accepted the many public duties which he has performed with ability and energy, and with that willingness to self-sacrifice which is so commendable in public men.

ON THE PHILIPPINES.

When speaking on the Philippine question Mr. Taft does not attempt to gloss over any of the difficulties we are meeting in educating and leading those peoples into appreciation of the good that will accrue from that measure of self-government towards which they are being led step by step. The recent organization and meeting of the Philippine Assembly is a long step forward in that direction. Towards that end has been and is all Taft's arduous work in and for the Philippines. He realizes, as do all right-thinking, patriotic Americans, that beyond and above our duty to the Filipinos, a duty more than incumbent on us as we occupied the islands in the first instance of our own volition, is the fact that American interests in the Orient are so large and increasing that we must retain the valuable strategical position which is now ours by the possession of the Philippines.

ON BUSINESS COMBINATIONS.

Speaking on the subject of business combinations, Taft makes the point, usually overlooked, that combination in itself is not necessarily wrong. That is why, at Louisville, Ky., recently, he urged a modification of the present anti-trust law, permitting combinations when such are just and not oppressive of the people. Reasonable combinations are necessary to enable the doing of business in larger volumes under the one and smaller total expense. Profits depend as largely, if not more so, in the keeping down of executive expenses as in the margins which can be added to prime cost prices, reduced as those margins are in these days of international competition. Modern industrial conditions make combinations of capital economically necessary. The protection to the people under such combinations, says Taft, is publicity. His own words are, as they appear in a recent interview for publication with Broughton Brandenburg: "It is perfectly conceivable that in the interest of economy of production a great number of plants may be legitimately assembled under the ownership of one corporation. In such a case it is either not a trust, if the term involves unlawfulness, or it is a lawful trust if a trust merely means a company which has assembled a large part of the manufacturing plant of any product. The duty of interference devolves upon the government only when such a combination has not only lowered the cost to itself, but by being able to control the market and maintain or raise the old prices, diverts to itself the benefit and leaves the public helpless in the hands of a monopoly."

ON IMPROVEMENTS OF DEEP WATERWAYS.

Regarding the improvement of deep waterways, Taft said, in the same interview: "I am strongly in favor of a general plan to improve our deep waterways, first because of the commercial benefit certain be derived, and, second, to obtain greater competition for the railways, so that there shall be less need for constant regulation of rate abuses."

ON NATIONAL DEFENSE.

On the subject of outlay for national defense, Taft says: "To my mind preparations for national defense are essential. We have enlarged our navy until it is respectable, though still not strong enough, and we must greatly broaden our plans for our army, and allow no detail of the coast defenses of our home soil or of our insular possessions to be neglected in any way."

ON PROTECTION AND REVISION.

"By a revision of the tariff, it aimed directly at the trusts, no doubt the trusts could be destroyed," said Taft, "but the fabric of prosperity in this country is built on the principle of a protective tariff, and the whole would come crashingly down. The revision proposed is to be by the Republican party, and is not to be a departure from the protective principle, but in conformity with it."

ON GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS.

"I am no more now than I was three years ago in favor of government ownership of railroads, for these reasons," said Taft: "First, because the existing government railroads are not managed with either the efficiency or economy of privately managed roads, and the rates charged are not as low, and, therefore, not as beneficial to the public; second, because it would involve an expenditure of certainly twelve billion dollars to acquire the interstate railroads, creating a national debt of that enormous amount; third, it would place in the hands of a reckless Executive a power of control over business and politics that the imagination can hardly conceive, and would expose our popular institutions to danger."

ON CUBA.

Secretary Taft's policy toward Cuba is well known. It is to preserve the independence of the island in its relations with the United States and all other countries; at the same time doing all that may be necessary for us to do in assisting the Cubans to preserve themselves as against themselves, and to do it in such a way as to retain their friendship, realising, as we must, that a friendly Cuba will be a profitable Cuba. Further, our ownership of Porto Rico, with Cuba friendly, gives us a very strong position in the Caribbean Sea and the waters south of us.

ON AMERICAN PANAMA CANAL.

As to the American Panama Canal, now under construction by the department of which he is the able head, Secretary Taft has just one policy, namely, to get it finished as quickly as possible with as little expense as possible.

Taft's public record of strenuous work done during the past nine strenuous years speaks for itself; his public utterances of the past few months speak for themselves as to his fitness for the Preidency; the Republican party will speak for itself by nominating him at Chicago next June; and the American people will speak for themselves by electing him next November.

COFFEE AS A WEDDING GIFT.

Peculiar Custom in the Coffee Growing Countries, but Is Unknown Elsewhere.

"We have a custom in the coffee-raising countries," said Señor Joaquin Nabuco, the Brazilian Ambassador to the United States, "which is unknown in other parts of the world. When a child is born in the coffee country, a sack of the best grain is set aside as part of the inheritance to be received on attaining its majority. Usually the sack is the gift from some close friend or relative, and it is guarded as sacredly as if it were a gift of gold or bonds. No stress would induce a Brazilian parent to use coffee which was made the birth gift of a child. As a rule it is sealed with the private seal of the owner and bears a card giving all particulars about the variety of grain, its age on being sacked, and the birth of the child to whom it is given, and other details, which are very interesting when the gift is due.

"Generally the coffee is opened for the first time when the child marries. The coffee for the reception or marriage feast is made from the legacy, and, according to precedent, this must be the first time the sack is opened. After the coffee is made for the wedding feast the sack is carefully closed and sent to the new home of the young couple, and should keep them in this staple for a year at least. When both bride and bridegroom have the birth gift of coffee they have started life under very hopeful conditions, so far as one necessary is concerned. Few people know that the older the unparched grain of coffee is the better the flavor. Like wine, it grows with age, and that which is over twenty years mellowing under proper conditions will bring from $1.50 to $3 a pound from connoisseurs. The giving of pounds of green coffee is a common practice in the coffee belt. Friends exchange these gifts and compare results. When one cannot afford to give a sack of coffee, it frequently is the case that ten pounds of the best green grain is packed in a fancy case and bestowed on a newly-born child, with directions that it must not be opened until the wedding day."—[New York Press.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

With cool weather the demand for fruit and vegetables declined and business was only fair yesterday. In the early part of the day there was some demoralization among the dealers who still held large stocks and prices were forced a cent lower; on the Exchange the sales of case-count were sold. Receipts were below the average, totaling 240 cases.

Butter arrivals were 20,000 pounds. Offerings of creamery extra showed a tendency to weakness. Cooking butter was put up in large quantities, while fair proportionate sales. Cheese are moving slowly.

Cheese receipts were 2818 pounds. Long-horns and twins were offered over keys best sold, but there was fair demand for limburger.

Oregon potatoes, spot stock, were wanted, and prices were firmer. No total receipts were reported. Sweet potatoes were more plentiful and sold at 2 cents for the lower grades, while extra stock bought 4 cents a pound.

Nine sacks of onions, all silverskins, were reported. A few Oregon reds arrived and were offered at $2.75 a hundred. The only shipments from Coachella to the east and north are daily increasing the average number of carloads of fruit being forwarded.

Pink beans were the only offerings in that line. There were no reported receipts. Fifty sacks of sweet potatoes came in. The demand for popcorn was good and eastern rice corn sells just now at $4.50.

A heavy reduction in the price of dried apricots took place yesterday, owing to the very favorable reports from the north on the new crop. The reduction amounted to 1½ cents a pound. Earlier in the season it was from 25 and 30 cents. Other dried fruits are also weaker and will undoubtedly be cheaper.

Arkansas Blacks are the best apples on the local market at present. They bring $4.50 a box and come from Oregon. Other varieties are Newtowns, Spitzenbergs and Yellow Newtowns. Limes from Mexico were plentiful and sold at 30 cents a hundred. Loquats brought an average of 2 cents a pound, were in superabundance and of good quality.

Artichokes were exceptionally well represented among the vegetables. They brought 5 cents a dozen. There were some heavy sales of cabbage and green beans and peas were in demand. Cucumbers and tomatoes were in adequate supply.

WHEAT STRONG IN CHICAGO.

SLIGHT DROP IN PRICES DURING THE SESSION.

Opening Is Firm and the Market Closes Strong, With Quotations at the Top—Improved Demand from Exporters Is an Aid to the Bull Side.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—Wheat opened strong, with the May delivery showing a gain of ½ compared with last night's close. The July and September options were a trifle higher at the start in sympathy with May, but later weakened somewhat because of the favorable outlook for the new crop. An improved demand from exporters helped to stimulate the demand late in the day, and the market closed strong, with prices at the top. May wheat opened ½c to 1c higher, at 98¾ to 97¾, advanced to 99c, and closed at 99@99¼. July opened ½c to 1c higher, at 87¾@88, sold off to 87¼, and then advanced to 90¾, where it closed.

Corn opened dull, but the market later became active and prices advanced nearly ½ from the low point. The market closed strong at the highest point of the day. May closed with a sneak sniffer at 66¾, sold off to 65¾@66, and then advanced to 67¼. The close was at 67¼. July closed at 67¼.

Trade in oats was dull. May opened ½c higher at 54¾, and closed at 54¾. July closed at 48¾.

Provisions were firm the greater part of the day. At the close July pork was up 20c; lard was 10c and ribs 15c higher.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Wheat—Spot, strong. Options closed 1¢@1½¢ higher. May closed at 1.01.36; July, 97¾; September, 89¾. Hops and petroleum, steady; hides, dull; wool, firm; cotton, quiet. Quotations were as follows: Flour was firm; No. 3 spring wheat, 96@1.06; No. 2 red, 99¾@99¾; No. 1 corn, 67¾; No. 2, 67¾@68; No. 2 oats, 52¾; No. 3 white, 52@52½; No. 2 white, 54@54½; No. 2 rye, 82@82½; No. 1 northwestern Manitoba, 1.20; prime timothy seed, 4.25; short ribs, sides (loose,) 7.40@7.60; short clear sides, (boxed,) 8.00@8.12½; lard, per 100 lbs., 8.07½; short clear sides, (boxed,) 7.75@7.90; whisky, basis of high wines, 1.30.

Boston Copper Market.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO FRED DORR.]

BOSTON, April 23.—The market opened quiet, but there was a steady demand for local copper throughout the session. Copper Range were dull, but showed a firm undertone. They have apparently been sold to a standstill and should rally sharply on any increase in the demand. The market showed improvement at the close, and traders were shifting to the long side, and there was a feeling that we are to have a better market, for a few days at least.

Copper Range declared a dividend of $1.50 a share.

New York Cotton Market.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO FRED DORR.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—Liverpool was below parity this morning owing to heavy continental selling, and our market opened some 10 points lower, selling off further on local pressure. Business was restricted, and urgent liquidation appeared on the break. The trade sentiment remains almost hopeless, as the continued declines and lack of support has brought about a feeling of great depression. July was in quiet demand from spot houses, and there was some investment buying of October. The weather conditions were generally favorable, except for heavy rains in the Southern Georgia.

Following is the range of prices today:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
January	8.39	8.51	8.41	8.44
May	8.57	8.72	8.62	8.65
July	8.63	8.78	8.67	8.70

California Dried Fruit.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The market for evaporated apples is practically nominal. Holders are firm in their views, but there is no pressure of consequence to sell any quotable at 10¼@11; choice, 9½@9¾; prime, 7¾@8¼; and common to fair, 5¾@6¾. It is said that 2nd hands have sold a small amount of prunes from speculative buying of California prunes. Quotations range from 4¼ to 14; California, and from 3¾ to 9c for Oregon fruit. Apricots are steady, with choice quoted at 18@20c; extra choice, 19@21; and fancy quoted at. Peaches are unchanged, with choice quoted at 10¾; extra choice, 11@11½; fancy, 11¾@12; and extra fancy, 12¾. Raisins are neglected with only small sales reported at 1@2½ for seeded raisins, 2¼@3; and London layers at 1.60@1.75.

Sheep, receipts 12,000; market weak to 10 cents lower; natives, 4.00@4.45; westerns, 4.00@4.30; yearlings, 4.60@7.30; lambs, 6.00@7.40; western lambs, 6.60@7.60.

Liverpool Cotton Market.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO FRED DORR.]

LIVERPOOL, April 23.—The market was expected to open from 5 to 7 points lower. It opened barely steady, from 4 to 6 points lower. The close was dull and 3 to 9½ points lower. Spots were in moderate demand, and 10 points down, while middlings were 6.12d. Port receipts were estimated at 3000 bales today, compared with 11,000 bales last week and 6000 same time last year.

London Copper Market.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO FRED DORR.]

LONDON, April 23.—The copper metal market opened firm. Spots showed an advance of 2s. 6d., with the quotation at £58 5s. 0d. Futures also were up an equal amount at £58 12s. 6d. The close was quiet, spots being at £58 5s. on sales of 100 tons, and futures at £58 15s. on sales of 50 tons, an advance of 2s. 6d. for both.

Chicago Closing Prices.

DECIDUOUS FRUIT OUTLOOK.

Merchant, Returned from North, Reports Is Was Never Better—Grain Crops Failures.

Deciduous fruit, according to Joseph Huber of the Keystone Produce Company, who returned yesterday after a fifteen-day trip through the North, never had a better outlook than this year. In the Sacramento and the Santa Clara valleys, the cherry crop is so heavy that much of it will probably go to waste for want of buyers. The black variety is the more plentiful and it is expected that at least 300 carloads will be shipped East early in the season.

"What should make prices very low to local consumers," said Mr. Huber, "is the lack of interest which the canneries are taking. Apparently they stored such large stocks last year that they will handle little this."

In several sections the apricot crop is so large that growers are already trimming out small green fruit and cutting the blossoms in order that the trees may not be killed by overbearing. Peaches and apples are all looking well and the fruit shippers are making preparations to handle 300 carloads of the latter this fall.

In the Santa Clara Valley the outlook for French prunes and apricots is not exceptionally good, owing to several heavy frosts which nipped many buds.

A section of the state which will lose a good deal of money is the San Joaquin Valley. This is usually the greatest hay and grain producing portion of California, but the drought has worked havoc with the crops. The rains of the last two days will not help much, since most of the grain withered weeks ago. Extremely high prices are predicted during the ensuing year.

NEW BANK EXAMINER.

John W. Wilson of San Francisco, who has been appointed clearinghouse bank examiner for Los Angeles, will enter upon his new duties May 1. He is a former national bank examiner and this is the first office of this kind ever created by other than the national bank law, and it is hoped the regulation will do a great deal to clean up banking methods in the Southwest.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

Good news for the baldheads.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Youngworth Captain of Host.

United States Marshal Leo Youngworth was elected Captain of the Host, a high office in the grand chapter of California Royal Arch Masons, at its fifty-fifth annual session held in San Francisco this week.

Assembly Campaign.

Republicans of the Seventieth Assembly District will meet Wednesday evening of next week at the rooms of the Sixth Ward Republican Club, Adams street and Central avenue. Matters pertaining to the campaign will be discussed.

Volunteers of America.

Rev. Levi D. Barr will speak tonight at the hall of the Volunteers of America, and will be accompanied by a special singer. On Saturday night Col. and Mrs. Duncan will be there, on their first visit in a long time past.

Accounting Sought.

A petition for an accounting for revenues derived from the sale of patent burners and meters was filed in the United States Circuit Court yesterday by Caroline E. Downing of Detroit, against E. B. de la Matyr of this city, and the Sprague Meter Company of Connecticut.

Dinner to Matthews.

Members of the Cornell University Club of Southern California will give a dinner at the Angelus at 6:30 o'clock this evening in honor of Franklin Matthews, New York Sun and Los Angeles Times correspondent with the fleet, who is of the class of '93, Cornell. All Cornellians now here are expected to gather at the board.

Deaths Accidental.

Coroner Hartwell yesterday held inquests over the remains of Mrs. Margaret Asbury, who died Tuesday afternoon at the County Hospital, and James Weston, who was killed by a Los Angeles-Pacific car at Sawtelle. In both cases verdicts of accidental death were returned by the jurors. Mrs. Ashbury died from burns received at her home last Saturday morning, when a lamp exploded. Weston was foreman of a section gang, who stumbled and fell in front of a rapidly-moving coach.

New Handy Maps.

An excellent map of the city of Los Angeles and another of the surrounding country, both contained in the same cover, have just been issued by the German-American Savings Bank. The city map shows streets, blocks and car lines, while the suburban map not only indicates cities, pleasure resorts, and even the small flag stations on the trolley lines, but marks clearly the routes of all electric and steam roads, and gives distances from Los Angeles, with rates of fare and routes to travel to reach given points.

Republicans Enthuse.

Despite the attractions of the fleet and its incident entertainment, an enthusiastic meeting of Republicans was held last evening at Masonic Hall, Pico and El Molino streets, under the auspices of the Fourth Ward Roosevelt-Taft Club. Its president, Frank W. Blair, presided, and made a happy speech on the principles of the party and in commendation of the loyalty that moved so large an attendance in these piping times of other joy. W. J. Ballard made an address that was filled with fancy, fact and figures, and Mark Keppel, County Superintendent of Schools, ably discussed party questions of the day. Many new members were added to the club, and there were numerous visitors from the Third and Sixth ward Republican clubs.

CHARGES CONTRACT BROKEN.

W. J. Oliver, Who Fought for Panama Work, Sues New York Financier for $900,000.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JASPER (Tenn.) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. J. Oliver of Knoxville, the noted contractor, politician, banker and manufacturer, worth $3,000,000, today in Chancery Court, sued Anthony N. Brady of New York, financier of the lock and dam project at Hales Bar, for $900,000, charging breach of contract on the part of Mr. Brady, and the unreasonable ejection of Col. Oliver as a contractor, from the lock and dam works.

For the past six months Oliver has been the most-talked-of man in the South. A little over a year ago he came into fame by bidding on and making a stiff fight for the Panama Canal contract, and only recently has been the defendant in a $50,000 breach of promise suit with a woman whom he admitted he had lived with for several years, and now is a candidate for State elector to the Republican convention in Chicago this summer.

DEMON RUM.

CLERGY OPPOSED TO PROHIBITION.

ST. LOUIS PRESBYTERY FAVORS LOCAL OPTION.

Prominent Preacher Says Public Sentiment Must Be Ripened or Reaction Will Be Disastrous to the Cause of Temperance——Hot Debate on Subject at Spring Session.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The St. Louis Presbytery, composed of about two hundred ministers and laymen, representing churches in ten or twelve counties in Missouri, at its spring session here today, refused to adopt a resolution pledging its members to vote for Prohibition of city and State.

After a heated debate, in which the Rev. Dr. S. J. Nichols, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, formerly moderator of the general assembly and one of the most prominent ministers in the denomination in America, went on record as opposed to arbitrary prohibition, at this time. A substitute resolution favoring local option was passed instead of the original measure.

"If I had had the ballot in my hand today to determine that prohibition should be legally established in this State, I would not cast it, because I believe that such action would not be timely," said Dr. Nichols.

"I am in favor of ultimate prohibition, but there must be ripening of public sentiment to support such action, otherwise, being premature, the reaction will be disastrous to the true cause of temperance. Let us give ourselves earnestly to the cause of local option and through its working we will achieve permanent results."

ORGANIZED CHARITY SCORED.

Archbishop Glennon Declares Average Philanthropist Is Modern Pharisee and Notoriety Seeker.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—Organized charity was denounced as a mere bid for notoriety and the average philanthropist was described as a modern Pharisee last night by the Most Rev. John J. Glennon, archbishop of St. Louis.

The prelate's arraignment was made in a lecture under the auspices of the House of the Good Shepherd, and before an audience of 2500 persons.

"It is a recognized fact that we fast are reaching a social crisis," said the archbishop, "with our millionaire on one hand, and the pauper on the other. When the day comes the philanthropist, sitting in his upholstered chair, will not arise to the occasion. He will be told that it is not a lecture that is wanted, but that it is bread.

"There are today philanthropists—so called—who believe that by giving the people libraries, that they might study our present day philosophy, that they are accomplishing great good. And there are others who spend their time in social settlement work or lecturing on the child problem.

"Constantly they seek notoriety. Let them go on giving away their libraries and establishing their social settlements, but I want you to understand that philanthropy divorced from Christ is not charity.

"And I say, my friends, that the philosophy taught in your schools and universities today is just as brutal as it is repugnant. This philosophy of evolution, emanating from the brain of Darwin, and Spencer, makes for brutality and retards progress. What is the use of struggling if there is nothing to be attained? Where is there an appearance of charity in this system? The strong succeed and the weak perish."

JOE LEITER ENGAGED.

Announcement of Betrothal to Miss Juliette Williams of Washington, D. C., Is Made.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The engagement of Mr. Joseph Leiter, of Washington and Chicago, and Miss Juliette Williams, of this city, daughter of Col. and Mrs. J. R. Williams, was announced today.

The date of the wedding has not yet been decided upon, but it is expected to take place in Washington within a few weeks.

Mr. Leiter is the son of the late L. S. Leiter. Born in Chicago in 1868, he was graduated from Harvard in 1891. In the autumn of 1897 on the Chicago Board of Trade he was the hero of perhaps the largest and most daring deal in wheat this country has ever known.

In every fashionable assemblage during the past winter, there has been no more striking figure than Miss Williams who is scarcely more than 20. Miss Williams was educated at Georgetown convent, in this city, afterwards spending four years in Europe. She made her debut last winter at one of the largest teas of the season.

MAY KISS AND MAKE UP.

Frank Gould Will Return to New York Next Week for a Conference With His Wife.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Edward Kelly, mother of Mrs. Frank J. Gould, said today that young Mr. Gould, who went to Hot Springs, Va., soon after he left his wife and was served with papers in a legal separation, will return to New York Monday next and have a meeting with Mrs. Gould,

"The meeting between my daughter and her husband will be soon after his arrival," said Mrs. Kelly. "I have had a telegram from Mr. Gould, and I have no doubt the troubles of the young people are at an end or almost so. They are too much in love to be separated long, and after this experience I hope they will be wise enough not to get into another squabble."

SIX NATIONS SIGN TREATIES.

North Sea and Baltic Agreement Indorsed by Germany, Britain, France, Denmark, Holland, Sweden.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, April 23.—The North Sea and Baltic Sea treaties were signed at the foreign office today by Herr Von Schoen, German Secretary of Foreign Affairs, and the British and French Ambassadors and the Danish, Dutch, and Swedish ministers to Germany. The treaties maintain in substance the status quo on the Baltic coast and in the North Sea.

OLD TREATY TERMINATED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

STOCKHOLM, April 23.—Simultaneously with the signing of the North Sea and the Baltic Sea agreement an official of the Swedish government and the British and French diplomatic representatives here signed an act terminating the Stockholm treaty of 1855. This treaty was an alliance between Great Britain, France and Sweden guaranteeing the integrity of Norway and Sweden against Russia.

DECISION IS SIGNED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 23.—A decision and a special memorandum regarding the mutual recognition by Russia, Germany, Sweden, and Denmark of the principle of the territorial status quo of the Baltic Sea was signed at the Russian foreign office this afternoon.

LUMBER DEALERS ENJOINED.

Nebraska State Association Permanently Restrained from Fixing Prices and Conspiring.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LINCOLN (Neb.) April 23.—The Nebraska State Lumber Dealers' Association was today perpetually enjoined by the State Supreme Court, and restrained from all operations calculated to eliminate competition in the sales of building materials.

The association was accused of attempting to fix prices in the State. It was also alleged that the organization in conjunction with other States' associations, conspired to punish wholesale lumber dealers who sold to unauthorized persons. The State alleged that the Nebraska association communicated with associations in Washington, Oregon, and a number of other States.

LOCAL OPTION UPHELD.

Illinois Supreme Court Settles Long Fight Again Saloons in Seventy-two Counties.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) April 23.—The Supreme Court today in a decision declared the new local option law passed last year constitutional.

Upon this decree depend three saloon elections which have been held under the provisions of the present laws. The elections resulted in thirty-six counties barring out saloons altogether, while thirty-six other counties turned the liquor dispensaries out of all but one or two towns in the county.

At least 2,500,000 people in Illinois who have lived in prohibition districts would perhaps be put back into saloon territory if the Supreme Court declared the law unconstitutional.

THE MONEY GONE.

NIGHT CALLER HELPS HIMSELF FROM SAFE.

Takes Several Hundred Dollars from Redondo Railway Ticket Agent in Office in Heart of City in Early Evening, Crowds Near.

WHILE a large crowd was rushing out of the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway ticket office, No. 217 West Second street, to board a car about 9:30 o'clock last night, a man coolly walked into the room, ordered General Ticket Agent Robert M. Davisson to throw open the huge office safe, and with one hand scooped $450 out of the cash box. Holding a revolver close to Davisson's body, the fellow forced him to walk to the rear of the office. There the nervy visitor escaped. Davisson says he will be able to identify the man, should he be caught.

When the 9:30 o'clock car pulled up in front of the office, the passengers who sat in the waiting-room hurried to board it. Davisson closed down the window of the ticket office and stepped into the rear office to use the telephone. In less than five minutes he returned, the office at that time being deserted. As Davisson passed the parcel check-room the door was opened softly and a man stepped out, leveling his revolver on the ticket agent. Davisson had about $35 in his hand at the time.

"Open the safe," the fellow commanded, in a low voice, "and be careful about it, too."

Davisson walked to the safe, and, turning the combination, threw open the doors. At a further command he unlocked the cash drawer and pulled it out of the safe. The cool robber immediately emptied the contents into a coat pocket.

"I want that money you've got in your hand there," the fellow said. "Put it in my pocket."

"DON'T MIND CHANGE."

Davisson obeyed, but several dollars rolled on the floor.

"Don't mind the change," the caller continued; "follow me." He led the way through the rear offices, opening two doors before reaching the back entrance. The outside door was provided with a spring lock. When the robber opened it he backed out, facing Davisson. As the door slammed shut the robber fled through the court in the darkness.

Davisson rushed into the front office and told a sailor and two citizens what had occurred. They ran for a policeman while the ticket agent notified the detectives and telephoned to Superintendent Charles Means of the railroad company.

In a few minutes several detectives and policemen were in the office. The block was surrounded and a close inspection was made of the court through which the robber passed. It is believed he went through the back entrance of the Waldorf saloon and out onto Broadway. He seemed in no hurry to get away, for a bartender served a man of the robber's description a drink a few minutes before the detectives entered the saloon. The bartender said the man seemed nervous and did not wait for his change.

"I have seen that fellow around the office several times," Davisson said last night, "and I am positive I can identify him. He is about 40 years old and 5 feet 8 inches in height. He is rather heavy set and has square shoulders. His clothes were dark, but he wore a short tan-colored overcoat and a soft brown hat. When he smiled sternly I noticed he had a gold tooth. I am not sure about the color of his eyes, but his hair is sandy and he has a reddish complexion.

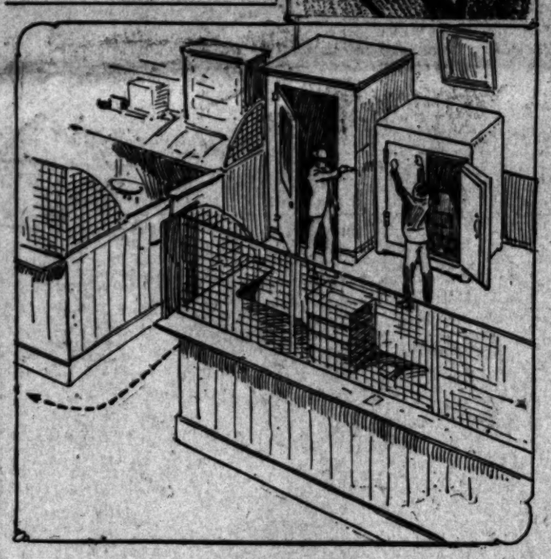
HUNG AROUND THE OFFICE.

"I noticed him hanging around the office last week. One night I sold him a ticket to Redondo and I saw him once after that in front of the office. Just as the car pulled up in front of the office to go out last night I closed the window. When the crowd hurried to the door I believe the man darted into the parcel-room and waited until I came out. I took the money out of the drawer and was going to put it in the safe. When I turned around I faced his revolver and he commanded me to open the safe. He talked quietly to me while he was operating and made no effort to shield his face."

This is the third hold-up which Davisson has figured in. While he was attending college in Chicago he was held up by three footpads, who robbed and then beat him. He was a passenger on a Redondo car last December when Charles Gray, a highwayman, was shot and killed by a conductor.

Davisson had $5000 in the safe until about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. When he checked up his accounts he decided that it was too much money to carry and deposited it in the bank. The robber secured only the money received from sales during the afternoon.

When Superintendent Means reached the office he checked up the receipts. He says the robber got $200 in gold coin, $50 in silver and $100 in greenbacks. Means declares that he has seen the man who committed the robbery, several times.



General Ticket Agent Robert M. Davisson, and diagram illustrating how a robber, supposed to have been hiding in a parcel room, forced him to open the safe of the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway at the point of a revolver last night. The office is in the city's business heart, and a crowd was not fifty feet away, yet nobody saw the hold-up.

WATCH IT GO.

DEPARTING OF FLEET A SIGHT TOMORROW.

INSPIRING as was the sight presented by the Atlantic fleet on its arrival at San Pedro, its departure will be an even more magnificent spectacle and will probably be viewed by a throng as vast as that which welcomed it. The fact that the "white sixteen" will maneuver in Santa Monica Bay will add greatly to the effect.

Rear-Admiral Thomas said yesterday that the statement as to the movements and maneuvers, published only in The Times day before yesterday, was entirely correct. The first division will leave San Pedro at 5 a.m. tomorrow, said he, and will be joined outside the breakwater by the second division, now at Long Beach, these two forming the first squadron. This squadron will proceed to Redondo, where the third division, now at Venice, will have joined the fourth division, now at Redondo, forming the second squadron. The two squadrons will form into the same order as they steamed into San Pedro last Saturday and the entire fleet will pass by Redondo and will maneuver in Santa Monica Bay until 8:30 o'clock when, in column formation, it will head for Santa Barbara.

"I should like to remain longer for the sake of the veterans at the Soldiers' Home," remarked Admiral Thomas, "but 8:30 o'clock is the latest possible hour I can remain off Santa Monica on account of being engaged to arrive at Santa Barbara at 4 o'clock p.m., to meet the Reception Committee. I regret that it will be impossible for me to fire a salute, but the regulations will not allow it. I should get into trouble if I fired a salute at Santa Monica. I am willing to do everything possible for the old men except get into trouble."

While the fleet will leave Santa Monica at 8:30 a.m. it will be in sight for about a couple of hours, or till 10:30 o'clock, when it will be hull down off Point Duma. A few minutes later and only a cloud of smoke on the horizon will mark the end of the proudest naval spectacle the people of Southern California, as a body, ever witnessed.

READY FOR THE CROWD.

The transportation companies are making every preparation to take care of the huge concourse of people which is certain to wish to say good-by to the fleet. The Los Angeles-Pacific Railway, the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway, the Santa Fé and the Southern Pacific all have made special arrangements for carrying people to the sea cities. They will be able to handle the crowd, no matter how big it be.

The Los Angeles-Pacific Railway will start running its cars at 3 o'clock tomorrow morning on both the broad and narrow-gauge lines. The broad-gauge cars for Venice, Ocean Park, Santa Monica and Redondo will start from the new depot on the west side of Hill street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, for all Santa Monica Bay points, while the narrow-gauge coaches will be used on the Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica lines via Hollywood and Colegrove and via Sawtelle. The service will be fully up to the needs of the occasion. As soon as the early morning rush begins, trains will be dispatched from both stations as fast as they can be sent out commensurate with the safety of passengers.

JOYOUS AUTO CRUISE VALLEY TO THE SEA.

Naval Officers Given Glimpse of Country's Charm in Sixty-Mile Trip Through Alhambra, Pasadena, Soldiers' Home and Beach Cities.

A TRIUMPHAL tour of sixty miles was the automobile journey made yesterday by the officers of the battleship fleet. There were sixty-two machines in line, and, from the time the procession left the Alexandria Hotel until the last car with its dust-stained passengers reached Los Angeles on the return trip, the occupants were recipients of signal honors from thousands of people along the line of march.

Though the start was to have been made at 9:45 o'clock in the morning, there was considerable delay and it was not until 10:30 o'clock that the first car started, carrying Admiral Thomas and his party, which included Lieut.-Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, Mayor Harper, Lieutenant-Commander Ridley McLean and Lieut. K. G. Castleman.

The second car was occupied by Rear-Admiral Charles S. Sperry, Gen. H. G. Otis and Lieut. T. W. Wurtsbaugh. In the third car were Rear-Admiral W. H. Emory, Gen. Robert Wankowski, Surgeon R. P. Crandall and Lieut. R. W. Henderson. The next car contained Capts. J. M. Bowyer and W. H. H. Southerland, Joseph Scott and Oscar Lawler. Then followed forty-eight machines containing officers and ten carrying civilian guests.

The first place visited was Alhambra. The trip was made by way of the new Pasadena-Los Angeles "cut-off" and Oneonta Park. A short stop was made at Oneonta Park, where twenty motor cars, containing Mayor Thomas Earley and representatives of the Board of Trade and Fleet Entertainment Committee of Pasadena were in waiting. They extended the liberty of their city and welcomed the guests in behalf of the citizens.

ON TO ALHAMBRA.

After a brief pause the trip to Alhambra was continued, the Pasadena representatives falling in line and making the trip. No stop was made at Alhambra, but the officers were given an opportunity to see the town and surrounding country.

From Alhambra the run into Pasadena was made in record time. The procession followed the line of the electric railway tracks until Lake avenue was reached. There the pilot car turned north into the city. The run from the county road into the city was one of the most noteworthy features of the entire trip.

The avenue leads through extensive orange groves, and the drivers of the cars slowed down so that the party might have the full benefit of the beautiful view. On either hand, as far as the eye can see, extend the lines of orange trees, and yesterday, as it dressed for the occasion, each tree was a mass of blossoms. The air was fragrant with the perfume of the dainty blooms and many were the exclamations of wonder and admiration.

Past the clubhouse of the Pasadena Country Club and the Hotel Wentworth the procession moved, entering the city by way of Lake avenue. After a short spin about the city the party was taken to Hotel Maryland, where luncheon was served.

As car after car drew up in front of the hotel and discharged its load, the visitors passed under a canopy into the building. Hundreds of people lined the approach and, with bared heads, the officers passed down the line.

LUNCHEON AN EVENT.

The luncheon was an event which will not soon be forgotten. Every inch of the big hotel dining-room was called into use and, when the orchestra struck up the strains which meant that the feast was about to begin, there was not a vacant seat in the room. The guests were seated without confusion and general good cheer characterized the gathering.

The luncheon was entirely informal. In the course of the meal music was furnished by one of the division bands of the fleet, and, as the patriotic airs were played, the entire party, naval men and civilians alike, joined in singing.

At the close of the luncheon Admiral Thomas made a short address, thanking the people of Pasadena for their welcome and expressing his pleasure at the reception which has been accorded the officers and men of the fleet throughout Southern California. He also expressed his appreciation of the delightful climate of the Southland, which he characterized as "really the garden spot of the earth."

No sooner had the admiral taken his seat than Mayor Earley sprang to his feet.

"I propose a toast," said he, "to the American navy, the navy which has never lost a battle and has never allowed the old flag to be lowered."

Mayor Earley's toast was the signal for a burst of applause, and, amid the cheers of the civilian guests, the glasses were drained "to the navy."

Every one willingly would have extended the stay in Pasadena indefinitely, but the announcement was made that the veterans at the Soldiers' Home were waiting for a chance to greet the party, so the signal to break up was given.

As the party started from the dining-room, the marine band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner." Instantly every officer was at "attention," standing as it rooted to the spot. Then, some one began singing the words to the national anthem and with one accord all others joined. Hundreds of voices helped swell the melody and even waiters stopped work and sang.

SHOWERED WITH ROSES.

As the officers passed into the corridor of the hotel they were greeted by a number of society maids, their arms loaded with roses. A literal shower of flowers followed and as the guests returned to their waiting motor cars their garments were covered with petals.

Though the police endeavored to keep back the crowds that thronged about the entrance to the hotel, the task was hopeless and scores of people surged about Admiral Thomas as he stepped into his machine. Men and women crowded around, anxious to shake hands with the distinguished officer, who gave each a hearty clasp of the hand, with a smile and a word of cheer.

As the procession passed the Pasadena Presbyterian Church the chimes in the belfry played, "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean."

The party passed west to Orange Grove avenue and made the trip along that boulevard. At every cross street were vehicles of all descriptions, from the brougham with liveried coachman and prancing steeds, to the old family surrey. The occupants of these turnouts went wild with enthusiasm and thousands of blossoms were cast at the passing automobiles.

Passing slowly, in single file, the procession then turned east in front of the home of Mrs. Lucretia Garfield, widow of the martyred President. It had been intended to make a stop there, but the lack of time made it impossible.

The official Reception Committee at Pasadena was composed of Commander J. J. Hunker, U.S.N. (retired;) Brig.-Gen. W. L. Alexander, U.S.N. (retired;) William F. Knight, E. T. Off and Dr. Henry Sherry. Every resident of the city constituted himself an unofficial committeeman.

GREETINGS ALONG THE WAY.

From Pasadena the party went to the Annandale Golf Club. Although it was impossible to carry out the original plan and have a reception there, members of the club and their guests lined the verandas of the clubhouse, cheering the officers as they rode by.

From the golf links to Sunset boulevard the streets were lined with people. Little tots, with flags and handkerchiefs, shrieked their appreciation, and, now and then, one, more venturesome than the rest, would rush into the street and throw a handful of blossoms into the passing cars. Grizzled officers in the autos became as enthusiastic as the children and excitedly waved their caps at the little patriots.

The run to Sawtelle was made in record time, in spite of the bad condition of the roads.

At the entrance to the grounds of the Soldiers' Home stood a sentry. He was white headed and showed the sign of advancing years, but he stood as straight as any youngster of twenty. As the first car passed, his right hand snapped to the visor of his cap. The occupants of the car gave him a soldiers' salute, instead of the customary tip of the cap, and, though his face remained immobile, his eyes sparkled with emotion.

On both sides of the avenue through the grounds the old soldiers were lined up in company formation. Some hardly could move about, but they stood bravely in line. As the car with the admiral passed the old color sergeant, the occupants uncovered and the hands of the color guard flew to the salute.

ADMIRAL ADDRESSES VETERANS

In front of the headquarters building the procession stopped and Admiral Thomas made a short address to the veterans. In absolute silence the old soldiers listened, but when the speaker had finished they voiced their appreciation of his remarks with loud cheers.

"To you, veterans of the Civil War," said the admiral, "more than all others is due the fact that the Union is not dismembered."

In automobiles, Maj. T. J. Cochrane, governor of the Soldiers' Home, and his staff passed in review. Then they alighted and stood at attention, while the procession of naval officers passed by.

In front of the hospital all veterans too ill to appear in the ranks were assembled to welcome the visitors. Many of them, hopeless cripples, had to be wheeled out in chairs, but their enthusiasm was no less than that of their more stalwart fellows.

From Soldiers' Home the party went directly to Santa Monica. At the entrance to the city was a triumphal arch, and through it the line of motor cars passed. Along the walk at the top of the bluff the machines were driven until the pavilion was reached. There a halt was made.

David Evans presented Admiral Thomas with a memorial, and Mayor T. H. Dudley then stepped up and delivered the gavel, used by Admiral Lord Nelson when he commanded H. M. S. Victory. This is a gift from the city of Santa Monica to Rear-Admiral Evans. With a profound bow the admiral accepted the memento of the distinguished English commander. No speech was delivered, though Admiral Thomas, in behalf of the absent commander, expressed to Mayor Dudley his appreciation of the gift.

ALONG OCEAN FRONT.

Passing through the city of Santa Monica, the line of autos turned down onto the beach and the run through Ocean Park to Venice was made along the cement walk, permission to pass over which had been granted for the occasion.

It was with difficulty that the procession made the trip, for eager folk, anxious to get a close view of the distinguished party, crowded up until it seemed as if they must be ground to death under the wheels. Many officers, who have faced broadsides of heavy guns in action without a tremor, winced at the narrow escapes which some of the people had, but there was no accident.

At Venice, two field guns had been mounted on the pier, and, as the procession passed, a continuous cannonade was kept up. The reports of the guns, the cheers of the people and the waving of flags and banners, made a brave show as the line passed along the water front, while the four great battleships, riding at anchor off shore, completed the inspiring picture.

The square at Venice, in front of St. Mark's Hotel, was crowded with automobiles. Waving flags greeted the procession, as it turned up from the beach. As the machines with the visitors ran swiftly out of town, ringing cheers followed them.

WITHOUT A HITCH.

With the exception of a few minor mishaps, the day passed without accident. A supply car, loaded with gasoline and spare tires, accompanied the procession, and it was kept pretty generally in use. Punctured tires were, in all instances, quickly replaced, and there were no serious delays.

The arrangements were carried out to perfection, and the long line was faultlessly handled. Wills Booth had general supervision of the affair, and he saw that the whole proceeding was carried out without the least confusion.

Everywhere along the line every precaution was taken to provide for the comfort of the party. Chief of Police Favour of Pasadena accompanied the party on its trip through the Crown City, riding in one of the machines and taking care that no one interfered with the progress of the procession.

The speed ordinance was allowed to lie dormant for the occasion, and, though much ground had to be covered in order to carry out the programme, it was accomplished without great difficulty, though for a considerable distance a forty-mile clip was maintained.

All the naval officers were loud in their expressions of joy at the outing and without hesitancy, pronounced it the most enjoyable day they had spent.

Ladies and Officers of the Navy on Pleasure Jaunt.

Group of fleet visitors at Riverside, where they enjoyed an automobile tour of the country of orange groves, visited the top of Rubidoux Mountain and were guests at a luncheon at Mission Hotel.

FOR FAIR ONES.

"LADIES' DAY" FULL OF JOY.

WOMEN OF NAVY ENTERTAINED ON RIVERSIDE TRIP.

Some Officers, Too, Are Taken Along, and Happy Hours Are Passed on Perfume-Laden Avenues of the Orange City, on Rubidoux, and at Luncheon at Mission Hotel.

"The Ladies of the Atlantic Fleet," was the toast proposed yesterday at Hotel Glenwood in Riverside, and drunk with enthusiasm by the naval officers and newspaper correspondents who accompanied the visiting women of the United States navy on "a little journey through Southern California's golden-fruited orange belt," tendered as a courtesy by the traffic department of the Salt Lake road.

"The Married Club," these ladies have dubbed themselves, as they traveled to the Pacific Coast to meet their husbands who journeyed from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In their number are included several noted beauties—fascinating young matrons, well known in American naval society. There are just two girls in this club—Miss Harriet and Miss Mary Southerland—daughters of the captain of the New Jersey, two of the most vivacious and popular of Washington's naval belles.

Mrs. Southerland was the chaperon and spirit of the party, and Douglas White, representing the railroad company, was a royal host. The roster of the special car included Maj. Dion Williams, fleet marine officer, in command of the marines of the Atlantic fleet, and Mrs. Williams; Lieut. Berrien of Admiral Thomas's staff, and Mrs. Berrien, Paymaster Merriam of the Kansas, and Mrs. Merriam, with Mrs. Merriam's mother, Mrs. Richard Wallach of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Kenneth Castleman of Louisville, Ky.; wife of the flag lieutenant of Admiral Thomas; Lieut. Norris of the Kentucky, and Mrs. Norris; Mrs. C. T. Wade, Mrs. McNeilly, Lieut. Long of the Connecticut, Paymaster Mayer of the Yankton, Lieut. Corning of the New Jersey, Midshipmen Beck and Kidd of the New Jersey, Lieut. Liggett of the New Jersey, Lieut. "Dick" Wainright of the Connecticut, son of Capt. Wainright of the Louisiana; Capt. Little, in command of the marines on the Rhode Island, with Robert Small of the Associated Press, and Mr. Patchin of the New York Herald.

If Jack ashore is a jolly good fellow, the United States naval officer off parade, with uniform and orders forgotten, is the personification of light-hearted gayety, and the women of the navy—well, Southern California is just learning about this fascinating element in social life.

As for endurance, these ladies can dance all night and "jolly" all day. The naval ball of Wednesday evening allowed these visitors just three hours' sleep before they were called to prepare for the trip through the orange groves, and they were fresh as daisies when the party gathered at the Salt Lake Station at 8:30 o'clock.

In the special car there was room for a Virginia reel, with an impromptu band at one end, whose members played on thin air, with pretty Mrs. Castleman for first violinist.

At Riverside the party was met with big touring cars and then began a wonder day for the visitors unfamiliar with Southern California.

"I did not dream there was such a country in the world," murmured one traveled member, and still the wonder grew as the miles of orange trees were passed, with hedges of Ragged Robin roses, and the sudden burst of glory from the Gold of Ophir bushes that lined the way.

Through aisles of stately pepper trees, past palms and flowering shrubs for miles, the party sped, and the scent with which the air was laden—"Why," declared Mrs. Southerland, "I heard yesterday of a shrub called 'breath of heaven,' and that is the only expression adequate for the odor in this garden of delights."

"It's a smiling country," voiced another, when other adjectives were exhausted.

The trip was continued up that marvelous road that has been hewed out of rock by human enterprise on the bleak sides of Rubidoux Mountain. Up and up, till the summit was reached, and these people from the Atlantic Coast grouped themselves around the cross where Father Junipero Serra is said to have blessed the "smiling land" that lay within the reach of the eye on every side.

At the Glenwood Hotel there was another outburst of "ahs" and "ohs," as the members of the party passed into the grounds, and the mission chimes were played for their benefit. The suite once occupied by President Roosevelt was placed at the disposal of the ladies, and later a tempting luncheon was served. Soon after luncheon the delighted sight-seers returned on the afternoon train to Los Angeles.

A BULL.

BIG RED STEER ACTS THE GOAT.

ARIZONA MILLIONAIRE RIDES WILD BEAST.

Battle of Oranges Makes Things Livelier Than Ever at Wild West Show—Only Bunco Is Bronco That Wouldn't Buck—Final Performance Will Be Given Today.

Little Billee, the Goat, otherwise the Louisiana's mascot, had the time of his life yesterday at Agricultural Park. He was hit fourteen consecutive times—count 'em—during a battle of oranges, got wildly excited when a wild steer ridden by an Arizona millionaire, broke loose and threatened to carry away the grand stand on its horns, and finally wound up by sampling the barbecued beef. Little Billee passed a unanimous vote that Los Angeles is the best ever, but confesses that he has had enough Redlands oranges to last a self-respecting goat for the rest of his natural.

The millionaire who rode the steer that played the goat is Felix Mayhew, who has made barrels of money, and had barrels of fun riding yesterday. He was dressed as a sailor, and got round after round of cheers from the bluejackets for his pluck, his antics and his uniform. To their supreme delight the provost guard did not tumble to the fact that Mayhew is only a prairie-schooner sailor, and two of the naval policemen went to the barrier determined to arrest him for creating a disturbance on the track. A Los Angeles "cop" put them wise while the real jads in blue yelled "stung," with great glee, and fully expanded lungs. The provost guard took the jollying in good part, but one grimly remarked that had the millionaire been a real sailor he'd have lost four months' pay for breaking into the show. Mayhew showed himself to be absolutely fearless.

Sharing the honors with him in this event was Miss Mollie Nebitt of Yuma, Ariz., who is called the "Arizona Queen." She got astride the big steer, and to the vast delight of the sailors who roared out their approval. The animal fell with her and it looked as if the whole weight of beef was on her right leg. It required the united efforts of three vaqueros to roll the steer off, but when this was accomplished Miss Neabitt jumped gaily to her feet, waved her sombrero at the sailor boys, smiled sweetly, and the whole audience rose to its feet and cheered her to the echo. "Wild Horse" Hill also covered himself with glory—and mud—in the steer act, which was a most exciting event, requiring great courage and agility on the part of the performers.

The Wild West Show gets better all the time and it's all to the good with the blue jackets. Outside of the features noted by the Louisiana's goat the chief portions of the programme were the bronco—Librarian Lummis says there should be no "aitch" in it—that was a bunco, and the heavyweight bull who was no gentleman as far as manners go. Said bull was of that wicked red affected by ladies in the front row of the chorus for their hair, and his horns were wide enough to bridge the Los Angeles River when in full flood.

Marcez Valdez, a cowpuncher with a quality of stick-to-itiveness which would win the admiration of the "Big Stick" himself, gave an exhibition of remaining on the back of a quadruped which has rooted objections to any person with staying qualities and then the fiery, untamed mustang which "has never been ridden before, gentlemen, and never had a saddle on its back," was introduced. The bluejackets looked for a policy of obstruction which would place Representative Williams in Speaker Cannon's good boy class, but the fiery untamed lay down. He quit cold—as cold as a fleet story will be in next week's newspapers.

While the sailors were still calling to the bronco to bronk—if Lummis will allow the coining of the word—the tornado game was started and the bunco beast was forgotten in the skill of "Wild Horse" Hill and "Arizona" Charlie Meadows, who played that ring game as easily as if it were kiss-in-the-ring.

The ring spearing had barely concluded before several boxes of oranges were taken into the grand stand, where several hundred sailors were aching for some extra excitement. The people charged with the distribution of the fruit thought the best and easiest method was to throw it at the bluejackets.

"Catch," yelled one, as he threw an orange. Instantly every man jack was on his feet with a hand outstretched, and in a jiffy blue caps and uniforms were hidden in the shower of golden fruit. The Wild West Show came to a halt right there until the sailors got through with their battle of oranges. The men commenced to pelt the fruit at each other, then they fired it at civilian spectators down below, and finally at the vaqueros. It was a warm encounter, and Billee the Goat almost took the count.

When the fun was slackening off and much juice had been spilt on uniforms, the police thought it time to call a halt and the lieutenant in charge told the announcer to state that the show would be stopped if the pelting did not cease. The vaqueros called to the sailors that the orange peel on the track was likely to throw the horses and the boys in blue listened to the voice from Arizona rather than to the command from Central Station.

"No casualties," was the report, and the show went on, the boys feeling all the happier for the orange interchange. Moberly Meadows indulged in some fancy riding that caught the eye of the boys from the battleships, "Prof." Stowe put "Outlaw Johnny," a thinking horse, through his paces, and then came the stage hold-up, which was as big a drawing card as ever. The Sheriff came to life very suddenly after being slain and the sailors feel relieved to know that, although dead, he is not seriously injured and will be on deck today, the hurricane deck of a cayuse, when the final show is given for the last batch of enlisted men.

It may seem queer to call a big red steer a bright particular star, but the one who appeared yesterday as the victim of the riding feat was a regular Mars. He broke two lassoes, got over two fences, rushed in among the crowd, upset the center of gravity of a policeman, fell over on the "Arizona Queen," and concluded a bright and glorious career by charging through the Merry Widow lodging-house into the middle of cowpuncher's barbecued beef, which Billee the Goat was sniffing from afar.

Today, at 2 o'clock p.m., the last great Wild West Show will be given. This extra performance will take the place of the one which the rain compelled the committee to abandon day before yesterday. Enlisted men will be allowed in free and also to Chutes Park this afternoon and evening.

Midshipman Clark, who is director of athletic aboard the battleship Minnesota, and who is captain and pitcher of the baseball team.

CLARK IS FINE ATHLETE.

Minnesota's Coach Has Fine Annapolis Record in Both Baseball and Football.

Under the direction of Midshipman Clark, director of athletics, the Minnesota is developing one of the best sporting crews in the navy. Clark made a fine record at Annapolis for both football and baseball. He is captain of the Minnesota team that will play for the championship pennant of the Atlantic fleet. Their adversaries are the hard hitters from the New Jersey.

Clark is a good amateur pitcher. He will go into the box for his team in the championship contest. He says that the men have cared a little too much for shore leave and too little for practice, while in California waters, but he promises to give the Jersey mosquitoes a run for the pennant.

Clark rates even higher in football than in baseball. He played end during his last year at Annapolis and was regarded as a swift and dangerous opponent. He is having some difficulty in developing his football team on the Minnesota, as the opportunities for practice are limited. He says that he has begun early this year with the raw material that he picked up fourteen months ago and that he expects to develop a first-class team. As his football scores for this year are four wins and one loss, it is apparent that he has high ideals for a navy team.

By the time the Atlantic fleet returns home from the present voyage Clark expects to develop some rough boxing material into the finished product. He has arranged to secure some choice men from the other boats. Geron of the Illinois is regarded by Clark as a coming lightweight and he has arranged to have him transferred to the Minnesota at San Francisco.

The racing team of the Minnesota is directed by Midshipman Hyatt. This team won one first, two seconds, a third and a fourth in the spring championship tournament this year.

The Minnesota sailing team holds the record for cutters and second place in barge races.

GIVES COMFORT BAGS.

W.C.T.U. IS "ON DECK."

A general presentation of "comfort bags" was made to the sailors of the battleship fleet yesterday by the W.C.T.U. of Southern California, while the Minnesota W.C.T.U. made a present to every sailor of the battleship Minnesota of a special "comfort bag" sent by the members from that State at an expense of $400. There were 806 of these bags for the Minnesota.

A delegation of the W.C.T.U., headed by Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, the national superintendent and former vice-president of the Minnesota W.C.T.U., boarded the Minnesota yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, the sailors were mustered on deck and joined in singing "America." A welcome was then given the men by representatives of the W.C.T.U. and the Los Angeles Gopher Club of Minnesotans, and Mrs. Hester T. Griffith presented the greetings of the National W.C.T.U.

An address was made to the men by Mrs. Irvine, who spoke of the mother interest of the W.C.T.U. in the sailors and then the visitors gave the white ribbon salute, which was returned. The bags were distributed by Lew Irvine and by the Misses Arline Cook, Mary L. Leach and Marie Sibley, all 10 or 11 years old, and all of Venice. Chaplain Evans of the Minnesota was an active participant in the ceremonies.

PRECIOUS FLAGS.

PRESENTS FROM CHILDREN.

In connection with the visit of the school children to the flagship Connecticut in San Pedro Harbor day before yesterday, one of the objects of interest was the beautiful stand of flags presented to the Connecticut by the public school children of Norwalk, Ct., at the time the State presented the flagship with the beautiful silver service.

Frank M. Sanger, who was one of those in charge of the gift of these four flags, now kept in a glass case near the cabin of Rear-Admiral Evans, is a guest at the Angelus Hotel, but returns to the East today. He paid a visit to the flagship this week, and naturally was much interested in the flags from Norwalk. The officers told him that the flags from the children were the precious possessions of the battleship.

Mr. Sanger has a wonderful photograph of the Connecticut under full speed made during her trial trip. It bears the autograph of President Roosevelt, and the only other four copies are held by Emperor William of Germany, President Roosevelt, the Navy Department, and Miss Helen Gould.

ALMOST TRAGEDY.

DRAMATIC TALE OF SEA DUEL.

ATTEMPT TO RAM RIVAL BOAT LAID AT CAPTAIN'S DOOR.

Lives of Angelenos Seeking View of Fleet at San Pedro Endangered by Incident Described as Accident by Master Responsible for Wreck of the Raymo.

Hidden in the legal verbiage of an admiralty suit filed in the United States District Court yesterday, is the outline of a dramatic sea story. The missing details are furnished by Attorneys Variel and Barber, who represent E. X. Willard and George R. Warren of this city, the owners of the launch Raymo, sunk in a collision in San Pedro Harbor on Saturday afternoon. It is asserted that she was accidentally rammed by Capt E. E. Napier of the Virginia, while he was apparently intent upon disabling a rival boat, the Eagle, owned by J. A. Paschall of Long Beach.

An application has been made to the superintendent of the customhouse at San Pedro for the revocation of the licenses of Napier and Paschall.

The accident which wrecked the Raymo and nearly resulted in the drowning of a Los Angeles man and woman, who were among the five passengers, took place shortly after 5 o'clock. The battleships had anchored and the harbor was dotted with launches carrying crowds of sightseers. It is claimed that Napier and Paschall had a quarrel of long standing. Both live at Long Beach, and all Saturday afternoon the rival boat owners were engaged in carrying passengers out to view the fleet.

The Raymo was returning to her dock and was on a course parallel to that stered by Capt. Pascholl. Suddenly, according to the statement of Willard, the Eagle veered in her course and attempted to run across the bows of the Raymo. The wheelman of the latter craft at once sheered off to avoid the collision. While alongside the larger vessel, and in a helpless position, its captain saw the Virginia bearing down at full speed. He shouted a warning and tried to draw ahead, but the bow of the Virginia struck his launch amidships, cutting her to the keel line. The boat filled with water, and with extreme difficulty the passengers were saved.

The libel sets forth that "at no time did the Eagle indicate by proper signal which course she intended to take, although the Raymo gave the proper signal as to her own position and danger; that the Eagle, by crowding the course of the Raymo, placed said vessel in a dangerous position from which it could not escape; that the Virginia was negligent in that it proceeded on its course in total disregard of the dangerous position of the Raymo.

Sunday the owners of the wrecked launch towed it to Fellow's shipyard at Terminal Island, where it is now undergoing repairs.

The libelants ask damages aggregating $1560.

"What Napier intended to do to Paschall's boat is outside the issues in our case," said Attorney Variel yesterday. "But from several witnesses I learned that Napier and Paschall were rivals for business. The fact that the Virginia started directly at the Eagle looks as though it was engaged in a mimic sea duel. If it had not been for the interposition of the Raymo, the Eagle would have been cut to the water's edge. Witnesses inform me that Paschall was very angry and threatening in his attitude toward Napier and some say that he flourished a pistol. Experienced boatmen say that there was no apparent reason for the Virginia's changing her course to meet the Eagle unless her owner either wished to crowd his rival from the dock or injure her."

Deputy United States Marshal Fred Durlin went to San Pedro yesterday and libeled the Virginia. Her owner maintained that the whole affair was an accident, although he admitted that he and Paschall are not on good terms.

Post Guest on Ohio.

Ida Eckert-Lawrence (Mrs. James K. Connor,) who, at President McKinley's request, wrote the ode which was read at the launching of the battleship Ohio, will visit that vessel today as the guest of the commanding officer, Capt. Charles M. Bartlett.

The battleship fleet of sixteen vessels assemble off Redondo Beach Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. Five-minute service on all cars of the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway from 5 a.m.—[Adv.

The Man from Rome

This is the title of a [illegible] tinued story by Marie [illegible] Vorst, starting in this [illegible] issue of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST.

An American, rich beyond the dreams of avarice; a [illegible] son with pockets burst[illegible] with spending money, [illegible] daughter spoiled and beautiful, also the man from Rome. These [illegible] act a powerful story, tragic [illegible] places, which will be illustrated by A. B. Wenzell and Vernon Howe Bailey.

The title suggests a [illegible] international marriage—but not this one.

Better begin to read the story now. It is hard to get back numbers of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST. The next week's issue is now on sale.

At the News-stands, 5 cents. $1.50 the year by mail.

Never has the demand for lace been as great as it is right now.

And never has it been so necessary that women realize that the only safe way to wash laces is with Ivory Soap and lukewarm water.

Why Ivory Soap is best because it contains no "free" alkali; nothing matter; nothing but pure soap, pleasant of any kind.

and Fancies of Navy as Seen Ashore.

BY ELSIE SMITH.

Mr. Roosterdahl said about the [illegible] is all a dreadful mistake. [illegible] all about the fleet between [illegible] at the ball.

[illegible] of the girls talk about anything except trunnions and trajectories and range finders and free [illegible] whatever they are.

Rodney H. Madison of the [illegible] explained to me about everything and he says the fleet is fine, [illegible] was of the other ships are [illegible] as the Louisiana. I don't see [illegible] it's so much better than any others, they didn't save the [illegible] and make more just like it [illegible] house was just about to explain to me when two of the officers came up behind us and one of them said in a scared whisper, "My dear, do you think? Zach's somebody."

[illegible] that Mr. Madison isn't [illegible] but I am sure it must be [illegible] he didn't have anybody to [illegible] sympathetic. What he [illegible] trunnions and ammunition are perfectly fascinating.

[illegible] me why they call some of [illegible] "Mister." They even call [illegible]'s son Mister Evans. Of course [illegible] girl was crazy to meet [illegible] own.

Miss Elsie Smith,

Los Angeles young lady, society reporter for The Times, who gives her impressions of the younger naval officers.

is the old gypsy song, "Dip Your Fingers in the Stew."

Mr. Taussig of the Kansas made every girl feel at home because he is a football hero. Los Angeles girls may be slightly misty on battleships, but they are strong on forward passes and touchdowns. But who would ever think of finding a football hero on a battleship? Mr. Taussig comes of a football family; they all play.

There's an ensign on board the Illinois—Mr. Alexander—who also has a stunt that doesn't seem to go with a battleship. They say, at sea, he rigs up a punching bag in the after turret and is in there pounding the thing most of the time. I found that they wouldn't let people into the turrets on hardly any of the battleships this time—during the visit here. I wonder if it's because they had punching bags in them.

It would certainly be a severe shock for some snooping Japanese spy to peek into a gun turret some day and find a good-looking young officer in there hitting a punching bag.

There's an officer on the New Jersey whose fad is said to be prize fighting. His name is Mr. Corning. They call him "deacon"—for why, I don't know, although I understand he acted as chaplain one time when the chaplain wasn't "on the job"—as George Ade says.

It strikes me that prize fighting and psalm reading are a funny combination.

AGGRAVATING DEARS.

Those navy officers are the most aggravating things; they positively refuse to be heroes. You probably know about Mr. Bullock of the Illinois. He was on the Maine when it blew up in Havana, and escaped by crawling through a turret port. He was a gunner's mate—whatever that is—and was made a commissioned officer for gallantry. Now isn't it aggravating. All he would talk about was boat racing. Every time anyone would mention anything about his splendid bravery, he would blush and tell you about the dandy stroke oar they are training for the cutter.

One of the most charming little fellows in the fleet is Mr. Staton of the Connecticut. Every one likes to hear him talk; he's from the South and very much from the South; he has a delicious accent that you could spread on bread—and the most charming manners.

Another nice fellow on the flagship is young Wainwright. He has twinkling eyes and you're not sure whether he thinks you are a joke or not. If ever a boy was born to be a navy officer, it's he. Imagine, dear, being great grandson, grandson and son of a navy officer. His father is "Fighting Dick" Wainwright of the Louisiana and they say both he and his son are idolized by their men; so I guess they are so much worried what a lot of girls think. Everybody says if the fleet bumps into a fight, Mr. Wainwright's father will be placed in command. They say he would fight the whole Jap navy just to get up an appetite for breakfast.

There are scores of young officers on the fleet who are just the finest fellows in the world, and we're secretly glad they are not so girl-crazy. Down in the bottom of her heart, every girl is rather pleased that these young fellows would rather talk guns and smokeless powder than flirt. You hear so much in short stories about flirtatious young lieutenants that one would think the navy had morning practice in fan flirtations. But when you come to see and talk to them you discover them to be fine, manly young fellows, most of them just crazy over their profession and eager to talk things you can't understand,

Editorial Pros and Points

Gov. Johnson is evidently impressed with the way the nomination is not seeking Gov. Hughes.

The sailors may go away with regret, but we have done our best not to let them go away hungry.

Fighting Bob's fad is fancy work, but he should see the fancy work the Los Angeles entertainment is doing.

The visit of the fleet has made us forget many things, but nothing can ever make us forget that it was here.

It is sad to think that just as soon as the bluejackets leave, the politicians are ready to crowd the sidewalks.

A great deal of tanning is carried on in Manchuria, not to speak of the tanning the Japs gave the Russians there.

The Hughes Presidential boom appears now to have reached a point where it has a cold chill every time it thinks of itself.

There is something queer about politics. Even Tom Watson talks like a man who thinks he stands a good chance to be elected.

A London specialist declares that cheap cigars are the least harmful. But that's not the reason a majority of men smoke them.

When a man becomes tired of the world he might at least refrain from making everybody else tired by telling them about it.

A Baltimore preacher recently declared that he does not believe the story of Jonah and the whale. He would never do for a marine.

Americans spent $105,000,000 for automobiles last year, and yet Congress thinks we cannot afford to have more than two new battleships.

The prohibition movement has thrown 1000 bartenders out of employment, and the trouble is they do not know how to run drug stores.

It must be great for the marines to be stuffed with beef at the barbecues and then stuffed with stories after they hit the street corners.

Capt. Allen Kelly asserts in his paper that the "blind pig" hasn't a friend in the Imperial Valley. If it has, it doesn't want the fact known.

Our word to the sailors is that when they reach San Francisco they must, above all things, beware of a drink up there that's called steam beer.

In our joy over the presence of the fleet we have almost forgotten that Evelyn Thaw has decided to make her future home in Southern California.

John Morley has accepted a peerage because "he needed the money." It is pathetic to think what men will do to keep the wolf from the door.

The nomination of Gov. Johnson or Judge Gray would not place the election in doubt, but it would throw a little welcome ginger into the campaign.

We desire to respectfully notify Fighting Bob that the cheers we had ready for him will be carefully put away until he can conveniently come and receive them.

When the day comes that the swords will be beaten into plowshares, the country will also then have turned the saloon fixtures into rocking chairs and china closets.

The names of the rival candidates for Governor in Georgia are Brown and Smith. We think the Smiths can win by probably forty or fifty votes if they stick together.

Pennsylvania Democrats say that if Judge Gray is nominated they can carry their State for him. Pennsylvania Democrats are the original pipe dreamers of the world.

It is reported that Hobson will accompany the fleet to the Orient. Now if "Red" Hayes were also to go, we see nothing under heaven that could any longer postpone a conflict.

President Roosevelt is credited with having said that he will be forgotten in the next six or seven years. This rather confirms the rumor that he intends to become a college professor.

After studying the Bible for ten years a Maryland man announces that the millennium will come in 1914. The surprising thing is that after studying the Bible that length of time he did not start a new religion.

We think we may as well settle down to the fact that "The Star Spangled Banner" will remain the national hymn. It isn't very good, but the people have fastened on it, and the substitutes offered are worse.

There are two reasons why 6,000,000 Democrats will not vote for Mr. Bryan this year as they did in 1896. The first reason is that they are tired of him, and the second is that there aren't that many Democrats any more.

A New York prophet predicts that when our fleet reaches mid-Pacific it will be met by the Japs; that we will be victorious, but that we will lose thirteen ships. If this man's brain were exposed to view it would be found to be crawling with bugs.

If, as Howard Gould asserts, his wife regularly drinks four cocktails each day before breakfast, and then souses herself up till bedtime with brandy, champagne and other kinds of booze, she must have frequently imagined that when she saw Howard she was looking at some kind of a bug.

MUST HAVE THESE.

No matter from what source the opposition comes or how many it involves, as time goes the whole country will soon see that the United States must insure peace by being well prepared for war. The programme mapped out by the President is the right one, and the sooner it is carried out to the letter the better it will be. In the end, the obstructionists will be the most unpopular men in America.

Only one valid objection could be raised to the President's plan. The only limit that should be placed to our preparation to enforce peace in the Pacific Ocean is our ability to foot the bill. The member of Congress who can prove that the whole scheme made out by Mr. Roosevelt cannot be carried out because the treasury will not bear the strain is on solid ground. All other arguments are without force.

The President wishes Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu, made a naval base so strong that it could defy any force to capture it. The plan is to fortify Manila Bay in like manner. Adequate protection is called for at all exposed points of importance on the Pacific Coast. These and four first-class battleships make up the excellent programme laid before Congress by the President.

If the expense can be met the work should be undertaken. Of course the country can do it, and will do it. The only question is how much of it should be provided for at the present session of Congress, how much during the coming fiscal year and how long a time is to be allotted for the completion of the undertaking. Distinctly it is our opinion that Congress could do nothing better than authorize the undertaking of these works in their entirety. If there is fear as to the treasury's ability to meet the cost in a year, spread it over two, or if necessary, over three years.

Modern warfare means a navy, a navy means coal, and coal means coaling stations. The radius of a ship's action is measured by the capacity of her coal bunkers. No ship can carry coal enough for a cruise across the Pacific Ocean and return with ability to maintain her position at any given station for any useful period of time. We have the Hawaiian and the Philippine groups of islands and here we can make naval bases strong enough to resist attack. We hope the country may never have to fire a hostile shot or to defend the territorial possessions on mainland or on the islands. But we do not hesitate for a moment to say that the only way to make this wish a reality is to carry out the plans of President Roosevelt with all convenient dispatch.

THE TARIFF AND PROSPERITY.

The Dingley Tariff act will have been in force more than ten years before it is revised. Indisputably, changed conditions have made changes in the schedules desirable. The only question for a couple of years has been whether the desirable changes outweigh in importance to business and the wage-earners of the country the inevitable interruption to business and the loss to wage-earners to follow from any disturbance of the tariff act.

During this time, as the industries of the country without important exception were all prospering and the working people were all employed at the highest general scale of wages ever known, The Times was a "stand-patter" on intelligent conviction that the time for revision had not come. Other influences than the tariff have decided that our racing prosperity shall not boom at so great speed for a while. This has called for a new consideration of the matter of revising the tariff act. We do not concede now that there is any crying necessity for revision, and contest the argument that revision will have any great influence in restoring our business interests to the conditions prevailing for so many years. This subject, however, will come before the National Republican Convention and the decision is pretty sure to be in favor of revision. Should this be the decision, it may be that no harm will come if the work of revision is properly done. While slack business conditions prevail may be the best time to do this work.

The right way to revise the tariff schedules is in the first place to do it promptly. The longer the agitation goes on the more business will be depressed. This proposition needs no discussion, because it admits of no intelligent contradiction. In our opinion Congress should do this revising, if it is to be done at all, next fall.

The second need in the revision of the tariff is to do the work so that the protection afforded to every industry in the country, and thus to the wage-earners of the country, shall not be impaired. This is vital to the Republican party and to the interests of all classes of the people.

Savings bank deposits are about the best index of general prosperity among the people. In 1894, under a partially free-trade tariff, the savings banks of the United States held deposits amounting to $1,777,833,242. Last year, after a period under the Dingley Act, the best protective tariff the country ever operated under, the savings bank deposits amounted to $3,495,410,037. Behold an increase in the spare wealth of the plain people of $1,717,576,795. It equals almost to a few dollars all the savings in 1894, and shows therefore an increase of nearly 100 per cent.

Take the last free-trade administration before the War of the Rebellion and in each year the Government revenues fell below the government expenses. Look at the last Democratic free-trade administration, and it will appear that the same conditions prevailed—the deficit being from $18,000,000 to $70,000,000 a year. Such a condition never arose under a Republican administration except in time of war or when Panama bonds were sold. In the meantime under Republican protective tariffs the country has paid off the national debt by millions and built the magnificent navy, besides providing for other important projects for the good of the country.

In the last year of Mr. Buchanan's Presidency under a free-trade tariff the wages paid in American manufactories amounted to $378,878,966. Ten years later under a Republican protective tariff the wages paid in this way amounted to $775,584,343, an increase of 100 per cent. again. Ten years more of protective tariff influence and this figure rose to almost $1,000,000,000, and in 1890 to nearly $2,000,000,000. Under the Dingley Tariff Act the wage-earners employed in American factories were paid in 1905 $2,611,540,532. The people working in factories in that year received in wages $2,232,661,566 more than in the last year of President Buchanan's term, when, under free trade, foreign manufacturers did nearly all our work, while our people stood idle or were glad to find employment at 75 cents to $1 a day.

Free trade means idle people, low wages, depleted savings banks. Protection means work for all at good wages, and savings banks whose vaults are bursting with the savings of a prosperous people.

We think that the gambling spirit of the present day has made men reckless, but they are positively reactionary compared to the gamblers of forty years ago. In 1864 there was a man in New York who laid a bet of $65,000 that George B. McClellan would be elected President.

The fact that he has been elected to office and that he afterwards got married may sufficiently explain why Mayor Taylor of San Francisco has ceased to write poetry.

There is danger that the sailors will overstep their shore leave when they reach San Francisco. The temptation to wander back to Los Angeles will be strong

WIG-WAGGING.

CHIEFS AND WARRANT OFFICERS.

Let us hope, now that Los Angeles has set the example, that other cities, whenever they have the duty of entertaining the navy, will remember that the duty is not fulfilled when entertainment has been provided of one kind and at certain places for the commissioned officers and at another for the enlisted men. There is another class as deserving of attention as any men who ever wore Uncle Sam's uniform, the chiefs and warrant officers, who never before have received recognition ashore.

Civilian failure to understand the various grades of the navy accounts for this. Many have never heard of warrant officers as such, and many who have, imagine that they are simply enlisted men with rank like that of sergeants and corporals in the army, thus confusing them with the petty officers. All know, of course, that there are necessarily highly-skilled mechanics on every ship, that there must be highly-trained men as foremen or superintendents in these various departments; many have a hazy idea that there are boatswains in the navy and that there are gunners and chief gunners; but few know anything of their real position in the service.

These are the men who comprise the force known as chiefs and warrant officers. They are not enlisted, but are appointed by the Navy Department. They cannot, under naval regulations, fraternize with the seamen as equals and they cannot attend the functions given to the commissioned officers. Most of them are promoted from the ranks, but among the chief carpenters and warrant machinists some are appointed directly from civil life. They are eligible for commissions, but few of the officers on the battleships have come up from warrant rank. They are well paid, highly respected and worthy of every attention that can be given them. Gentlemen they are, men of intelligence and refinement, who should be welcomed anywhere and who deserve to be remembered.

MURPHY—M'CARREN—BRYAN.

The way Mr. Murphy of Tammany Hall threw Hon. Patrick McCarren of Brooklyn into the discard was effective indeed, but the manner was not strictly in consonance with those high ideals in politics set forth by the Sage of Monticello so much belauded by the Jeffersonians since time out of mind.

Mr. Bryan is the expositor in these degenerate days of what Mr. Jefferson stood for in the golden age of real Democracy. Listen to the eloquent Nebraskan with a receptive mind and you will hardly escape the conclusion that he is the only living example of real Democracy alive. Should he die, the race would be as extinct as the dodo.

At the Democratic convention Mr. Bryan will have the time of his life to show how pure and good, how peerless he is in American politics.

Hon. Patrick McCarren may be in the discard now, but in the next deal he will reappear in the deck. At Denver Mr. Bryan will hold in his hands Mr. Murphy and his Tammany bunch of braves, and Hon. Patrick McCarren and his contesting delegation.

The Hon. Patrick got the tomahawk in the proper place in the New York convention. He is not dead, but still kicking, and will demand justice at the hands of the national convention. Will Mr. Bryan display the real qualities of a pure Jeffersonian patriot and see that justice prevails in Hon. Patrick McCarren's case, though all his own aspirations for nomination fall?

The Tammany leader has the big vote of New York neatly tied up in a bunch and has McCarren's scalp at his waistband. He will be in a position to offer to Bryan the vote of the Empire State for the privilege of being allowed to keep the scalp he took from Hon. Patrick's cranium.

Here is the opportunity for Spartan self-sacrifice, for upholding real Jeffersonian principles in politics. No doubt as to what the Sage of Monticello would do in the circumstances. With what lofty virtue he would spurn the vile offer of Tammany and with an eye single on the merits of the case say, "Hon. Patrick McCarren, sit here in the place of honor, and as for you Mr. Murphy, retro Satanas!" Would not the apostle of all that is true, beautiful and good in politics thus decide?

Come we now from master to disciple. What will be the decision of Mr. Bryan? On one side stand right, principle, Democracy in its pristine power and beauty incarnate in Hon. Patrick McCarren; on the other side stands Mr. Murphy with the vote of New York in his hand. The scene will be dramatic, the moment tense, yes, big with fate. But there is no doubt that the invitation will be given to Hon. Patrick to come into his own, the seats at the political feast, and that Mr. Murphy will be relegated to the realms of oblivion.

Justitia fiat.

WHEN THE SHIPS COME IN.

[By the author of "The Sunbonnet Babies."]

A faint, far feather of smoke in the south,
A cry of "They're coming," from every mouth.
Small white specks on the edge of the sky
Loom into battleships steaming by.
Shouts of welcome from myriad lips
Are borne by the breeze to the stately ships.
The blue below and the blue above
Unite in a wondrous clasp of love,
And hold the white ships silently
Till the sun sinks down in the western sea.
Slowly it sinks, a ball of fire,
Red as the blood of our country's sire,
And the white ships, stately, silent, true,
Are guarding the Red, the White and Blue.

HOROSCOPE.

Friday, April 24, 1908.

Three planets standing in triumvirate
Spell for these hours a happy-omened fate.

On this 115th day Mercury, Venus and Mars stand in benefic aspect to the twenty-three-day-old moon, and promise well to those who strive yet still maintain wise caution.

Deal this day with men engaged in the arts and sciences, or otherwise cunning with hand and brain. Experts and specialists of all kinds will give sound advice and good service.

Courtships, betrothals, weddings, entertainments, adornments, and all other affairs of woman are under auspicious signs.

Dealings with all men concerned with any profession that involves the wearing of uniforms or distinctive insignia should prosper.

Workers handling pointed or sharp instruments and tools may expect their labor to redound to profit in this period.

Courtship and marriage will come to the woman whose birthdate this is. If already wed, a marriage among those close to her will occasion a radical change in her life.

The man with this birthdate will have a successful business year, but an expensive one, and he will spend his salary too freely unless he limits the expenditures wisely early in the twelvemonth.

The girl born today will have a sunny, cheerful life with few crosses to bear.

The boy born today will be quick, clever and successful, but will not save money.

Congressional Rhetoric at Its Best.

Congressional rhetoric does not often attain a loftier or more graceful flight than in Representative Loud's speech on the Naval Appropriation Bill. Those who lament the deterioration of public oratory may take heart from this eloquent address. Mr. Loud's theme was the glory of the sea combats, and he did full justice to history. From the conquering galleys of the Phoenicians to the affair at Santiago he left no naval exploit untouched by his glowing fancy or unadorned by his copious vocabulary.

The triremes at Salamis, where Greek met Persian in mortal combat; Actium, with its 300 ships and 5000 men sacrificed to Mark Antony's fatal love for a siren queen; the death grapple of nations at Lepanto—Spain and Venice against the Turk, Christianity against the infidel Moor; the great Armada and its overwhelming; Nelson and the Nile; Trafalgar, where England fought for existence; the sea-roving of John Paul Jones, that "wrathful Achilles of the ocean;" the great deeds of 1812, the Constitution and the Guerriere, Lake Erie, where we met the enemy, and they were ours; the Monitor and the Merrimac, the cheesebox on a raft against the grim ironclad destroyer; Mobile Bay, where Farragut damned the torpedoes and went ahead; the Kearsarge and the Alabama; Manila Bay; the Texas and the "Don't cheer, boys!" of its gallant commander—no deed of naval renown was omitted from the chronicle.—[New York World.

The Calla.

A revival of the calla lily popularity is among the incidents of the Easter season worth mentioning. There was a time, some years ago, when this flower grew and blossomed in every florist's shop and in every dwelling-house where the raising of plants was undertaken. Then it passed from favor. Now it returns to find so many admirers that it is said there will hardly be enough calla lilies to meet the demand. Florists have not cultivated the calla into strange shapes. It is just the same serene, stately, pure and unbending presence that always characterized it, and for this alone it receives a renewed admiration.—[Boston Transcript.

Do We Fit Your Children

Bring the children to our shoe shop for shoes. We have specialists who fit children, selecting shoes that will give the maximum amount of wear together with the comfort and freedom necessary to the healthful development of children's feet. All our Children's Shoes are made on orthopedic lines. This means much to the future well being child. It means better shoes. Moderate prices prevail.

Urgent Sale
High Class Pianos

This is an opportunity you cannot afford to ignore a single day. We have on our floors one of the cleanest, most up to date stocks ever exhibited in Los Angeles, besides comprising pianos of superior construction, these are exceptionally fine values for class, including mahogany, oak, fumed oak, walnut, golden and simple weathered oak cases. The styles are so varied that every taste may be satisfied and at the same time gratify the most cultured musical taste.

We are forced to make room immediately for large shipments now on the way and can make concessions possible only under the most urgent circumstances.

During this week and next we will sell new pianos for $196, $450 pianos for $337, and all others at equally low prices. We must have the room and we must move out the present stock at a sacrifice.

Some Second Hand Pianos

We have no room on our floors for second hand pianos, though we take them when offered in order in part payment for the Stroud Piano. The popularity of this celebrated combination piano has resulted in a large number of exchange pianos than our floor space allows. If you want one now for $135, $145, $160 or $185, ranging in value up to $500, this is an opportunity which may never appear again.

The next ten days will be given over to fashioned bargain days at The Fitzgerald. Don't put it off, but call early for nice choice.

We Sell Pianos on the Most Liberal Credit Terms.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

An agent of Emma Goldman, oratorical firebrand of the reds, sought a permit for her to speak in Los Angeles. He met with a hitch at City Hall.

City taxes are paid in at a lively rate; only three days remain before the penalty becomes operative.

That Milton T. Hancock never was divorced legally from his first wife, and that Mrs. Nina Little Hancock and her children are not lawful heirs to his estate, was asserted in Judge Rives's court yesterday by John Philip Hancock and Mrs. Mollie H. McNatt, who seek to determine their own property rights.

J. W. Belding was a witness for the people, yesterday, in Miss Ruby Casselman's trial in Judge Smith's court on a forgery charge, and denied her story absolutely. John Fallows testified that Mrs. Alice Martin told him she had lied to save Miss Casselman from the penitentiary.

Justice Selph yesterday dismissed the charge of assault with a deadly weapon lodged against Walter Hall and Walter Lappen of Hines station, who had wounded a member of a charivari party on April 6.

AT THE CITY HALL.

RED EMMA MAY NOT RANT HERE.

LOCAL AGENT SEEKS A PERMIT FOR "AMUSEMENT."

City Clerk's Office Refers Applicant to City Attorney for Opinion as to Right to Issue Needed Authority, but no Answer Is Given—Last Lap on Tax Payments.

"Red Emma" Goldman, firebrand of the anarchists, wants to rant in Los Angeles but may not get a chance.

Yesterday afternoon the office of the City Clerk was visited by Job Harriman, local representative of the reds, who applied for an "amusement" license for the woman.

The license clerk was in doubt as to his duty in the matter. He referred Harriman to the City Attorney; the City Attorney is absent on a vacation, and Deputy Schenk was engaged in other duties. On the next call Harriman was referred to Deputy Haas, who declined to give an opinion, as such questions belong to Mr. Schenk. Harriman declared he would call later on both the City Clerk and the City Attorney, but he failed to appear up to the time of closing the offices last night.

A city official said:

"In order to protect the city at this particular juncture, it is to be hoped that the license will be refused, and that the ears of the loyal men of the greatest fleet on the seas will not be insulted with denunciation of the government, especially in the city that has bid them come and be its guests. If 'Red Emma' doesn't like it, she has a way of finding out her rights. Let Los Angeles be the city to call a halt in her advocacy of plunder and murder."

Money Coming in.

City Tax Collector Johnson announced last evening that the day's collections were $50,000, and $70,000 on Wednesday. Three days yet remain for the payment of taxes without penalty.

Faithful Commissioner.

Notwithstanding the arduous duties of Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, in connection with the fleet receptions, he has made it his business to look in upon the Board of Public Works each day. Gen. Chaffee's presence, as the first representative of the Army of the United States, has been demanded not only in the local functions, but each town along the Coast has felt that he must be at their tables to help receive the admiral. And he has been there, an honored and entertaining guest.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

QUEER MASS OF CONTRADICTIONS.

CONFUSING DEVELOPMENTS IN CASSELMAN CASE.

Girl Accused of Forgery Sticks to Her Story, but Witnesses Deny Each Others' Statements Fluently. Head of Telegraph School Disclaims Any Connection With Check.

"I never saw a single one of these forged checks until now, and I deny absolutely any part, directly or indirectly, in these forgeries. I am not in the forgery business," said J. W. Belding when he was called as a witness for the people, yesterday afternoon, in Miss Ruby Casselman's trial on the charge of forging F. W. Blanchard's name to a $56 check on December 31.

The man whom Miss Casselman accuses of having perpetrated part of the forgeries attributed to her, gave his testimony in a most emphatic manner.

"Miss Casselman was absent from my school on the morning of December 31," he said, thus contradicting the story told by witnesses for the defense. "I did not know she was on probation when she entered my school. I never employed her as a teacher, or paid her any money whatever. She paid me $50 on December 13 as part payment on an interest in the school. Miss Thorn was a pupil of mine, but I never sent her to any bank to cash any check."

"Mrs. Alice Martin told us both in her own home that she had lied once to save Miss Casselman, her foster daughter, from the penitentiary," testified Mr. and Mrs. John Fallows, neighbors of the Martins. "She said that she would never do it again. We employed Miss Casselman to do housework for us, but we found that she was taking things, and so we sold some of the furniture that she had placed in the house. We afterward paid $9 for it to her attorney."

"I never made any such statement to the Fallows," testified Mrs. Martin. "I am ready to face them anywhere. They had trouble with me over pillows they didn't pay for."

The testimony introduced by the defense was intended to show that J. W. Belding was responsible for the forgery of all the checks presented at banks, and Miss Mabel Wilson, now in Nebraska, was indirectly accused of forging all the checks presented at department stores. Four checks, to which H. W. Martin says his name was forged in October and November, 1907, were presented by Miss Casselman's counsel.

"Miss Wilson was an inmate of my home and had free access to all parts of it during the time when these checks were forged," said Mr. Martin. Miss Casselman's foster father. His wife, Mrs. Alice Martin, testified that Miss Wilson took her luncheon at the house alone on many occasions. A strong effort was made to show that the person presenting the checks to the store clerks was dressed as the Martins said Miss Wilson was.

Martin said that he had paid one forged $10 check, which he at first repudiated. He intimated that Miss Wilson may have forged it.

Miss Casselman's continued cross-examination, which occupied the entire morning session, developed a number of contradictions in her story. She showed some emotion when she was questioned as to the contents of a letter she wrote to her aunt, Mrs. Anna Halliwell, of Winnipeg, Man., asking for information as to her father's treatment of her mother. In this letter, which was read in part, she said that her father had tried to make her marry a man she did not love, and that he had treated her cruelly, as he had treated her mother before her birth.

At first the defendant denied having read her aunt's reply to a letter asking whether the latter had sent her a $50 draft early in December. Later she admitted that she had read it. Then she said that she had received a $50 draft from Canada, and that it had been cashed for her by a Mr. Wuertzberger, whose whereabouts she did not know now.

"Until Mr. Brown took my case I never told any one about Mr. Belding's part in this matter," continued Miss Casselman. "Mr. Bitzer wanted to put in an insanity defense, and so I did not tell him about Belding's actions. Mr. Belding paid me $10 weekly salary as a teacher in his school. He paid me $30 early in December."

W. H. Hyden, Mrs. Ellen Rathbun, Miss Fannie Davis, Misses Amelia and Marie Schragg, Mrs. Ella Brown and E. Judson Brown were witnesses for the defense on matters connected with former testimony.

Arguments of counsel will be heard this afternoon probably.

WHO ARE HIS HEIRS?

INVENTOR'S ESTATE AT STAKE.

Charges that Milton T. Hancock, inventor of a disc plow, was never legally divorced from his first wife, Mrs. Nancy Hires Hancock, whom he married in Georgia in December, 1877, and deserted in 1886, were made in Judge Rives's court yesterday by John Philip Hancock and Mrs. Mollie H. McNatt, children by his first marriage.

To depositions presented yesterday during the contest to determine heirship to their father's large estate, his children stated that Nina Little, whom Hancock married in Hunchad county, Arkansas, in August, 1886, and with whom he lived afterward until his death in an automobile accident in Los Angeles in July, 1905, is not his lawful widow and that neither she nor her children, Milton T. Hancock, Jr., Newton Hancock and Eugenia Hancock, are heirs to the estate, which consists of about $30,000 in personal property, and royalties amounting to $50,000 yearly.

"Mr. Hancock had told me that he had secured a divorce from his first wife," testified the second one, who has since married a Mr. Nicholson. "For many years after our marriage we lived in Shreveport, La., and I always believed that our marriage was a legal one."

The deposition of Mrs. Mollie H. McNatt, who now lives in North Carolina, stated that when she was about 9 years old, her father deserted her mother in Georgia, although his first wife had always been kind and loyal to him, and that in July, 1890, her father kidnaped her and her brother.

"I was placed in St. Vincent's Academy until 1896," the deposition continues, "and at intervals I lived in my father's home, where I was treated as a servant and obliged to do the housework. My father never stated to me that he had been divorced from my mother, nor did he ever give me any reason for leaving her. My mother's troubles so wore on her mind that she died in an insane asylum in June, 1902. My father frequently sent her money for her support, and he knew that I never regarded Mrs. Little Hancock as his lawful wife. My father sent money to pay the burial expenses of my mother."

Depositions were also presented from the Georgia Justice of the Peace, J. W. Williams, who married Hancock to his first wife, and from the clerks of Chatham, Baldwin, Brooks and Thomas counties, Ga., who testified that there is no record of a divorce.

Relatives and friends of the first wife testified that they never knew Hancock's reasons for deserting her, nor that he had ever secured a divorce from her.

CHARIVARI ROW.

SHOTGUN USERS FREED.

"Down our way it is the custom to hold a charivari at newly-married couples' homes until they come out and invite us in to treat us," said Claude E. Reeves of Hynes station, in Justice Selph's court yesterday. He was explaining how he happened to receive a charge of shot in his legs on the evening of April 6. Walter Hall and his brother-in-law, Walter Lappen, were being examined on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, preferred by Reeves's father.

"Hall never warned us that he didn't want us to serenade him," continued the witness, "Carl Vandeveer, Harold Sharp, Ted Carter, Sam Carter and myself went to his house that evening, each carrying an empty five-gallon oil can. One of us had a cow bell. We went into the yard and went around the corner of the house, intending to circle it beating the cans, but Hall and Lappen came out and fired at us. I got about 150 bird shot in the legs, and the other fellows didn't get hurt. We turned around then and got out of the yard.

The defendants testified that when they heard the beating of cans, they went outside and fired their guns into the air. Hall said that he had warned the boys not to visit his home because his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lappen, was suffering from heart trouble and must not be disturbed. Mrs. Hall, the bride, testified that she heard a noise and the two gun shots, but she knew nothing more about the matter.

Justice Selph dismissed the case.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

CHILDS ACQUITTED. Dennett Childs was found by a jury in Judge Conrey's court not guilty of registering illegally at Ocean Park last September. Next Monday he will be placed on trial again on the charge of having induced other persons to register illegally at the beach city.

"THE RABBIT'S" TERM. Eighteen years in San Quentin was the sentence imposed by Judge James yesterday on the negro, Louis Harris, known as "The Rabbit." He was convicted last week of having assaulted and robbed a Chinaman. He was taken north last night.

NONSUIT. Judge Bordwell yesterday granted a nonsuit in J. H. Jones's $18,000 damage action against the Pacific Electric Railroad Company for injuries alleged to have been sustained in a collision at Willows station between the plaintiff's team and a car.

HORSE STEALING. Truman Hubbard, alias E. Dyer, and John Severs were committed to the County Jail yesterday by Justice Summerfield, in default of $1500 bail each. They will be tried in the Superior Court on a charge of selling a hired team of horses.

LAND DEAL. Judge Houser yesterday heard evidence in Matthew Baines's suit against E. S. Shank to recover $2500 alleged paid on a purchase of ten acres of Merced county land and to set aside the contract of sale. The plaintiff asserts that Shank falsely represented the land to have a plentiful water supply for irrigation, and exhibited to him a map that had never been filed in accordance with the statutes. The charges are denied.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk yesterday by the Auto Messenger Company, capital stock $1,000,000; the Merchants' National Union, capital stock, $25,000; the Cultivator Publishing Company, capital stock, $40,000, and the Uintah Oil Company, capital stock, $500,000. The Order of Pendo filed a certificate of change of name to Fraternal Champions.

COMMISSION. Judge Hutton yesterday gave judgment for C. P. Stewart in his suit against O. H. Burbridge and E. J. Owens to recover $1666 commission on a sale of rights in a patent process of sugar manufacture. Stewart asserted that he sold the defendants' rights to C. S. Hutchinson in May, 1907, on an agreement with the defendants that he was to be paid a commission. They denied his assertions.

GUARDIANSHIP. On counsel's motion, Judge Wilbur yesterday continued until Monday the hearing on the petitions of Mrs. V. Gutsch and Mrs. A. Jauch for the guardianship of Anna White, T. Jeff White's daughter.

COLLISION CASE. George M. Chenoweth yesterday filed in the Superior Court a $25,000 damage suit against the Pacific Electric and the Salt Lake for personal injuries alleged to have been received in a collision on January 20 between a trolley car and a railroad train.

BROTHER'S PETITION. William Forbes yesterday filed in the Superior Court a petition to be appointed guardian of his brother, George W. Forbes, who is confined in a sanatorium.

TO GET TITLE. J. E. Counts yesterday filed in the Superior Court against H. M. Anslen a suit to get title to real estate. The plaintiff alleges that Anslen secured this property from J. St. John on April 14 by unlawfully trading for it Counts's equity in a $2500 rooming-house at No. 137½ South Broadway.

NO APPROPRIATION. Chief Deputy District-Attorney Shaw yesterday advised the Supervisors that they cannot legally appropriate $400, as requested by officers of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of South Pasadena, for the needs of that society, but that they can pay for the maintenance of children at the home who are county charges.

WILL CONTEST. Alleging that Mrs. Mary Dreer of Pasadena was of unsound mind and unduly influenced by her principal heir, Miss Augusta N. Dreer, Walter F. Volkmar, a grandson, yesterday filed in the Superior Court a contest of the will disposing of a $50,000 estate. Mrs. S. D. Volkmar, a daughter, received $1000, which she bequeathed to her son, the contestant.

CHEERFUL.

COLLEGE WOMEN IN CONVENTION.

PROSPEROUS CONDITIONS MAKE REUNION HAPPY.

California Grand Chapter of the P.E.O. Holds Fifth Annual Meeting. Many Surprises Expected When Balloting for Officers Takes Place. Reports Presented.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning, the fifth annual convention of the California Grand Chapter of the P.E.O., the national college women's sorority, opened at the Ebell Club House. Miss Martha Winans, State president, called the meeting to order, and presided at three sessions held during the day.

Two hundred and fifty members from all parts of the State attended. Mrs. Carrie Peterson, national president of the sorority, and Mrs. Lillian Parmele, chairman of the national educational department, made addresses last night.

President Winans and the two distinguished visitors were showered with flowers as they appeared on the platform. The reunion opened most happily. The prosperous condition of the order and the successful year just closed caused everybody to be in a cheerful frame of mind, and the cordial greetings of old schoolmates gave the meeting the appearance of a homecoming rather than a formal convention.

The names of the delegates from the State chapters are: Escondido, Miss Halliday; University, Mrs. Brown; East Los Angeles, Miss Adams; Westlake, Mrs. Potter; Pasadena, Mrs. Hamilton; Long Beach, Mrs. Rominger; Redondo, Miss Dickson; Highland Park, Mrs. Wright; Riverside, Mrs. Lewis; San Diego, Mrs. Bentley; Glendale, Mrs. Russell; Monrovia, Mrs. Bowerman; Alhambra, Miss Woodward; Pomona, Miss Sanborn; Hollywood, Miss Smith; Santa Monica, Miss McLaughlin; Orange, Mrs. Smith. Palo Alto and Berkeley are the only chapters that did not send delegates.

Today the election of officers will be held. There is much secrecy over the matter, and surprises in the balloting are expected.

The morning session yesterday was devoted to routine. Reports for the past year were made by the following State officers and committees: Mrs. Rose Shelton of Long Beach, Mrs. Russell of Glendale, vice-presidents; Miss Dickson of Redondo, recording secretary; Mrs. Johnson of Riverside, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Garrett of Los Angeles, treasurer; Mrs. Joyce of Los Angeles, organizer; Mrs. Bentley, committee on dispensations; Mrs. Garrett, committee on supreme convention; Mrs. Eastman committee on entertainment; Mrs. Yost, committee on memorials; Mrs. Shelton, committee certificates of recognition.

At noon a luncheon was served to the delegates by the Westlake chapter, under the direction of Miss Hurd. The afternoon session was occupied by the following programme: Piano quartette, East Los Angeles chapter; greetings, Mrs. Willets J. Hole, first vice-president, Ebell Club, Mrs. F. E. Prior, president, Wednesday Morning Club, Mrs. S. R. Tolhurst, president, Friday Morning Club; vocal solo, Mrs. Carrie S. Freeman; reading, Miss Wilhelminia Wilkes; address, Mrs. Lillian Parmele; piano solo, Miss Lillian Stanton; reading, Miss Gertrude Hards; piano solo, Miss Bertha Snider; reading, Miss Mabel Ferris; address, Mrs. Rose Shelton; vocal solo, Miss Ione Garfield.

The Westlake chapter served tea at 5 o'clock. The evening session opened at 8 o'clock. Music was rendered by the East Los Angeles chapter and a vocal octette composed of members of the Glendale chapter sang. Different phases of the sorority work were discussed.

The convention will close tonight with a formal reception in the Ebell Club parlors. This afternoon Mrs. Lillian Parmele will explain the plan of the national educational fund just created.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

TO NORTH AND EAST OF KERN.

INDICATIONS THAT OIL COMES FROM THESE DIRECTIONS.

Increase in Output of Wells in Those Portions of Field—New Publication Shows Number of Wells in Over Thirteen Hundred, and Many Strings Running.

W. S. Morton, who is down from Bakersfield, says much interest is being taken in the northern and eastern parts of Kern River district, where the output shows a tendency to increase. Mr. Morton says there are indications that the additional oil is working its ways into the present field from these directions. The wells at the edge of the belt are producing more.

There are practically no wells north of sections 28, 29, and 30 and east of 28 and 33, with very few on the northeastern quarter of 28. The few drilled went to but slight depths and found a very heavy petroleum. Mr. Morton has been prospecting for miles to the north and says he has found surface indications at various points for fifteen miles. One well was sunk to a great depth near Poso Creek years ago and failed to make good. Mr. Morton says, however, he learns that it went through the same sand as is found in Kern River at about 1200 feet, the depth at which it is struck in the established belt. This is some four miles from the field.

Mr. Morton has just leased for himself the twenty acres and one well of the Vulcan Oil and Refining Company on section 8, in the extreme south of the field, where he intends to drill and also to clean out and pump the existing well. It has been neglected for a long time.

New Map of Fields.

A new guide book of the Kern county and Coalinga districts has just been issued by Barlow and Hill, of Bakersfield, and printed by the Times-Mirror Company. It contains the most up-to-date maps of Kern River, Sunset-Midway and McKittrick in Kern county, the last including Temblor and Coalinga. The list of companies gives the name, address of principal office and name of manager of each, with location of all property, and the maps show the exact number of wells on every section.

A general summarized statement is given of each district. For Kern River it is stated that there are 1303 completed wells, 50 strings drilling; daily production, 30,000 barrels; 6500 proven acres, 60 per cent. of it drilled; gravity of product, 11 to 14 Baume, Standard's storage about 10,000,000 barrels, with all other storage empty and shipments exceeding production by 25 per cent.; production to date over 100,000,000 barrels.

Coalinga: Proven acreage, 12,000, with daily production 23,000 barrels; 96 new wells drilling, 9 old wells being deepened, 316 producing on February 1, 1908; gravity 12 to 25, depth 70 to 3300 feet, and storage has never reached 100,000 barrels.

McKittrick: One hundred and seventy-two wells completed and 36 strings running, 2500 acres proven and many thousands probably oil-bearing; daily yield 6000 barrels and all shipped as fast as produced.

Sunset: Three thousand proven acres, 164 wells, and 20 strings working; daily production 8000 barrels, gravity 10 to 16 Baume; best railroad oil in the world.

Midway: Six thousand proven acres and prospective acreage, making it the largest field in the State; daily output 3000 barrels, gravity 14 to 24, which is the highest in Kern county.

More Prospecting in Kern.

Rigs are going up on the eastern part of section 28 in Kern River, ownership of which land is credited to the Kern River Oil Company. It is understood that the development is by others who have acquired it recently. W. S. Boggs, manager of the Imperial and Thirty-three, is credited with being the head of the syndicate, or company. The land is on the northeastern edge of the proven belt and successful wells here will be practically a substantial extension of the field.

ATTORNEY ARRAIGNED.

Wife Charges Failure to Provide for Their Little Girl—Second Complaint Against Him.

J. C. Crouch, an attorney, accused of battery by his wife, several days ago, was yesterday arrested on a second warrant charging failure to provide.

Mrs. Crouch alleges that he deserted her four years ago and has since refused to provide for their little girl. Recently she went to his office and asked him for money. They quarreled and Mrs. Crouch swore to a complaint against her husband.

There were no witnesses to the alleged assault and a second complaint was issued yesterday, charging failure to provide. Crouch was arrested and arraigned in Police Court.

DEPARTURE OF FLEET.

way will run cars every hour tonight and every five minutes after 5 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Santa Fé railroad will send special trains over its line to Redondo, while the Southern Pacific will dispatch a long train to Santa Monica, leaving Arcade station at 7:15 a.m. tomorrow, stopping at Winthrop and University, within easy reach of the people in the southern and southwestern portions of the city. This train will leave Santa Monica on the return trip at 11 a.m.

Many people who wish to avoid the rush tomorrow morning have already gone to the beach towns and others will follow throughout today.

UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY.

The early departure will afford a unique chance to see the fleet under different circumstances than on its arrival. The great vessels came when a glorious day was at its full; they will brave anchor when the dawn is breaking in splendor and the sixteen will form into column at an hour when the California day has awakened into colorful life, when the mist has disappeared before the rising sun, and ocean, mountain and mesa afford a wondrous spectacle, second only to that of the white fleet itself.

Just as the cliffs at San Pedro afforded a vast open-air theater for the multitude which saw the war vessels appear from out the warm haze of the afternoon, so the high bluffs at Santa Monica will be an immense natural auditorium, where all Southern California may take its fill of the impressive picture of sixteen stately battleships sailing away on their mission of peace. All along the shore, from beyond the Palisades to south of Clifton-by-the-Sea, a splendid view can be obtained of the entire fleet as it steams in column formation.

Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica will, of course, be the best places to see the maneuvering, while the junction of the four dividends at Redondo will afford a spectacle as striking.

And when the fleet has passed across the bay, when it has given Redondo, Hermosa, Playa del Rey, Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica a duplicate of the marine spectacle which entraced San Pedro, Long Beach, Huntington Beach, Newport and Balboa last Saturday, the saddest sight on the ocean front will be the girl Jack has left behind him.

GEN. E. P. JOHNSON DEAD.

End Comes After Protracted Ill Health of Man Long in the Business Life of Los Angeles.

Gen. E. P. Johnson, for thirty-two years a resident of Los Angeles, most of that time president of the Los Angeles Furniture Company, died at 10 o'clock last night at the residence of his son, E. P. Johnson, Jr., No. 837 West Twenty-eighth street. Though he had been in poor health for several years, his death was due principally to an attack of erysipelas of only a few days' duration. Members of the family include the widow, two daughters, Miss Sada Johnson and Mrs. Charles H. Dick, and two sons, E. P. Johnson, Jr., and Capt. Benjamin Johnson, all of Los Angeles. The funeral will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Twenty-eighth street residence.

Gen. Johnson was born at Sparta, Ind., sixty-five years ago, and as a youth served throughout the Civil War, being adjutant-general on the staff of Gen. George H. Thomas during the last two years of the conflict. He came to Los Angeles with his family in 1876, from St. Paul, Minn., where he had been engaged in the wholesale boot and shoe business. For seven years after his arrival he was interested in the mining business, and from 1883 to 1905 he was president of the Los Angeles Furniture Company, retiring because of ill health. Several trips abroad since his retirement afforded him temporary relief from a chronic ailment, but he was unable again to enter business.

In the life and growth of the city, Gen. Johnson had an active part. He was a charter member of the Chamber of Commerce and of the California Club, was a member of the Companionship of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, and was a Mason.

POSTOFFICE DANCE.

There was a large attendance at the whist party and dance given by the postoffice employés at Goldberg's Hall last night. Laletsky's Orchestra furnished music, and light refreshments were served. The Committee of Arrangements was: J. E. Vandiver, E. L. Brogden, George Swain, J. W. Wetmore, R. C. Streshly, L. W. Olmstead, Ivy Overholtzer, G. W. Wright, W. Newman and J. F. Bourne.

Cordial Function for Two of the Clergy.

Farewell Reception Joined With Greetings.

Old Rector and New Receive at Pro-Cathedral.

A loving farewell to the going rector and warm greetings to his successor characterized the function at the parish house of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral last evening.

The affair was a compliment to Rev. Dean Wilkins, the beloved dean, who has resigned to take up other work for the church, and to Rev. William MacCormack, the brilliant Pasadena clergyman, who is to become dean in the rector's place.

There was a large and notable gathering of people from all walks of life. The receiving party consisted of Dr. and Mrs. Wilkins, Rev. William MacCormack, Bishop and Mrs. Johnson and Rev. L. M. Idleman. For two hours a stream of friends passed before them.

It was a social evening at St. Paul's. While a ladies' orchestra played, refreshments were served, and the scene was animated. It was an excellent opportunity for Dean Wilkins to find out how much his people esteem him, and for the new rector to become acquainted. A large number of the clergy of the diocese presented themselves.

DR. WILKINS.

THE MAN AND HIS WORK.

In the departure of the Very Rev. J. J. Wilkins, D.D., rector of St. [Paul's] Protestant Episcopal Church and dean of the pro-cathedral, this city stands to lose one of its most successful and useful citizens. Los Angeles is full of big things, to distinguished those who carve out for themselves true careers. Among the successful [men] may point of view Dr. Wilkins [stands] in the foremost ranks. The [work] of the pro-cathedral is not only [that] of a man in this community but he [is] distinguished for his acquirements [and] native talent in the priesthood of [the] church, not wanting in men of dis[tinction].

He has been a busy week for this beloved pastor, now severing his connection with a flock which he has [guided] so devotedly for a period of [nearly] years. Dr. Wilkins's activities have been manifold. In addition to his [duties] in the parish he has been all [these] years the first vice-president of the Hospital of the Good Samaritan. The beloved was he there that the [trustees] and other attaches presented him with a beautiful gold watch as a [token] of appreciation of the services rendered that institution. They [also] gave to Dr. Wilkins a beautifully illuminated testimonial setting forth the value of what he has done [for] them in this hospital. His flock [also] presented him with a beautiful [cross] and chain, and the diocese entertained Dr. Wilkins yesterday at the Lankershim [with] a luncheon in which his services were incidentally extolled and a beautiful gold cross was presented by the clergy to their confrere [before] they leave the diocese.

Dr. Wilkins came to St. Paul's parish seven years ago from La Crosse, Wis., where he had carried on for [many] years a successful work. He found St. Paul's in debt, in distraction and in discord. The parish at that time numbered barely half a thousand members. During Dr. Wilkins's [pastorate] it has presented to the [bishop] of the diocese at different times [a class] of 400 candidates for confirmation and has baptized as many as 600 members into the parish. His communicant list at the present time [is over] 1200.

During [all] the material affairs of the important church organization, we [find] in the rear of the church proper a substantial, well planned, convenient and well arranged parish house, a brick structure of basement and three stories [and] 100 feet across the entire width of the lot, erected through the rector's [efforts] at a cost of $50,000. During the seven years the offerings presented upon the altar of this church [have] been in round numbers $190,000. Not [quite] $14,000 of this money was [the result] of free will offerings given [each] week outside of the parish. When [it is] considered that at the beginning of the administration of Dr. Wilkins the [parish] was in debt, that it is now [practically] clear of debt, that a parish [house] was erected at so great a cost, [and] the entire church practically reconstructed, beautifully decorated and many other expensive improvements carried on, the giving of [the] average of $3000 a year for outside work, is certainly a grand achievement [and] reflects the grandest of all, [the] character a Christian spirit utterly opposite of the selfish narrowness often observed in church organizations which live only for themselves.

Dr. Wilkins's departure from Los Angeles is very much regretted not [only] by his own large flock, but by [the] thousands of persons in this city [who] knew him and held him in high [esteem] for the unfaltering qualities of mind and spirit which he has [displayed]. Sound common sense, one [might] say, is the distinguishing quality of the man. This appears in the [choice] of service for which St. Paul's [is noted]. It divides exactly on the [line] between the overzealous advocates of ritualism of some parishes in [the] church and the bald, inartistic [services] sometimes found in other [parishes]. The services there are certainly [those] of the prayer book of the Church, [which] directs, in an orderly and sensible manner. There is a dignified air about the services that has commended them to the hard-headed business men who so often see nothing [of] beauty about church services. The [Dean] of St. Paul's, developed under [his] immediate care, is of [a] character, known among men of this [type] as the church as thoroughly [human] in its type. As a preacher, Dr. Wilkins has a strong vein of common sense and thorough sanity running through all his deliverances. Of [the] qualities of his sermons, a master [of] English and scrupulous accuracy [in] diction and his preaching have [been] of exceedingly salutary effect upon the community. He has stood [not] only in the highest ideals of [life] but in the doctrines of his [church]. Dr. Wilkins's hold upon his people is perhaps natural as [the] result of years up to maturer [life] of his business on his own account. This has given him an insight into business men's methods which has [enabled] him wisely to direct the personal energies of many men, [to] give style of contact with men, [and] style of appeal which he has [chosen] from his pulpit.

Whether in the bishop's church, or [in] Paul's in the bishop's church, or known generally, the pro-cathedral [is] an independent parish, its [rector] is placed at the command [of] the bishop. This important position [which] Wilkins's direction has been [filled] in such a way that St. [Paul's] may be said to be in music, in services and in doctrine an example to the whole diocese.

In addition to the church and its services there is a large Sunday-school of several hundred members attached, served by a full and excellent corps of devoted teachers. The societies that usually are organized in Episcopal parishes are all represented at St. Paul's and all are active, progressive and effective. Dr. Wilkins, in referring to his seven years' career at St. Paul's, now at the eve of his departure, speaks with great affection of the aid he has had from the Sunday-school teachers, the members of the different societies, and particularly from his assistant, the Rev. W. H. Dyer, who was at St. Paul's when Dr. Wilkins first came there, and the Rev. L. M. Idleman, who has been curate to the parish for about two years past.
The general community will naturally ask why Dr. Wilkins leaves St. Paul's. His acquirements and talents are widely known in the church, which has called him to a broader field of usefulness. At the triennial convention held at Richmond, Va., in October of last year an enterprise was set on foot with the purpose of raising a fund of $1,000,000, the interest from which is to be devoted to the care of aged and infirm clergymen who have spent their years of strength and usefulness in work for the church and are no longer able either to serve their church or provide for the necessities of themselves and their families. Dr. Wilkins was selected for secretary of the association which has undertaken this stupendous task. He was chosen from the knowledge the clergy and distinguished laymen of this ecclesiastical body had of Dr. Wilkins's faculties, energy and devotion marking him as the man of all men to raise this fund for this important purpose. Dr. Wilkins's parishioners are exceedingly sorry to lose the services of a man of so much ability and charm of character. It is well known that for four full months the doctor's mind has been torn apart on this side and on that between his love for his work in Los Angeles, and his sense of duty to the church at large. It was only after careful consideration of the matter, weighing it in every way, that he finally decided his duty lay in the broader and more important field.

SCHOOL MUDDLE PROBLEM.

Investigation by Joint Committee May Begin Next Week—League Appointees Reluctant.

The joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and Municipal League, which is to investigate the financial muddle of the city school administration, will hold its first meeting early next week, if the Municipal League supplies its quota. It is stated that several appointees of the league are reluctant to serve.
Secretary Zschandelmar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, announced yesterday the appointment of James W. Long, Frank Simpson and D. A. Hamburger to represent the association. Last week President Stewart named H. S. McKee, W. C. Patterson and Charles Forman as the representatives of the Chamber of Commerce.

TAPPING CORCORAN WATER.

Work on the Sugar Factory for That Town Goes Forward With Rapidity.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]
CORCORAN, April 23.—About 175 tons of refinery machinery for the sugar factory has arrived in the past few days form Llewellyn Iron Works in Los Angeles. Many pieces weigh from ten to thirteen tons each, and are the largest single castings ever made on the Coast. A large force of machinists is installing this, and the balance of the machinery which will put the finishing touches on the plant. Eighteen carloads of lime rock and many cars of coke to be used in factory operations have arrived. Drilling on the deep artesian wells, from which five million gallons of water necessary every day for the running of the factory will be produced, is being pushed night and day, and strong flows are being developed, especially in the lower levels.

DEATH OF MRS. JACOBY.

Mrs. Nathan Jacoby, wife of the head of the firm of Jacoby Brothers, died at the Good Samaritan Hospital yesterday morning, after a protracted illness. Mrs. Jacoby was well and favorably known in the city and was a member of the Friday Morning Club and active in Jewish charitable circles. The deceased was a native of Germany and had been a resident of this city for twenty-six years. Beside her husband, she leaves two sons, Morris and Grover Jacoby, and one daughter, Miss Rita Jacoby. She was aged 50 years. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the family residence, No. 739 South Hope street, Dr. S. Hecht being the officiating rabbi.

The Swine and the Flower

Oh me! I saw a huge and loathsome sty,
Wherein a drove of wallowing swine were barred,
Whose banquet shocked the nostril and the eye;
Then spoke a voice, "Behold the source of LARD!"

I fled, and saw a field that seemed at first
One glistening mass of roses pure and white,
With dewy buds 'mid dark green foliage nursed;
And as I lingered o'er the lovely sight,
The summer breeze that cooled that Southern scene,
Whispered, "Behold the source of COTTOLENE!"

Nature's Gift from the Sunny South

COTTOLENE is a pure and wholesome frying and shortening medium, made from refined cottonseed oil. There is not an ounce of hog fat in it to make food unwholesome, greasy and indigestible. As evidence of its superiority, COTTOLENE received Grand Prize (highest possible award) at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition; and Gold Medals (also representing highest awards in each case) at the Charleston Exposition, the Paris Exposition, and the Chicago World's Fair. In fact, in every case wherever COTTOLENE has been exhibited in competition with other cooking fats, it has invariably been granted the highest award.

RALLY.

BIG DAY FOR REPUBLICANS.

CAUCUS AND MASS MEETING AT PASADENA NEXT WEEK.

Battleships Plainly Visible from Summit of Mount Wilson—Work on Trails Progresses Rapidly—Board of Trade Arranges for Annual Banquet—Salvation Army Hall Opened.

Office of The Times, No. 36 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, April 24.—Saturday, May 2, will be a big day for Pasadena Republicans. It is planned to hold a caucus in the afternoon and in the evening a big mass meeting at Woodmen Hall. At this rally prominent speakers from various parts of the State will be heard.

Plans for this meeting and caucus were begun yesterday when officers of the Pasadena Republican Club met. The caucus will name candidates for election as delegates at the Republican primaries on May 5, who will go to the State Republican Convention at Sacramento May 14. They will also represent Pasadena at the convention which nominates a Congressman.

The caucus will be held in this city as follows: Sixty-seventh District, to be called to order by E. E. Webster, or person designated by him, to nominate seven candidates for delegates. Sixty-ninth District, to be called to order by D. S. Burson, Jr., and one candidate for a delegate to be nominated.

SEE FLEET IN NIGHT.

The fleet was plainly visible last night from the summit of Mount Wilson. Between sixty and seventy guests at the hotel were out on Observatory point, and every battleship could easily be seen. The heavy glare of the searchlights of the ships could be distinguished, and when the lights were pointed toward Catalina their rays on the water and island were clearly distinguished. The night was one of the clearest noticed by Manager Fred Ross since he took charge of the hotel. The recent rain is said to be responsible for the transparency of the atmosphere.

One of the largest parties on the peak is a class of twenty-five students from the Los Angeles Polytechnic High School. It preserved its identity by writing the names in German on the register.

Work on the repair of the trail under the direction of Superintendent Louis Newcomb is progressing rapidly, and construction is completed two miles above the half-way house. Nearly two weeks more will be required to complete the work.

TO COMPLETE ARRANGEMENTS.

As only one month more remains of his term of office, C. D. Sargent, who recently sold his shoe store in this city, will not resign as president of the Board of Trade. He states that he will not stand for reelection nor allow his name to be placed in nomination, as he believes that although he lives in Pasadena, his business being in Los Angeles bars him from accepting office. For this reason the advocates a local man for the place. For the past five years he has been closely associated with the Merchants' Association and Board of Trade, having acted as president of both as well as filling minor offices.

This morning the directors of the Board of Trade will meet to make arrangements for the annual banquet, to be held a few days prior to the annual meeting, which is scheduled for Thursday, May 23.

OPEN NEW HALL.

The formal opening of the new $15,000 Salvation Army hall in this city last night marks another mile post in the history of the organization here. Ensign Otto Schwedler of the local corps has been hard at work raising money to clear the debt from the building and nearly $10,000 of the necessary $15,000 has been paid. Major Frank Waite of Los Angeles accompanied by No. 1 band, assisted in the celebration last night. It is hoped the new building can soon be dedicated free of debt.

MISSIONARY WORKERS REPORT.

Rev. Henry Kinman, of Claremont, closed yesterday's session of the Southern California Congregational church missionary annual convention in this city with a splendid address on China last night. He told of his experiences in the Orient and of missionary work there.

Yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. F. Loba, pastor of the Westside Congregational Church, spoke on "Women's Work Among the Women in India." He gave them credit for the greater portion of the work now being carried on.

Chinese work in Los Angeles and the problem before the Bethlehem Mission will be the subjects of addresses this morning. The afternoon programme follows: "What Owest Thou My Lord?" Mrs. J. F. Loba; "On the Trail of the Immigrant," Mrs. George A. Gates; "Pomona College Ideals," Miss Edna L. Roof, Claremont; "Twenty Years of Service," Mrs. H. K. W. Bent; "A Year of Victory," Rev. J. L. Malle of Los Angeles.

PASADENA ECHOINGS.

Odd Fellows will celebrate the eighty-ninth anniversary of the local lodge tomorrow.

It is expected that new and larger culverts will repace the present ones at the intersections of Raymond and Fair Oaks avenues on Colorado street. In this way floods in the center of the business districts during storms will be avoided.

In Lieutenant-Commander W. K. Harrison of the battleship Minnesota, Mrs. C. W. Gates of South Orange Grove avenue, met a boyhood friend in old Virginia.

Mrs. Kate H. Waters of No. 1000 Garfield avenue, died yesterday morning after a residence in this city of two months.

Pasadena is soon to be visited by Emma Goldman, "Queen of the Anarchists." She is booked to speak here April 29 and the few "reds" here are advertising her coming far and wide. She will speak on "Anarchism, What it Really Stands For," and on April 30 on "Pillars of Society." The police will be especially diligent during her stay.

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS.

Mrs. W. F. Kellogg of Altadena was the hostess yesterday at a charmingly-appointed bridge party given in honor of Mrs. A. F. Deacon of Kansas City and Mrs. G. O. Ellis of Detroit. Tables were arranged in the living-room, which was decorated with masses of green combined with white roses and carnations. Prizes were awarded and a collation followed the games. Those present were Mmes. Henry H. Sherk, Walter S. Wright, Hampton I. Story, Edwin D. Neff, Henry Vilas, T. E. Taylor, George G. Guyer, Harry Clow, F. G. Bland, D. H. Girouard, William Scripps, Mathew Slavin, Ernest R. Hoag, Arthur Woodward, Clinton C. Clark, W. D. Turner, G. M. Schladerman, Edwin F. Hill, Helen Belford, Duer, Mansar, Misses Rutherford, McCord, Sabin, Meley, and Shephard.

An elaborate breakfast party was given yesterday morning at the Pasadena Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. John Howard Dews of New York as a farewell function prior to their departure for New York. Mrs. Dews, who is a sister of H. Page Warden, has been a guest here some months. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Tulloch, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gray, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nevin, Mr. and Mrs. William Park, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitcairn, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harrison I. Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Rowan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Callery, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cupples Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Walstein Root, Mr. and Mrs. H. Page Warden, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Macy, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Gray, Misses Sellers, Putnam, Nevin, Lieuts. Staples and McVay, Mr. Todd and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Childs of Los Angeles.

FOOTHILL BATTLE.

GUEST TAKES GUN FROM BURGLAR.

EARLY MORNING THRILL IN A SIERRA MADRE HOME.

Shot at by the Intruder One of the Occupants of the House Gives Chase and Wrenches Firearm from the Thief, but the Latter Escapes. Local Man Suspected.

SIERRA MADRE, April 22.—Shot at by a burglar early this morning a guest in the house of Mrs. Schliebets on Central avenue, pursued the intruder and took the revolver away from him, but the thief got away.

It happened at 3:30 o'clock, and it was the second time recently that a burglar had entered the Schliebets house. Mr. Eckles, who was one of a number of guests, was awakened by the noise, and, starting to investigate, was shot at by the burglar, but was not hit. Then Mr. Eckles chased the burglar and got the gun.

This same residence was entered some time ago, while the owners were absent, and several valuable pieces of jewelry taken.

It is generally supposed that the miscreant is a local character, who has been noticed prowling about during the nights. Several persons returning home late at night have encountered a suspicious character, and a resident a few nights ago, who is in the habit of taking midnight strolls and exercising his dogs, challenged a suspicious person, who leaped out from a clump of trees and blocked his path and, not receiving any satisfaction, fired his revolver over the fellow's head. The suspicious one turned on his heel and disappeared in the darkness. Marshal Caley is working on the case.

FOOTHILL CITY NOTES.

According to the government rain gauge kept by J. G. Blumer for governmental reports, the downpour on Wednesday amounted to 1.45 inches.

An attempt was made to engage a special car to leave here early Saturday morning, and to go direct to Santa Monica to witness the fleet maneuvers in the bay. Owing to the Pacific Electric having no cross-over tracks to the Los Angeles-Pacific lines the scheme had to be abandoned. Many parties have arranged to leave from Monrovia and Arcadia on the midnight cars, unless arrangements can be made with the railroad to have the last car return to the city on its arrival at 12:30 a.m.

PREACHER HONORED.

Rev. Eugene Burr Is Appointed by City Trustees of Sawtelle as Street Superintendent.

SAWTELLE, April 23.—The new City Trustees have conferred extraordinary honors upon Rev. Eugene Burr by appointing him to serve the municipality in capacity of Street Superintendent. The gentleman of the cloth has entered upon the work of evangelizing the roads, and promises to conduct a strenuous revival.

Matthew Stewart is engaged in the enumeration of the children of school age residing in the Sawtelle district.

R. F. McClellan and C. S. Martin have drawn the long terms, and will serve as City Trustees for two years.

L. Sherpy has gone to San Jacinto, where he has purchased, and taken charge of the Weekly Register.

Tomorrow is to be a general holiday in this city. Nearly all of the stores will close for the day and will remain closed until Saturday afternoon. The merchants have signed an agreement to this effect. Merchants and the residents of the city in general will take a vacation and go to Santa Monica to see the fleet.

The school children of Sawtelle went to Venice this afternoon, and were given the post of honor in the pupils' parade and flag drill in honor of the commanders and officers of the battleships.

Mrs. F. C. Langdon has been called to Tucson, Ariz., where her son Ted is dangerously ill with pneumonia.

James Weston was struck by a Los Angeles-Pacific car and killed. Weston was employed on the street-grading contract and the rain having made the ground too wet for work he had decided to go to Los Angeles to spend the day. He ran to catch a car, but missed it, and was struck by the coach that followed it. He was 40 years of age.

"Hotel del Coronado" is the best.

HOLLYWOOD.

HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—The prompt action of the local fire department saved the Penman Block from being destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The building is one of the newest and best built blocks in the city. The fire originated in the basement in the drying-room of a dye works, and given any headway would undoubtedly have consumed the entire building. Aside from the dye works the building is occupied by Gates & Chane, furniture dealers. Both concerns lost through smoke and water, but all damage was slight and fully covered by insurance.

"Hotel del Coronado" is the best.

American Education Ahead.

At the examinations recently held in Pekin for official degrees men who had studied in American universities received the highest honors. Out of a large number examined, only seven got the highest degree obtainable, and of these five were graduates of the University of California, while the other two had studied in Japan.

ELIMINATION.

ABROGATES LEASE ON PIER PLACE.

LONG BEACH CITY COUNCIL TAKES DRASTIC ACTION.

First Step Taken by Municipal Authorities With View to Removal of Obstruction to Ocean View from Pier Approach—Boy Frightfully Bitten by Bulldog.

LONG BEACH, April 22.—The City Council this morning abrogated the lease of the Fisher building on the pier and ordered all tenants to vacate the premises by May 24.

This is the first step in the removal of an obstruction of the ocean view from the pier approach and will meet popular favor. The reason assigned is the continued violation of the terms of the lease, which provided its forfeiture for such violations. R. E. Fisher was granted a ten-year lease three years ago on a building west of the Auditorium to be erected at his own expense. His lease provided that it was to be occupied as a curio store, confectionery and penny arcade. Plans submitted were misleading, and not until the structural framework was up was it known that a two-story building above the pier deck was contemplated, completely shutting out a view of the ocean from the pier. Citizens attempted to prevent its completion by injunction proceedings on the ground that its foundation, being below high tide were an obstruction to navigable waters but the court refused to uphold this view and Fisher built his barn and then installed two restaurants, a billiard room and cigar stand.

In one of the restaurants later the police found a box of wine, which the proprietor claims was for his own table use. The erection of the structure for which the city received $100 monthly rental caused a boost in insurance rates on the Auditorium and pier to $150 a month and when the new Council assumed control it sought to remedy this deficit. Fisher had assigned his lease to J. E. Carter and the latter refusing to agree to the demands of the Council to oust his restaurant and poolroom tenants caused the revoking of the lease.

TOLD BY SEASIDE.

Andrew Dunlop, aged 12, was frightfully injured by a bulldog on the beach this afternoon. A number of boys were at play throwing sticks into the ocean to be retrieved by sportive dogs. Young Dunlop ran in front of a bulldog, when the animal seized him by the arm, and dragging him down began chewing in a frightful manner, and before he could be beaten off had bitten the boy in several places. The injured lad was taken to the bathhouse hospital and his injuries dressed. The dog was killed by a policeman.

At the special concert at the Auditorium tomorrow night the municipal band will produce for the first time a military selection entitled "War and Universal Peace," a descriptive fantasie portraying wars between nations, culminating in universal peace. The production is composed and arranged by Director Nicola Donatelli. The selection opens with the soldiers camping for the night, the call to arms, the fierce clash of battle and its finish, closing with the national anthem of all nations. Those who have heard the rehearsals say it is Donatelli's best effort.

J. R. Pickerell, while taking a bath at home, slipped and, falling across the side of the tub, broke two ribs on the left side.

Assistant Deputy Organizer W. D. Cason has been given a commission to organize a new camp of Modern Woodmen in this city, the existing camp having grown too large for effective work. Several of the old members will organize the new camp and have twenty-one members on the charter list.

Spooning on the beach under the shadow of Hotel Virginia has an unnerving effect on guests of the tourist tavern, and Chief Williams has been asked to break up the practice. Six loving couples were ordered to move on by the police last night.

Last night .04 inch of rain fell, making a total for the storm of .37 inch and a total for the season to date of 9.94 inches.

GLENDALE DISAPPOINTMENT.

Many People There Turn Out to Give Welcome to Auto Travelers That Pass.

GLENDALE, April 23.—This city is stripped of bowers and enthusiasm to night, as a result of the failure of the 200 officers of the fleet, who spent the morning in Pasadena, to pass through here en route to Hollywood, as planned. Word was received here at 10 o'clock this morning that the party would pass through in automobiles, and preparations were hastily made to give them a rousing welcome. By 3 o'clock a party of Glendale people had gone to Eagle Rock in autos to pilot the distinguished guests along the right roads. On Glendale avenue and Fourth bunting was elaborately displayed. There were hundreds of boxes of strawberries wrapped in handsome crepe napkins, bearing the words "Compliments of Glendale Board of Trade." Six hundred people, including pupils of the grammar and high schools, were lined up with thousands of roses, geraniums and orange blossoms to shower a rousing welcome. They waited; a few of the children began surreptitiously to eat from their boxes of luscious berries, when word came that the party, after all, could not make Glendale, and the prettiest girls with their arms filled with orange blossoms were not the only disappointed ones.

GLENDALE GLEANINGS.

At the annual election of officers this afternoon for the St. Mark's Guild Mrs. Claude O. Pulliam was re-elected president; Mrs. Dr. Hunt, vice-president; Mrs. Edgar W. Pack, secretary, and Miss Emma Penn, treasurer.

A sharp baseball game late this afternoon between Glendale and South Pasadena resulted in victory for the home boys by a score of 6 to 5

Plenty of room at Coronado.

THRONG EXPECTED.

SANTA MONICA, April 23.—In anticipation of an immense crowd at the beach throughout Friday night, Santa Monicans are making every preparation to provide sleeping accommodations for the thousands of visitors who will spend the night here in order to be present while the entire fleet is maneuvering in the bay early Friday morning. "Furnished rooms for rent" signs are making their appearance everywhere throughout the city. Private homes are being thrown open for the conveniences of the expected crowds and if a census could be taken of the city Friday night there would perhaps be no further delay in the installation of the free mail delivery system here.

"East or West, Coronado is best."

OCEAN PARK.

OCEAN PARK, April 23.—Fleet festivities have seriously interrupted the campaign and plans for the formation of a Santa Monica Bay Chamber of Commerce; but the scheme is not sleeping. Already many of the business men of the three commercial centers and business districts of the two beach cities have signified their purpose to affiliate with the organization, in the belief that it would contribute in no small degree to the development of the resources of the bay. Just as soon as the rush attending the entertainment of the fleet and the thousands of transient guests, has subsided a public meeting will be called and the organization will be launched.

"Hotel del Coronado" is the best.

CAUSES GLOOM.

FOR HIS DEATH MEN WEEP.

SERGEANT OF MARINES IS DROWNED AT REDONDO.

Popular Officer Aboard the Alabama Sinks Into a Watery Grave—The Watchers Look for the Body to Come Ashore and Divers May Try to Find It Today.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

REDONDO, April 23.—Watchers are patroling the shore here for the body of Joseph T. Jenkins, First Sergeant of Marines, U.S.S. Alabama, who was drowned close to one of the piers last night. If the corpse does not come ashore in the course of the night, divers will probably make search for it tomorrow.

Just how Jenkins got into the water is not clear. He had a quarrel with a coal passer of the battleship Kentucky and from his appearance afterward it is supposed that he was despondent.

The fact that he was in the water was quickly noted and shots were fired to give an alarm. Frank Palmer threw off some of his clothes and leaped into the sea in an attempt at rescue. Palmer had a struggle with the drowning man and was forced to let him go.

When the news of the death of Jenkins was received aboard his ship there was general gloom. Many of the men who had served under him actually wept. He had been familiarly known as "top" soldier and was a general favorite.

Jenkins was formerly in service in the Norfolk Navy Yard and later was first sergeant of marines aboard the Mayflower, the President's yacht.

STRENUOUS DAY.

This has been a strenuous day for those who are charged with the duty of handling the crowds of people who visited the battleships. Several hundred more were taken aboard than on any previous day, and at 4 o'clock, when the rush was over and the officers on duty notified the launches that no more could be received, no less than 1500 people were in line waiting for the opportunity that did not come. An hour earlier the officers on duty at the warships' landing were notified that no more private parties could be received. The rush to the Kentucky was noticeable, this being Kentucky Day, and the ship was crowded long before 3 o'clock, and at that hour the ship's launches began the task of landing the hundreds who went aboard in response to special invitation, and it was 6 o'clock before the last boatload reached the landing.

The day began with the school children's visit to the flagship Alabama, at 10 o'clock, when 500 children in holiday attire and carrying flags and flowers were taken out to the ship. In the afternoon the orchestra from the Kentucky gave a concert at the pavilion, and hundreds who were disappointed in their wish to visit the ships contented themselves with listening to the sailor boys' music.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather the dance at the pavilion last night was well attended. Scores of the boys from the ships were present. At 8 o'clock the ships were illuminated and the regular searchlight drill was given.

The programme tomorrow includes some distinctly novel features in the shape of some athletic sports on the Hotel Redondo grounds, at which the sailors are to be the spectators, instead of participants. There will be one sailors' race, a fifty-yard dash, but after that eight other events are to be pulled off by civilians, including a man's race, a woman's race, a boy's and a girl's race, a fat man's and a fat ladies' ditto, a three-leg, and a sack race. Money prizes for first, second and third are the rewards.

Tomorrow evening will be the naval ball and reception at Hotel Redondo, besides the regular dance at the pavilion.

The transportation companies are preparing for the rush to Redondo Saturday morning. It is believed that there will be a repetition of last Saturday's experience to San Pedro, in view of the fact that the sixteen battleships of the fleet will assemble here so close inshore. It is a fact that deep water comes closer to the beach at this point than at any other on the California Coast, and Admiral Thomas has promised to bring his ship so close that you can count the buttons on his coat from shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Burnett entertained at luncheon today Mr. and Mrs. Torry Everett and Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Kent, and Miss Burns and Miss Emerich of New York.

Easy Information.

It is argued that the compulsory adoption of the incandescent system of electric lighting in mines will greatly cut down the death roll.

Vermont gets the credit of being the granite State, but Pennsylvania leads in the production of stone, with nearly 14 per cent. of the total to her credit.

Louisiana has a steel sawmill with a capacity of 600,000 feet a day, which is said to be the largest in this country.

The use of muslin windows, instead of glass in dairy construction is said to help materially in the fight against tuberculosis.

Justice Brewer, of the United States Supreme Court, still holds and preaches to the text that public debts are not public blessings.

The timber output of Maine last winter was 900,000,000 feet, and the indications are that these figures will be about equaled this year. The scarcity of labor prevented operations to a large degree.

Cables Still Needed.

The Electric Review considers that the transatlantic cables are in no immediate danger from the competition of wireless telegraphy. One of the pressing problems which wireless experts must solve is the development of commercially practicable selectivity. Until a number of stations can work side by side without affecting one another the usefulness of the new system will be very limited. Until this problem is solved and an equally good transmission by day and night assured the wireless system will occupy a very minor position.

How Do You Like Taft?

The exceptional journalist like William Allen White never generalizes. He gives you something specifically interesting, lively, really illuminating, and illustrated with personal experiences.

That is why his article on Taft in The American Magazine for May is as good as knowing the man for twenty years. It leaves you with a clear and reasonable like or dislike for him just as you like or dislike your neighbors. Nor do we all agree on Taft any more than all the neighbors agree on you. It will settle him in your mind—settle him absolutely—one way or the other.

The beginning of a new novel by William J. Locke in The American Magazine for May is a literary event of real importance; as indeed is also the appearance in serial form of anything by this popular English writer. "Simple Septimus" will delight the readers of Locke's other works. "The Vagabond" and the "Morals of Marcus"—and many more. It is the story of a beautiful English girl, a man-hater, in search of adventure. Septimus himself is an amusing, lovable gun-inventor struggling to be a human being against an inheritance to be nothing but a machine. Start now with the first chapter in The American Magazine for May so as to miss nothing of the story.

"Whin I was a little boy, I classed Fun'rals among the greatest iv me adventures," says Mr. Dooley in his article on "The End of Life" in the May number. Cartoons by McCutcheon. "Mr. Dooley" with McCutcheon's cartoons appears exclusively in every issue of The American Magazine.

"Mormon Women and What They Think of Polygamy," another portion of Ray Stannard Baker's great series on the Negro, letters from readers, editorials, a half-dozen short stories by Josephine Daskam Bacon, E. J. Rath, Richard Washburn Child, and many others, and beautiful pictures fill the May number with good things until it fairly bursts.

The place to buy The American Magazine is at a news stand or book store—price ten cents a copy. If you have a regular stand at which you buy your papers or other magazines, tell the dealer to keep a copy for you every month.

If a dealer cannot supply you with The American Magazine, accept no substitute. Do not miss it for this reason. ROMANCE AND TRAGEDY.

SPANISH GIRL'S LOVE IS TRUE.

CLINGS TO HUSBAND IN SPITE OF FAMILY.

Appears in Court With Brother of Man Who Captured Her Brother After Latter Had Slain Deputy Constable — Declare They Were Married in Imperial County.

SANTA ANA, April 22.—Julia Borrego Dominguez, who eloped with the brother of the man who captured her brother after he had slain Deputy Constable Juan Orosco of Los Alamitos, and her husband were together before Justice of the Peace Ed. Smithwick today.

The husband, Toribio Dominguez, was there under arrest on a complaint sworn to on March 2 by his wife's brother, Antonio Borrego, charging him with seduction under promise of marriage. Dominguez, before the justice of the peace, did not deny the charge, but declared that he married her at El Centro three days ago.

The young wife, an unusually pretty Spanish girl, has the best of her relatives, who would have opposed her marriage to a Dominguez, and though the Borregos heap curses on the Dominguez lover, she has her husband and the courts seem not likely to interfere.

The Borregos' hatred of the Dominguez goes back to a tragedy at Los Alamitos last October. On the evening the tragedy occurred Julia Borrego was the center of a scene in the dance hall there that led up to the murder of Deputy Constable Juan Orosco by Rafael Borrego. Borrego, ever watchful of his sister, thought it best for her to go home, and he told her to leave the dance. Orosco, who was giving the dance, overheard the conversation, and remonstrated with Borrego. Borrego was angered. He walked outside the hall, fired a shot into the ground and when Orosco came to the door he fired a bullet through the officer's heart. Borrego was seized by Ben Dominguez, a close friend of Orosco, and the two fought a hand-to-hand conflict in the dark. Dominguez' thumb catching the hammer of the pistol saved him from being shot. Domingues secured possession of the revolver and with its butt he hammered Borrego to the ground and tied him with a rope. Dominguez was the chief witness against Borrego, who was convicted of manslaughter.

All this tended to make the Borrego and the Dominguez families particularly unfriendly. After his conviction Borrego took an appeal. Each week the pretty little sister from the beet-sugar town drove half the width of the county to the county seat to bring clean clothing to her brother.

It was on one of these visits that Toribio Dominguez met the girl here, whether by appointment or not no one but they know, for Julia dared not breathe a word of her love for a Dominguez to any of her relatives. When the Borregos heard of the elopement of the girl with a Dominguez the Borrego heart was broken, and Antonio Borrego swore to the complaint charging seduction.

Since March 2 Sheriff Lacy has been in constant search for the whereabouts of the couple, and the friends of the Borregos were anxious to bear him news. Yesterday the couple arrived at Whittier, and in a few minutes Sheriff Lacy knew of it. Dominguez was arrested, and today was brought here. With him came his girl wife. Dominguez produced the receipt of the County Recorder of Imperial county showing that a marriage certificate had been filed for record there on April 20. The justice said he would dismiss the case against Dominguez as soon as he sees the marriage certificate, and he gave Dominguez until May 7 to get it from Imperial county. Dominguez is out on $50 cash bail.

Dominguez must have sworn that the girl was 18 years of age in order to get the license. It is not likely that he will be proceeded against for the perjury.

Superior Judge Z. B. West today rendered two decisions in favor of the Irvine Company against Thomas Donlan and Joseph Davis that give the Irvine Company the right to close the road up Weir Cañon, a branch of the Santiago Cañon, and that give the Irvine Company title to 160 acres claimed by Donlan lying on the hogback above Weir Cañon. This case was hard fought.

August Borts of Olive brought suit today against John B. Shoemaker, asking $100 damages, alleging that Shoemaker has taken possession of less than half an acre of land Borts claims, and because he has removed a flume used to convey water to orchards owned by Borts.

Mrs. Marian Smith, who died April 21, left a will, under which $500 is to go to the Congregational Home Missionary Society of Southern California, $500 to the Congregational Church Building Society of Southern California and $500 to the Congregational Church of Santa Ana. The remainder of the estate goes to relatives of the deceased.

A writ of mandate was issued by Superior Judge Z. B. West today on the amended petition of George Hagar in which Surveyor-General W. S. Kingsbury, Secretary of State C. F. Curry and Gov. J. N. Gillett are ordered to issue a patent to Hagar for 13.55 acres of tidelands in Newport Bay or appear in the Superior Court of Orange county at 10 o'clock on May 15 to show cause why they should not issue the patent. Hagar in his petition claims that the State Land Office refuses to issue him a patent for 13.55 acres, which should have been included in a patent issued him for tidelands on September 26, 1906. E. G. Kuster of Los Angeles is Hagar's attorney.

The Democratic County Central Committee has set May 5 as the date for the primaries and May 9 as the date for the county convention, which brings the convention two days after the Republican convention. The Central Committee met in the office of the chairman, Dr. H. S. Gordon.

NAVY SUPPLIES.

SANTA BARBARA GETS A SLICE.

FRESH PROVISIONS AND GROCERIES ARE WANTED.

Dispatch from Washington Says That Bids Will Be Opened May 12 for Supplies for Any Vessels of the American Navy That May Touch at the Pacific Port.

SANTA BARBARA, April 22.—A Washington dispatch says:

"It is explained at the bureau of supplies and accounts that the bids to be opened at Santa Barbara on May 12 are for supplies for any vessels of the American navy that may touch at that place during the next fiscal year. They are for fresh provisions and groceries. This will be the first year that the contracts will be made at Santa Barbara for delivery to war vessels there. The system also is to be extended to San Pedro and San Diego. In most positive manner it was stated at the bureau of navigation that the battleships will not return to Santa Barbara nor will the supply ships for the fleet, so far as at present determined, take on cargoes at any place except San Francisco, but will load and fit out there for the long cruise across the Pacific Ocean on the voyage home."

BRIEFS.

Oscar Smith and William Brown, negroes, landed in the police toils, last night, on a charge of stealing copper trolley wire to the extent of 126 pounds, cut from the line on the East Boulevard on Saturday night last. The men turned up at a local junk-shop and attempted to sell the stuff. The junkman notified the police, but the men had disappeared when the officers reached the store. Smith was caught early last evening and Brown was apprehended in Montecito. They were held by Police Judge Price in court today.

Frank McKenzie, 32 years old, of Lompoc, was committed to the county jail yesterday, for six months. While drunk in Lompoc he is alleged to have insulted a girl.

Mrs. Charles W. Rasey, who died Tuesday, was buried at the Santa Barbara Cemetery, after a private funeral at which Rev. George C. Wright, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated.

Dentists of three counties—Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo and Ventura—will organize here next Tuesday along the line of the Southern California Dental Association, with which the organization is to be affiliated.

A serious accident was narrowly averted yesterday on the spur of the Southern Pacific Railroad that extends from Surf to Lompoc. The morning train consists of two passenger coaches and five or six flat cars loaded with lime-rock from the Lompoc quarries, bound for Surf. Yesterday the trip was made in safety but just as the train stopped at Surf, one of the stone-laden cars broke in two in the center, without warning, bringing the cars behind to an abrupt halt. There was no one hurt but had the accident happened a few minutes before, when the train was running at high speed, there would have been serious consequences.

TO HAVE CALIFORNIA HOME.

C. W. Pratt of Brooklyn, Secretary of Standard Oil Company, Buys Site for Handsome Bungalow.

VENTURA, April 22.—C. W. Pratt of Brooklyn, N. Y., secretary of the Standard Oil Company, and a multimillionaire has purchased a building site in the Ojai Valley, this county. The tract is one of five acres, a half mile north of Foothills tourist hotel, and is now covered with wild lilac, mountain brush and chaparral. Most of this will be removed. The tract lies next the line of the government reservation. It is some 700 feet above the floor of the valley, of which it commands a magnificent and sweeping view. It is backed by the high Topa-Topa Mountain. Altogether it is one of the prettiest building sites in Southern California and it is expected in the Ojai Valley that Mr. Pratt will draw around him a number of wealthy easterners looking for California homes. Indeed, there are already quite a number of homes built in the neighborhood by eastern capitalists. The oil man will, in the fall, erect a handsome bungalow on his lot.

SCHOOL AFFAIRS COMPLICATED.

Complications have arisen in school affairs by reason of the big vote cast at the recent anti-saloon election in this town, and in which the saloons rushed in voters from everywhere in the surrounding country. The census is now being taken with this vote as a basis. If it is followed up on this line outlying school districts will suffer materially by having population drawn from them and it is upon population that the apportionment of school money is based. A roar is expected to go up if Ventura insists upon including all the voters in the census who voted at the last election.

VENTURA BRIEFS.

Deputy County Clerk Clay Knox was married this evening to Miss Valera Irwin of Santa Paula, Rev. Wills of San Pedro officiating.

Ventura will be a closed town on Monday next. Everybody who can get away is going to Santa Barbara to attend the fleet reception. The merchants generally have signified their intention of closing on that day and it is not expected there will be any one left to watch the town and keep away porch-climbers and hand-out men.

The grand jury of the county closed its session yesterday. It reported county affairs generally as in good condition, but reported finding the sanitary conditions at the jail in a deplorable condition. It was recommended that the Supervisors immediately take some action looking to the cleaning up of the dark and dismal and damp old building.

served in Rosedale Cemetery late yesterday afternoon, following a funeral service in the chapel of the Bresee morgue.

Johnsson obtained shore leave early Monday morning. He was due on board the New Jersey at 7 o'clock a.m. Tuesday. Shortly before daybreak he wandered into the yards of the Santa Fé at the First-street viaduct. A heavy freight car was backing into the yards. He fell beneath the wheels of the first car and was crushed to death.

At the inquest yesterday a jury returned a verdict of death from accident.

A number of sailors attended the services and then went to the cemetery where they stood at attention by the grave of their comrade while the squad fired a salute.

ENJOY BARBECUE.

GIRLS GLEEFULLY WATCH.

Several hundred sailors enjoyed the barbecue at Chutes Park, yesterday noon. The weather was fine and the big enclosure looked its best, with flowers, fruit, pretty girls and long lines of bluejackets, who did their duty with the meal in true sailor style.

The Ohio Society and several other State organizations won the hearts of the lads by distributing beautiful little souvenirs. The women of local Catholic organizations, with Mrs. P. P. O'Brien as chairman, served.

A special feature was the orange blossoms provided. Many sailors placed the sweet-scented flowers in their caps and stated that they intended to send them back East.

The barbecue was one of the most successful of the week. The good entertainment provided in the park, the prize fights, the games and the excitement served to whet appetites and the way the bluejackets tackled the food was a delight to behold.

All stood at attention while the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

Helped Furnish an Officer.

Dr. James H. Shults of this city is proud of having officiated at the birth into the navy of one of the higher officers of the fleet now on the Coast. In 1884, Dr. Shults, who was then superintendent of schools at Norwich, N. Y., was chairman of a board which examined candidates for admission to the naval academy at Annapolis. The young man who passed the examination with highest honors and was therefore given first place by Dr. Shults and his board was John T. Hubbard, now lieutenant-commander on board the battleship Ohio. Mr. Hubbard's honorable and successful career has abundantly justified the decision of the board.

VISIT KENTUCKY.

Having been prevented by the boisterous weather from visiting the battleship named after their State day before yesterday, the members of the Kentucky Society will try again today. Capt. Cowles, who is a weather prophet, says the conditions will be propitious today, so all Kentuckians and their friends are invited to be at the corner of Second street and Broadway at 10 o'clock this morning, to take cars for Redondo.

Thorough Cures for WEAK MEN

DR. TAYLOR
The Leading Specialist.

An unbroken record of cures during all these years is positive proof of the value of my Direct-Method Treatment. For 25 years I have specialized in treating the diseases of men only.

A great many people do not seem to understand the difference between the regular practitioner and the medical expert who has devoted his life study to say, three or four complicated diseases. They seem to be under the impression that any physician cures any disease with equal success. It is an everyday experience to have a patient say: "I have tried nearly every remedy sold by druggists for my trouble,' and the invariable verdict is "No benefit." Another will say: "I have been treated by several family physicians in my neighborhood who thought they could cure me, but the results proved otherwise.

Pay After I Have Cured You

More Men Might Be Well

There are scores and hundreds of afflicted men who believe their cases incurable because treatment of the past has resulted in failure, and who through this belief are being deprived of the full and complete health that might be theirs. I do not claim that there are no incurable cases, but I do claim that many cases absolutely incurable by such treatment as has been given them will yield promptly to the correct and scientific methods that I exclusively employ. I offer free consultation and will accept for treatment no case unless I am confident of my ability to effect a complete cure. This is meant emphatically.

My Successful Treatment for Weakness

Dosing the system with powerful stimulants and tonics in an effort to restore functional vigor can have but one final result: The condition is rendered worse than before. "Weakness" is merely an indication of a low form of inflammation in the prostate gland, and the inflammation is but aggravated by stimulating remedies that excite temporary activity. I employ the only scientific and fully effective treatment for "weakness" which effects a permanent cure by restoring the prostate gland to a sound and healthy state. I obtain complete results in every case I treat. Interesting literature and a beautifully engraved chart free if you will call.

Varicocele, Its Complete Cure Without Surgery

Under my treatment the most aggravated cases of varicocele are cured in a few days' time. There is no cutting, no pain, and it is seldom necessary that the patient be detained from his occupation. Normal circulation is at once restored throughout all the organs, and the natural processes of waste and repair are again established. If you are afflicted with Varicocele, consult me at once. Delay can but bring on aggravated conditions and nervous complications that will unfit the vital functions and involve the general health.

Contracted Disorders

Every case of contracted disease I treat is cured thoroughly. My patients have no relapses. When I pronounce a case cured there is not a particle of infection or inflammation remaining, and there isn't the slightest danger that the disease will return in its original form, or work its way into the general system. Some contracted diseases are less serious than others, but none are so trivial as to warrant uncertain methods of treatment. I especially solicit those cases that other doctors have been unable to cure.

Specific Blood Poison

Others dose the system with mineral poisons scarcely less dangerous than the disease itself. The best they hope to do by this treatment is to keep the disease from manifesting its presence upon the surface of the body. Under my treatment the entire system is cleansed. The last taint of virus is destroyed. Every symptom vanishes to appear no more. I employ harmless blood-cleansing remedies. They are remedies heretofore unknown in the treatment of this disease. They cure by neutralizing and absolutely destroying the poison in the system. Such cures cannot be other than complete and permanent.

I ALSO CURE ALL SPECIAL DISEASES OF MEN, SUCH AS HYDROCELE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, BLOOD DISEASES, ETC.

It will cost you nothing for consultation and advice

I especially invite those who have deep-seated and chronic disorders to call and be examined. Consultation and examination are free, and do not obligate you to engage my services. Office hours, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Sundays, 9 to 12 only.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONG BEACH, April 23.—Old ocean was calm again this morning and travel to and from the battleships was devoid of the unpleasant experiences of yesterday. The movable landings of the outer wharf proved their value in affording easy access to the launches. Today's crowd was but little smaller than that of Monday and many people were unable to make the trip to the ships. Almost a riot was occasioned by boat agents who sold tickets on Capt. Napier's launch Virginia, promising them a trip, not only around the four ships anchored here, but also to the breakwater. Eighty tickets were sold but Napier repudiated the promise made and, refusing to go to the breakwater, kept the tickets and, after landing his passengers left for San Pedro. The deluded ones stormed the agents' booths, but got little satisfaction until President Craig of the Board of Public Works ordered the money refunded under penalty of having agents' permits revoked. The trouble is now between Napier and the agents and those who know anticipate a lively time when final settlement is made.

Secretary Miller of the Chamber of Commerce this morning sent out a big bunch of magazines to the sailor boys, which were much appreciated.

At the Y.M.C.A. headquarters today 978 sailor members of the association had registered and tonight were entertained by the gym team in a special programme of stunts.

One sailor was overheard this morning complaining that a bottle of wine which he had endeavored to hide by tying under a chair in the Y.M.C.A. headquarters had mysteriously disappeared, but he blames one of his shipmates rather than any of the association members.

The Long Beach rink which is being utilized as a "Sailors' Rest" is equipped with cots and proves a welcome haven to many foot and head-weary tars who get home from Los Angeles too late to return to their ships and are glad of a place to spend the remainder of the night.

A pretty girl slipped into the water today at the west landing of the pier and being pulled out at once by a sailor boy handsomely rewarded him by impulsively throwing her arms around his neck and kissing him full on the lips. It caused blushing embarrassment for him but afforded great glee to his comrades.

The first of two balls in the Auditorium for the sailor boys was given tonight under auspices of the Municipal Band Committee and was a complete success. The function will be repeated tomorrow night.

Sailors from the East think it an easy thing to ride a horse and the first thing they do when ashore is to hie to a livery stable and hire a horse for a cruise around the city. Occasionally they get hold of a half-broken bronco and then there are spectacular stunts, which generally results in Jack landing in the middle of the street, and the bronc hiking back to the barn. A performance of this sort on Chestnut street today set all the thoroughfare laughing. The sailor stuck all right until an electric car swung across Third street, when the bronco shied so suddenly that its rider landed on the sidewalk.

Lieut. Bean and Midshipmen R. S. Crenshaw and R. C. Gibbon were the ones who got a partial wetting getting ashore last night. Their crew lost their bearings, and instead of making the pier, went adrift in the breakers and beached the cutter at the foot of Linden avenue. The officers disrobed and waded ashore, carrying their dress suit cases on their shoulders. They dried out at a neighboring home and then went on to Los Angeles. Later a crew from the Virginia came ashore and released the cutter from its stranded position.

Rumors have been current all day of the visit of the stork to the Rhode Island. A woman visitor to the ship was taken ill and was removed to the ship's hospital, where an hour later a baby boy was born. No information is forthcoming from the officers of the ship, except smiles, nor can the name of the mother be ascertained.

Department Commander Merrill of the G.A.R. today forwarded the thanks of the patriotic societies for the opportunity afforded them yesterday of being guests of the navy.

Long Beach is looking for a big day tomorrow and has prepared for sports which include auto races, yacht and motor boat races, baseball games, rowing races by crews of the four battleships here, athletic sports for the sailors on the beach, and a prize drill by the marines. At night a grand ball will be given at Hotel Virginia for the officers and a dance at the auditorium for the sailors. Prizes are offered in all the sporting events. Here is what is to happen told in condensed form:

At 10:30—Two five-inning baseball games on High School grounds between nines from the battleships.

At 10:30 a.m.—Automobile races on the sand.

At 1 p.m.—Nine-mile yacht race from the Long Beach pier. Prize, loving cup from Chamber of Commerce.

At 2:30 p.m.—Grand concert in auditorium by Long Beach Municipal Band.

At 2:30 p.m.—Yacht race. Sack races. Potato races. Obstacle race, and tug of war by the sailors. Prizes.

At 3:30 p.m.—Drill by marines on High School grounds.

At 4:00 p.m.—Balloon race between four balloons named respectively, Georgia, New Jersey, Rhode Island and Virginia.

At 4:20 p.m.—Admiral salute of thirteen guns upon arrival of admiral and staff and officers. An automobile ride around the city.

At 8:00 p.m.—Fireworks and grand illumination of entire ocean front.

At 8:00 p.m.—Special entertainment by Y.M.C.A. at Sun Parlor.

At 8:00 p.m.—Ball to fleet officers at Hotel Virginia.

At 9:00 p.m.—Sailors' ball in auditorium.

Thurley Weed Barnes, who sued the American Development Company and the members of the Chinese Railway Syndicate to recover $900,000, which he said was due to him for obtaining certain concessions for the syndicate from the Chinese government through Wu Ting Fang, its Minister at Washington, has obtained a judgment for $398,481 against the company. Among the members of the syndicate who are responsible for the payment of the judgment is the Carnegie Steel Company.

SANTA BARBARA AWAITS FLEET.

LEADING CITIZENS ARRANGE AN ORIGINAL PROGRAMME.

Flower Dance by Society Women a Feature—Floral Parade Promises to Be Magnificent—Whole City to Keep Open House—Visitors Pouring in by Every Train.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, April 23.—The people of this city are in a flutter of excitement over the coming, on Saturday, of the battleship fleet. It is due here at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and will be augmented by the torpedo boats.

It is purposed to give to the officers and men a welcome totally different from any so far extended.

The Civic League has a fund of $25,000 to expend but the people, in their decoration of homes and stores and in their part in the floral parade, which will be a great feature of the fiesta, will spend at least as much more.

The formal greeting will be extended by Mayor Elmer J. Boeseke upon the deck of the flagship Connecticut as soon as the ships anchor.

Sunday Rear-Admiral Thomas will call upon the Mayor at the Hotel Potter and in the afternoon there will be baseball games at Athletic Park and several private receptions to officers, followed by dinners in the evening.

Monday the floral parade will take place. Santa Barbara is the home of the flower festival idea and it is the proud boast of her people that all floral festivals elsewhere are at best but imitations. The paraders will assemble at 2 o'clock and the line of march will be short, only a little over a mile. The procession will pass four blocks of grand stands and be reviewed by the rear admirals and other officers at the Plaza del Mar.

Tuesday there will be a tennis tournament at the Hotel Potter courts and sports at Athletic Park, followed, in the evening, by dancing at the boulevard plaza.

Wednesday morning the tennis finals will be played. The sailors will have a field meet at Athletic Park at 1 o'clock p.m., and a baseball game for the championship of the fleet will be played at 3 o'clock. In the evening will take place, at the Plaza del Mar, a dance of the flowers, provided for the entertainment of the officers of the fleet by forty young society women.

Every morning and afternoon there will be concerts by fleet musicians and bands of this city, Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo and Ventura. There will also be dancing at the plaza every night for the sailors and a grand ball for the officers.

Already the city is taking on gala attire and visitors are pouring in with every train. People from the outlying districts are coming by wagon, bicycles and automobiles. Their food and shelter is being provided for through an information bureau. Homes all over the city will be thrown open to accommodate the crowd.

The police arrangements will be perfect. The limited force of uniformed men will be augmented by a large number of specials in citizens' clothes. Chief James Ross has borrowed detectives from Los Angeles to watch for professional thieves.

Fraternal orders are opening headquarters, and their reception committees will look after visiting members of representative organizations. The clubs, too, will keep open house.

The Committee of Arrangements for the welcome to the warships includes Rear-Admiral Bowman H. McCalla (retired,) who is chairman; Francis T. Underhill, Henley C. Booth, Stewart Edward White, the author, and Rob Wagner, the artist.

TATTOOING ON THE INCREASE.

OVER HALF OF MEN IN NAVY TEN YEARS BEAR DESIGNS.

Surgeon Fahrenholt Publishes Interesting Data on Peculiar Habit of Barbarous Origin as Result of Extensive Investigation and Draws Conclusions from Study.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Tattooing in the navy, as shown by the records of the receiving ship Independence, is the topic of an interesting contribution to the current issue of the United States Navy Medical Bulletin, contributed by Surgeon Ammen Fahrenholt.

It says that while tattooing originated as an adornment of uncivilized peoples, it is far less common among them today than formerly, partly through the influence of missionaries of public and government interference, as is at present the case in Japan.

On the other hand, the total extent of this habit, Dr. Fahrenholt says, has probably never been greater than it is at the present time. Although it may be there is a slight decrease in the percentage of tattooed persons adopting the sea as a means of livelihood, there is certainly a marked increase among those who travel and even among those who live at a distance of the influences of the sea. There is hardly any large city but has one professional tattooer or more.

Dr. Fahrenholt examined the enlistment records of 3572 men, being those enlisted at Independence during the past eight years. It shows the tattooes were 53.61 per cent. on examination for second enlistment, and 23.01 for first enlistment.

The opinion is expressed that about 60 per cent. of persons who have served over ten years in the navy are tattooed.

Dr. Fahrenholt says it is not fair to assume from the figures presented that 23 per cent. of all male citizens are tattooed, as a considerable portion of applicants are sea-faring men. He was surprised to find so many, probably 8 per cent., of the recruits who are tattooed and who denied having been at sea, or even having lived in seaport towns.

One of every three men tattooed select a design, some part of which is a female figure, and less than one per cent. show indecent subjects. Coats of arms and national emblems, Gibson heads, crucifixes, Jerusalem crosses, the Goddess of Liberty, ships, eagles, pigs and apprentice knots were among the tattooed marks noted.

See the entire fleet depart from Redondo Beach Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. Five-minute car service over the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway after 5 o'clock Saturday morning.—[Adv.
